PREFACE.

It is requested that the officers enumerated in the alphabetical list of names on pages xiii to xxxii will communicate with the Editor at an early date with respect to any errors or omissions therein, especially with a view to supplying full Christian names.

Attention is specially directed to the Rules and Regulations promulgated in 1890.

The adoption of a new method in the "Services of Officers," for distinguishing those who have passed the Civil Service Law Examination, will, it is hoped, simplify references in regard to that qualification.

THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

CIVIL SERVICE LIST, 1891.

[Extract from Blue-book for the Colony, 1885, presented to Parliament, April, 1886 (page 33 of the Report.)

"By Government Notice No. 1,170 of the 24th December, 1885, calling for tenders for Printing Work, provision is made for printing the 'Statistical Register,' planned out by Mr. E. J. Pearson, of the Board of Trade, London, of the object of whose official visit to this Colony in 1884 mention was recorded in paragraph 1 of the Blue-book Report for that year [p. 33]."

"The first issue of the Statistical Register, which, as its title implies, will contain only financial and statistical information, will be made in April or May, 1887, and arrangements have been consequently entered into, as stated on page 67A, for the transfer in extenso to the Civil Service List, edited by Mr. E. F. Kilpin, Clerk-Assistant to the House of Assembly, of the following general and descriptive returns, viz. :—Council and Assembly, Civil List, with Index and Supplementary Returns—Security and Pensions, Consular List."]

Part II.
GOVERNMENT.

The Government is administered by the Governor with the advice and assistance of the Executive Council. The office of Governor and Commander-in-Chief was constituted by Royal Letters Patent, dated the 26th February, 1877, as follows:—

Letters Patent passed under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom, constituting the Office of Governor and Commander-in Chief of the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope and its Dependencies.

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India: To all to whom these Presents shall come; Greeting:

WHEREAS We did, by certain Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, bearing date at Westminster the twentieth day of August, 1872, in the thirty-sixth year of Our reign, constitute and appoint Our trusty and well-beloved Sir Henry Barkly, Knight Commander of Our Most Honourable Order of the Bath (now Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George) to be, for and during Our will and pleasure, Our Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over Our Colony of the Cape of Good Hope in South Africa, with its territories and dependencies: And Whereas We are desirous of making effectual and permanent provision for the office of Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over Our said Colony of the Cape of Good Hope in South Africa, with its territories and dependencies, without making new Letters Patent on each demise of the said Office: Now know ye that We have revoked and determined, and by these Presents do revoke and determine, the said recited Letters Patent, and every clause, article, and thing therein contained: And further know ye that We, of our Special grace, certain knowledge and mere motion, have thought fit to constitute, order, and declare, and do by these presents constitute, order, and declare that there shall be a Governor and Commander-in-Chief (hereinafter called Our said Governor) in and over Our Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, with its territories and dependencies (hereinafter called Our said Colony) as also of the Castle, and of all forts and garrisons erected or established, or which shall be erected or established, within Our said Colony; and that the person who shall fill the said office of Governor shall be from time to time appointed by Commission under Our Sign-Manual and Signet: And we do hereby authorize and command Our said Governor to do and execute, in due manner, all things that shall belong to his said command, and to the trust We have reposed in him, according to the several powers and authorities granted or appointed him by virtue of these present Letters Patent and of such Commission as may be issued to him under our Sign-Manual and Signet, and according to such Instructions as may from time to time be given to him under our Sign-Manual and Signet, or by Our Order in Our Privy Council, or by Us through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State, and to such laws as are or shall hereafter be in force in Our said Colony.

II. And We do hereby declare Our pleasure to be that there shall be an Executive Council for Our said Colony, and that the said Council shall consist of such persons as are now, or may at any time be, declared by any law enacted by the Legislature of Our said Colony to be, Members of Our said Executive Council, and of such other persons as Our said Governor shall, from time to time, in Our name and on Our behalf, but subject to any law as aforesaid, appoint under the Public Seal of Our said Colony to be members of our said Executive Council.

III. And We do hereby authorize and empower Our said Governor to keep and use the Public Seal of Our said Colony for sealing all things whatsoever that shall pass the said Public Seal.

IV. And We do further authorize and empower Our said Governor in Our name and on Our behalf to make and execute under the said Seal grants and dispositions of any lands which may be lawfully granted and disposed of by Us within Our said Colony.

V. And We do further authorize and empower our said Governor in Our name and on Our behalf to appoint or to remove persons from any offices which are now or hereafter may be created or declared by the Legislature of Our said Colony to be tenable during Our pleasure, and also in Our name and on Our behalf to assign to such persons, while holding such offices, such duties as to him in his discretion may seem fit; Provided, nevertheless, and We do hereby reserve to Ourselves, Our heirs and successors, Our and Their undoubted right and authority to disallow any such appointments or removals, and any such assignment of duties, in whole or in part.

VI. And We do further authorize and empower Our said Governor to constitute and appoint in Our name, and on Our behalf, all such Judges, Commissioners, Justices of the Peace, and other necessary Officers and Ministers of Our said Colony, as may be lawfully constituted or appointed by Us.

VII. And We do hereby give and grant unto Our said Governor full power and authority, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly of Our said Colony, to make laws for the peace, welfare, and good government of Our said Colony: Provided, nevertheless, and We do hereby reserve to Ourselves, Our heirs and successors, Our and Their undoubted right and authority to disallow any such Laws, in whole or in part.

VIII. And We do further authorise and empower Our said Governor as he shall see occasion, in Our name and on Our behalf, when any crime has been committed within Our said Colony, or for which the offender may be tried therein, to grant a pardon to any accomplice, not being the actual perpetrator of such crime, who shall give such evidence as shall lead to the conviction of the principal offender; and, further, to grant to any offender convicted of any crime in any Court, or before any Judge, Justice, or Magistrate within our said Colony, a pardon, either free or subject to lawful conditions, or any respite of the execution of the sentence of any such offender, for such period as to Our said Governor may seem fit, and to remit any fines, penalties, or forfeitures which may become due and payable to Us: Provided, always, that Our said Governor shall in no case, except when the offence has been of a political nature, unaccompanied by any other grave crime, make it a condition of any pardon, or remission of sentence, that the offender shall be banished from or shall absent himself from Our said Colony.

IX. And We do further authorise and empower Our said Governor, so far as We lawfully may, upon sufficient cause to him appearing, to remove from his office or to suspend from the exercise of the same any person exercising any office or place within our said Colony, under or by virtue of any Commission or Warrant granted, or which may be granted, by Us in Our name or under Our authority.

X. And We do further authorise and empower Our said Governor to exercise all powers lawfully belonging to Us in respect of the summoning, proroguing or dissolving any Legislative Body now or hereafter established within Our said Colony.

XI. And We do hereby declare Our pleasure to be that, in the event of the death, incapacity, removal, or absence of Our said Governor from Our said Colony (subject to the provisions in the next succeeding clause contained), all and every the powers and authorities herein granted to him shall, until Our further pleasure is signified herein, be vested in such person as may be appointed by Us, under our Sign-Manual and Signet, to be Our Lieutenant-Governor of Our said Colony; or, if there shall be no such Lieutenant-Governor in Our said Colony, then in such person or persons as may be appointed by Us, under Our Sign-Manual and Signet, to administer the Government of the same; and in case there shall be no person or persons within Our said Colony so appointed by Us, then in the Senior Officer, for the time being, in command of Our regular troops in Our said Colony; and such person or persons or Officer as aforesaid shall have and exercise all and every the powers and authorities herein granted until our further pleasure shall be signified therein; Provided that no such powers or authorities shall vest in such Lieutenant-Governor, or such other person or persons, until he or they shall have taken the Oaths appointed to be taken by Our said Governor of Our said Colony, and in the manner provided by the instructions accompanying these Our Letters Patent.

XII. And in case Our said Governor, or any other person administering the Government of Our said Colony, shall by Our Commission under Our Sign-Manual and Signet be nominated and appointed to be Our High Commissioner for the territories in South Africa adjacent to Our said Colony, or with which it may be expedient that We should have relations: it is Our further will and pleasure that whenever and so often as, in the execution of our last-mentioned Commission, or in the execution of any Letters Patent or any Commission under Our Sign-Mauual and Signet, appointing him to be Governor of any province or territory adjacent or contiguous to Our said Colony, all and every the powers herein and by Our aforesaid Instructions vested in him shall continue to be exercised by him as fully as if they were residing within Our said Colony.

XIII. And We do hereby authorize and empower Our said Governor, from time to time, as occasion shall require, when he shall be absent from Our said Colony in the execution of any Letters Patent or any Commission appointing him Our High Commissioner as aforesaid, by an Instrument under the Public Seal of Our said Colony, to assign, constitute, and appoint any person to be his Deputy in Our said Colony, and in that capacity to exercise, perform, and execute, during his pleasure, but no longer, all such powers, direction, and authorities as are vested in Our said Governor by these Our Letters Patent and the Instructions under Our Sign-Manual and Signet herein referred to: Provided, nevertheless, that by the appointment of a Deputy as aforesaid, his power and authority as Governor of Our said Colony shall not be abridged, altered, or in any way affected, otherwise than We may at any time hereafter think proper to direct.

XIV. And We do hereby require and command all our Officers and Ministers, civil and military, and all other the inhabitants of Our said Colony, to be obedient, aiding and assisting unto Our said Governor, or, in the event of his death, incapacity, removal or absence, to such person or persons or officer as may from time to time, under the provisions of these Our Letters Patent, administer the Government of Our said Colony.

XV. And We do hereby reserve to Ourselves, Our heirs and successors, full power and authority from time to time to revoke, alter, or amend these Our Letters Patent as to Us or Them shall seem meet.

XVI. And We do further direct and enjoin that these Our Letters Patent shall be read and proclaimed at such place or places as Our said Governor shall think fit within Our said Colony

In witness whereof We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent. Witness Ourself at Westminister, the twenty-sixth day of February, in the Fortieth year of Our reign.

By Warrant under the Queen's Sign-Manual.

C. ROMILLY.

A copy of the instructions here referred to were presented to Parliament in 1878, and were printed in extenso in the Parliamentary paper A 8—'78. Briefly they may be stated thus:—

1. The Governor's commission to be read and published in the presence of the Chief Justice, or other Judge, and of the Executive Council. The Governor, or Officer administering the Government, is also to take the Oath of Allegiance in the form provided by Act 31 and 32 Victoria, cap. 72, as well as the usual oath for the due execution of the office, and of the administration of justice, which oaths are to be tendered and administered be the Chief Justice, or, in the event of his absence or incapacity, the senior Judge present, or failing such Judge the senior Member of the Executive Council present,
2. The Oath of Allegiance, or such other oath as may be by law prescribed, is to be administered by the Governor, or by some one duly authorized by him, to such persons holding any office of trust or profit as the Governor may think fit.
3. These instructions, and others in the Governor's discretion, to be communicated to the Executive Council.
4. Executive Councils not to proceed to business unless summoned by the authority of the Governor, nor unless there be present two members besides the Governor or the member presiding.
5. Unless prevented by some necessary or reasonable cause, the Governor is to preside at Executive Council, but in his absence he will appoint some member president, in whose absence the senior member will preside, seniority being regulated according to order of appointment of members of the Council.
6. Journals and minutes of the Executive Council to be kept, and confirmed or amended at the next subsequent meeting before proceeding to any other business.
7. Except in unimportant matters, or matters too urgent to admit thereof, or under circumstances when the Governor may consider it prejudicial to H.M.'s service so to do, he shall in all cases consult with the Executive Council; but in all such urgent cases he shall as soon as posible acquaint the Council with his action and the reasons thereof.
8. The Governor may, in his discretion, act in opposition to the advice of the Executive Council, but he must report the matter to Her Majesty, with his reasons, by the first convenient opportunity.
9. In assenting to, dissenting from, or reserving Bills, the Governor is to be guided by the following Rules.
10. Different subjects are not to be mixed in the same law; no clause is to be introduced into a Bill foreign to what the title imports, and no perpetual clause is to be part of any temporary law.
11. The following description of Bills are not to be assented to, unless any such Bill contain a clause suspending operation until the signification of H.M.'s pleasure, or unless the Governor is satisfied there is urgent necessity for it, when he may assent thereto, unless repugnant to the law of England, or inconsistent with treaty obligations:—
    (1). For the divorce of persons joined together in holy matrimony.
    (2). For the grant of any land, or money, or for any donation or gratuity to the Governor himself.
    (3). For making any paper or other currency a legal tender, except the coin of the realm or other gold or silver coin.
    (4). For imposing differential duties.
    (5). The provisions of which appear inconsistent with H.M.'s treaty obligations.
    (6). Interfering with the discipline or control of H.M.'s forces by land or sea.
    (7). Of any extraordinary nature or importance, which may prejudice the Queen's prerogative, or the rights or property of Her subjects in the Colony, or the trade and shipping of the United Kingdom and its Dependencies.
    (8). Containing provisions to which the Queen's assent has been once refused, or which H.M. has disallowed.
12. Laws sent home to have marginal abstracts and explanatory observations; and copies of the Journals of the Legislative bodies to be required from the clerks thereof or other proper officers for transmission to England.
13. The Governor is not to purchase Crown Land without special permission.
14. Before granting any pardon from a sentence of death, the Governor is to obtain from the Judge presiding at the trial of the offender a written report, which report is to be considered at the first meeting thereafter of the Executive Council, where the said Judge may be summoned to attend. The Governor may not pardon or reprieve unless, upon receiving the Council's advice it shall seem to him expedient; but he is in all cases to decide upon his own deliberate judgment, whether the Council concurs therein or otherwise, and if he should decide in opposition to the majority he shall enter his reasons at length upon the Council minutes.

15. The Governor is to endeavour to his utmost to promote religion and education amongst the Natives, and to protect themselves and their possesions.
16. Judges, justices of the peace, and other officers, unless otherwise provided by law, to be appointed during pleasure.
17. The annual blue-book containing the customary returns and statistics with reference to the state and condition of the Colony to be punctually forwarded to the Secretary of State.
18. The Governor is not to absent himself from the Colony without leave, except as a Governor of a neighbouring province or territory, or High Commissioner.

The Governor is appointed by a commission, under the Royal Sign-Manual, by which, together with the Letters Patent and Royal Instructions, he is guided. His powers, authorities and duties are also defined by Imperial or Colonial Acts or Ordinances, by the direct instructions of the Secretary of State, and by the Regulations prescribed for the conduct of Her Majesty's Colonial Service published in the Colonial Office List.

Part III.

PARLIAMENT.

By Royal Letters Patent, dated the 23rd May, 1850, it was ordained that a Parliament should be established at the Cape of Good Hope under regulations, subject to certain restrictions, to be prescribed by Ordinance to be passed by the then Legislative Council of the Colony. In pursuance of this authority an Ordinance was enacted by the Legislative Council on the 3rd April, 1852, for constituting a Parliament for the Colony, and this Ordinance, with certain Amendments made under the authority reserved to Her Majesty in that behalf, was ratified and confirmed by an Order in Council, dated the 11th March, 1853.

Since the passing of this Ordinance, the powers and functions of Parliament have been extended and defined by the following Acts:

Freedom of Speech and Debate Act .. .. No. 1 of 1854.
To secure freedom of speech and debates or proceedings in Parliament, and to give summary protection to persons employed in the publication of Parliamentary papers.

Legislative Council Elections Act .. .. .. No. 6 of 1859.
To amend the seventy-third section of the Constitution Ordinance, by dispensing with a poll when the candidates for election are equal in number to the vacancies mentioned in that section.

British Kaffraria Incorporation and Parliamentary Representation Amendment Act .. .. .. No. 3 of 1865.
To make provision for the incorporation of British Kaffraria with the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, in two electoral divisions, [King William's Town and East London] each of which divisions is to be entitled to send two members to the House of Assembly, and for the purposes of representation in the Legislative Council to be comprised in the Eastern District; also to establish the following electoral divisions, each to return two members to the House of Assembly, viz., Aliwal North, Namaqualand, Oudtshoorn, Piquetberg, Queen's Town, Richmond, Riversdale, and Victoria West.

Constitution Ordinance Amendment Act [Responsible Government] .. .. No. 1 of 1872.
To establish the offices of Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works and of Secretary for Native Affairs; to render all Ministers eligible for election as members of Parliament, and to fix their Salaries.

Wodehouse Representation Act .. .. .. No. 7 of 1872.
To constitute the fiscal division of Wodehouse an electoral division entitled to elect two members of the House of Assembly.

Constitution Ordinance Amendment Act .. .. No. 18 of 1874.
To repeal Act No. 6 of 1859, and to amend the Constitution Ordinance and Act No. 3 of 1865 by dividing the Colony into seven electoral provinces for the election of members of the Legislative Council, each province to return three members; to render vacant the seat of any members of Parliament accepting offices of profit under Government, except the office of a Minister of the Crown, or becoming insolvent, and to make provision for vacancies occurring in the interval between a general election and the then next meeting of Parliament.

Griqualand West Annexation Act .. .. . No. 39 of 1877.
To make provision for the annexation to the Colony of the province of Griqualand West, returning one member to the Legislative Council; and for the purposes of representation in the House of Assembly to be divided into two electoral divisions [Kimberley and Barkly], each division returning two members.

Digitized by Google

Payment of Members' Expenses Act .. .. No. 6 of 1879.
To increase the number of days for which members are entitled to an allowance, under section ninety of the Constitution Ordinance, from fifty to ninety.

Ministers' Salaries Act .. .. No. 32 of 1879.
To increase the Salaries payable to the five Ministers of the Crown to £1,500 per annum each, and an additional sum to £250 per annum to the Prime Minister. [By Act No. 2 of 1886 the salary of the Attorney-General was reduced to £1,000 p.a., and the salaries of the other Ministers to £1,200; this continued in force from the 1st July, 1886, to the 30th June, 1887, when it was repealed by Act No. 28 of 1887.]

Constitution Ordinance Amendment Act .. .. No. 1 of 1882.
To authorize the use of the Dutch language in debates and discussions in Parliament.

Kimberley Increased Representation Act .. .. No. 13 of 1882.
To amend Act No. 39, 1877, by increasing the members for the electoral division of Kimberley from two or four.

President of Council Allowance Act .. .. No. 36 of 1882.
To remove doubts as to the legality of the payment of an annual allowance to the Chief Justice as President of the Legislative Council.

Telegraphic Messages Act .. .. No. 41 of 1882.
To authorize a member of Parliament to transmit his resignation by telegraph.

Parliamentary Election Act .. .. No. 9 of 1883.
To amend the law relating to election petitions and to the prevention of corrupt practices at Parliamentary elections.

Powers and Privileges of Parliament Act .. .. No. 13 of 1883.
To define and declare the powers and privileges of Parliament and to amend the Audit Act of 1875 by substituting a Speaker's audit of the House of Assembly accounts.

Parliamentary Voters' Registration Act .. .. No. 14 of 1887.
To make better provision for the registration of persons entitled to the electoral franchise under the Constitution Ordinance.

Transkeian Territories Representation Act .. No. 30 of 1887.
To create and define the electoral divisions of Tembuland and Griqualand East, each to return one member to the House of Assembly; also to include the Transkeian Territories, for representation in the Legislative Council, in the Eastern Electoral Province.

Native Registered Voters' Relief Act .. .. No. 30 of 1887.
To exempt native registered voters from the operation of certain disqualifying Acts of Parliament.

Parliamentary Costs Taxation Act .. .. .. No. 6 of 1887.
To provide for the Taxation of Cost of Private Bills of Parliament.

Members of Parliament Allowances Act .. .. No. 16 of 1888.
To amend the law in regard to the Travelling and Personal Expenses of Members.

The Parliament consists of a Governor, a Legislative Council, and a House of Assembly; and before any measure can become law it must have been passed by the Council and the Assembly, and have received the Governor's assent. The Governor may amend Bills so passed, or assent or refuse to assent to them; or he may reserve them for the signification of her Majesty's pleasure; but all money Bills must be first recommended by the Governor to the House of Assembly, or otherwise the express sanction of the Governor thereto must be communicated to the House. A copy of every Act, signed by the Governor, the President of the Legislative Council, and the Speaker of the House of Assembly, is enrolled in the office of the Registrar of the Supreme Court. Within two years of its receipt by the Secretary of State, any Act so passed and assented to may be disallowed by an Order in Council of Her Majesty.

The members of both Houses of Parliament are elected by the same voters, the qualifications entitling any male British subject of 21 years of age to vote being (1) twelve months' continuous residence in one or more houses or buildings of the value of £25, or (2) receipt for twelve months of wages of £50 a year, or £25, with board and lodging, provided there has been no longer interval than one month between different situations. No person, however, may vote who is of unsound mind, or who has been convicted of any criminal offence, unless he has received a free pardon.

The Parliament is to meet at least once a year, so that twelve calendar months shall not intervene between the last sitting in one session and the first sitting in the next.

1861.—J. A. Fairbairn.

The Chief Justice for the time being is ex officio President of the Council, and may take part in any debate, and has a casting vote. The qualification for the elective members of the Council is (1) the possession of real property unencumbered, to the value of £2,000 in the Colony, or (2) if the said property be mortgaged, the possession of property real and personal, to the value of £4,000 above all liabilities, the real property in either case to be of the value of £2,000. No person may be elected to the Council who is under 30 years of age, or who is disqualified from being registered as a voter, or who is the holder of an office of profit under the Crown unless one of the Ministry.

Members are elected for a period of seven years, and the Council cannot be dissolved within that period unless the House of Assembly be dissolved at the same time. A seat may be vacated by resignation, absence for a whole session without leave, acceptance of an office of profit under the Crown, ceasing to possess the property qualification, insolvency, or any other act which would make the member ineligible as a candidate. Five members form a quorum. The Standing Rules and Orders of the Council have continued unchanged, with one or two unimportant exceptions, since 1872. Matters not there provided for are treated in accordance with the rules and usages of the Imperial Parliament.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

The 76 members composing the House of Assembly are elected to serve for five years, by 37 electoral divisions. Speakers:
1854—Sir C. J. Brand.
1874—Sir D. Tennant.

1854—H. J. P. le Sueur.
1865—John Noble.

The Speaker is elected by the House at the first meeting of every Parliament. He only gives his vote when the numbers upon a division are equal. The Chairman of Committees is appointed at an early date after the first meeting of a new Parliament. The Chairman of the 8th Parliament was elected by a resolution of the House adopted on the 28th May, 1889. Twelve members, exclusive of the Speaker or Chairman of Committees, form a quorum.

Any Person entitled to be registered as a voter is eligible for election, with the exception of persons holding an office of profit under the Queen, within the Colony, or uncertificated insolvents. With the exception of the provision regarding property qualification, seats become vacant in the same manner, and from the same causes, in the House of Assembly as in the Legislative Council.

The Standing Rules and Orders now in force for the proper conduct of the business of the House were adopted by the House, and approved by His Excellency the Officer administering the Government in 1883. Additional rules were adopted from time to time and received His Excellency's approval in 1889. In all cases not therein provided for resort is to be had to the rules, forms, usages and practices of the Commons House of Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland, so far as they are applicable to the House, and not inconsistent with the said Standing Rules and Orders. The House of Assembly may at any time be dissolved by the Governor. In 1887 a list of charges which Parliamentary agents may justly make under the "Parliamentary Costs Taxation Act, 1887" was prepared in pursuance of the said Act by the Speaker, and was laid upon the Table of the House on the 3rd August, 1887.

CIVIL ESTABLISHMENT.

"It is announced that no Civil Establishment Return will appear in the 'Statistical Register,' which, in 1887, takes the place of the Colonial Blue-book.

"In pursuance of the advice tendered by Mr. E. J. Pearson, of the Board of Trade, arrangements have been completed for the future publication, under a different system from that hitherto obtaining, of full particulars respecting the Service, Salaries, and Stations of Government Officers.

"The Civil Establishment Return, as well as the Pension, Security, and Consular Lists, and Lists of Members of Parliament and of the Executive Council, will therefore be printed in extenso in the 'CIVIL SERVICE LIST,' Colonial Secretary's Office, Cape of Good Hope, 2nd April, 1886."]

Part VI.

INSTITUTION OF GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS, AND DUTIES OF CERTAIN OFFICERS.

The departments conducting the public business of the country are arranged in six divisions, each being under the control of a Minister of the Crown, responsible to Parliament, the whole being under the general supervision and control of the Prime Minister, who is the medium of communication with His Excellency the Governor.

The Ministerial Divisions are as follows :—

1. Prime Minister.
2. Colonial Secretary.
3. Treasurer of the Colony.
4. Attorney-General.
5. Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works.
6. Secretary for Native Affairs.

1. MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF THE PRIME MINISTER.

The Prime Minister's Ministerial Division comprises the departments of His Excellency the Governor, the Prime Minister, the Agent-General of the Colony in London, the Legislative Council, the House of Assembly, and the Controller and Auditor-General.

Prime Ministers.

1872 Sir J. C. Molteno, K.C.M.G.
1878 Sir J. Gordon Sprigg, K.C M.G.
1881 Sir T. C. Scanlen, K.C.M.G.
1884 Sir Thomas Upington, K.C.M.G.
1886 Sir J. Gordon Sprigg, K.C.M.G.
1890 Cecil J. Rhodes.

The Prime Minister's Department.

The Prime Minister's Department is the medium of communication between the several Ministerial Departments and His Excellency the Governor. Every minute submitted to the Executive Council is recorded in this Department, and through its Secretary the decisions of the Governor in Council are conveyed to the several Ministerial Departments interested. The Department deals also with all despatches passing between Ministers and the Secretary of State through H. E. the Governor, and with all correspondence with foreign and neighbouring States and Governments.

The Agent-General for the Colony.

(7, Albert Mansions, Victoria-st., Lond., S.W.)

Agent-General, Sir Charles Mills, K.C.M.G., C.B.

This department opened its offices on the 10th October, 1882.

No Brokers or sub-Agents are employed. All supplies are bought direct from the manufacturers or in the cheapest market, in Railway and technical matters on the advice of the Consulting Engineers, and unless specially ordered, from a firm named in the indent, after competitive tender. All clerical work in and out of the office, at the docks, and even occasionally at ports other than London, is done by the staff itself. All goods are inspected by competent Inspectors before being packed and shipped.

Thousands of enquiries respecting the Colony, its Statute Law, climate, railways, telegraphs, and other public works, and persons living or who are supposed to have died, or married there, are annually answered.

All the colonial newspapers of importance may be seen at the Agency. The weekly issues of the Cape Times and Argus are bound and preserved.

Colonists obtain certificates here that they are British subjects, on producing which at the Foreign Office they procure passports.

All Civil Servants on leave from the Cape Colony are bound on arriving in London to report themselves to the Agent-General.

Auditor were created by Act No. 30 of 1875, "To provide for the more effectual audit of the public accounts of this Colony." Since the passing of this Act the powers and duties of these officers have been modified: firstly, in 1883, by the exemption from their audit of the accounts of the House of Assembly, under the provisions of Act 13 of 1883; and secondly, by Act 32 of 1888, by which departmental audit of revenue has been legalised and extended, the keeping of an Exchequer Account has been legalised, and the Act of 1875 has been in other respects amended.

The rules and regulations framed by the Controller and Auditor-General under the provisions of the Audit Act, at present in force, were published by the following Government Notices:—

Regulations numbered 1—44 for Colonial Stock have also been framed by the Controller and Auditor-General, under the provisions of the 17th Section of the Colonial Stock Act, 1888, and have been published in Government Notice No. 751 of 1888.

The present holders of the above-mentioned offices were appointed shortly after the Act was passed in 1875.

II.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

The Colonial Secretary has the supervision of the Department of Agriculture, the Divisional Courts and Offices throughout the Colony, the Education Department, the various Hospitals and Asylums and other medical institutions, the Post Office (including Telegraphs), the Cape Police Force, and the several departments connected with the defence of the Colony.

Inspecting Civil Commissioner.

Amongst other duties he is to investigate and verify the Chests and Accounts of Civil Commissioners and Distributors of Stamps, to report upon the condition and management of Gaols and Gaol Hospitals, to satisfy the Government as to the efficiency of Gaol and Police officials, and generally to inquire into and report upon all matters and things in each Division connected with the conduct of public business, or in which the Government is in any way interested or concerned.—[Government Notice No. 791, 9th Sept., 1886.]

Department of Agriculture.

This Department (which was first formed in 1887) deals with all duties appertaining to the following subjects, viz.:—

1. Viticulture.
2. Tobacco Culture.
3. Agricultural Societies and Schools and Botanical Gardens.
4. Game Laws.
5. Phylloxera.
6. Diseases of Cattle, and the Scab Acts.
7. Improvement of the Breed of Horses.

1. Viticulture.—The system introduced by Baron Von Babo, of making wines entirely on the European principle, has had many good results, and doubtless in a few years the benefit thereby to the Colony at large will be appreciably felt.

2. Tobacco Culture.—Experimental farms near Oudtshoorn and Sundays River are being worked under Tobacco Experts, who hope by the introduction of the very best foreign tobacco-seed, and the discrimination of the best methods of cultivation and preparation, to effect, in time, a permanent improvement in this product.

3. Agricultural Schools.—A school is now established at Somerset East, in addition to that already in existence at Stellenbosch; these institutions are directly under the control of the Department of Agriculture.

4. Game Laws.—Advantage has been taken within the past two years of that clause of the Game Law Amendment Act that empowers the Governor to protect for a certain period, when requested to do so by the local Divisional Councils, particular kinds of Game; and this action is being attended with the happiest results, in preserving from extinction those of the more rare and valuable descriptions of bucks, such as Koodoo, Eland, Hartebeeste, Bonteboks, &c., whose entire disappearance from the Colony would otherwise become a mere matter of a few years' time; and this action in protecting these rare animals is the more gratifying, coming as it does at the instigation of the sportsmen and farming community generally of the districts locally interested. A close season has also been fixed for Wild Ostriches.

5. Phylloxera.—Owing, unhappily, to the extension of the area of this disease a large amount of extra work has been carried out under the provisions of the Vineyards Protection Act, by the Inspector of Vineyards.

6. The Scab Acts, the operations of which only came into effect on 1st July, 1887, have worked thoroughly well, answering every expectation of Government and of the farming communities in the proclaimed areas, by whom the benefits resulting from these Acts are now entirely appreciated—and by whom also cordial assistance is rendered to the respective Scab Inspectors.

The following is a list of the different Areas and the Officers appointed to each:—

1. Queenstown*, J. C. N. Price.
   C. Bailie, Assistant.
   E. H. Barnes, Assistant.
2. Tarka, L. H. Walker.
3. Queenstown*, Joseph H. Barnes.
   A. J. Fleischer, Assistant.
   Jas. Temlett, Assistant.
4. Cathcart, H. W. Browne.

7. Victoria East, Roger B. Metterlekamp.
8. Albany, W. L. Currie.
9. Bathurst, Alexandria and part of Somerset East, James Long.
10. Fort Beaufort, A. Tudhope.
11. Bedford, Mills Knight.
    John Probert, Assistant.
12. Somerset East, southern half, E. H. Pietersen.
13. Somerset East, northern half, Fred. Bowker.
14. Humansdorp, Jacobus Louwrens.
15. Uitenhage and Port Elizabeth, William Jacklin.
    W. A. Kirkman, Assistant.
16. Jansenville, David Hobson Nash.
    R. J. Heydenrych, Assistant.
17. Graaff-Reinet*, F. L. McCabe.
17A. Graaff-Reinet*, Walter Everitt Murray.
18. Murraysburg, D. S. Grobbelaar.
19. Knysna, F. H. Newdigate.
20. Aberdeen, Charles de Villiers.

Superintending Scab Inspector, Allen G. Davison.

7. Improvement of the Breed of Horses.—Nine stallions were purchased in England in 1888, with this object; one died on the voyage out, and three have since died in the Colony. Twenty-one stallions have in addition been imported in 1889, of which one died on the voyage out, and one has died since their arrival, leaving twenty-four stallions which are now stationed at various horse-breeding centres in the Colony.

General Post Office.

Progress of the Post Office during 1890.

During the past year a Convention was entered into for the exchange of Money Orders between British Bechuanaland and the United Kingdom and Foreign Countries through the intermediary of the Cape Postal Department. Under the articles of the Convention Telegraphic Money Orders may be interchanged between all Money Order Offices in the Colony and British Bechuanaland having telegraphic communication.

A similar Convention has also been entered into with the South African Republic (Transvaal), Telegraphic Money Orders, however, being limited to the following offices: Pretoria, Johannesburg, Klerksdorp, Barberton, and Potchefstroom.

The Natal Postal Department has not as yet responded to the proposals made for simplifying and improving the present methods of transacting Money Order business which obtains.

Post Cards impressed with a three-halfpenny stamp were introduced on the 1st May, 1890, for transmission between the Colony and the United Kingdom. By the first mail after their introduction no less than 925 of these useful cards were forwarded to England.

* Part of Division.

The number despatched every week is considerable.

In order to expedite the delivery of the mails from England arrangements have been completed for a steam-tug going off to the mail steamer immediately upon arrival, and landing the mails at the Central Jetty in place of their being put on board the Port Boat and landed at the Docks. Arrangements have also been made with the Railway Department for the running of a Limited Mail Train at 8 a.m., 2 p.m., or 8·35 p.m., as occasion may require, for the conveyance of the mails from England for Kimberley, the Eastern Province, the Transvaal, the Orange Free State, and British Bechuanaland.

The opening of the Railway to Vryburg in December has greatly accelerated the despatch of the mails Northwards, the whole distance from Cape Town to Vryburg occupying only forty-six hours. A daily mail is now forwarded to British Bechuanaland. By this extension of the railway, Johannesburg can now be reached from Cape Town, viâ Vryburg, in three days and a half.

The Railway has also been extended from Colesberg Junction to Bloemfontein, and daily mails are now sent to and received from the Orange Free State.

In December the train service on the Western and Midland Systems was entirely altered, and in consequence of the increased rate of speed travelled the mails for the Colony and the other States are now despatched to their destination much more quickly than has been the case hitherto.

The parcel post is growing rapidly, and parcels can now be sent to and received from nearly every country in the world having postal communication.

During the past year arrangements were satisfactorily completed with the Imperial Post Office Department for the rate of postage between this Colony and the United Kingdom being reduced to 2½d. per half ounce, and to the Continent of Europe to 3d. the half ounce; also for the rate of postage from the Transvaal, the Orange Free State, and British Bechuanaland to the United Kingdom being reduced from 6d. to 4d. the half ounce, and to the Continent of Europe from 8d. to 5d. the half ounce.

The reductions came into force on the 1st of January, 1891, and the rates of postage to other parts of the world have been correspondingly reduced, full particulars of which will be found in the Post Office Guide.

The depression in the business of the Colony during the year 1890 has not affected the Post Office Savings Bank. The amount standing to the credit of the depositors has increased from month to month; and no better proof as showing the increased frugality of the people can be adduced than the satisfactory progress of the Post Office Savings Bank, when it is stated that the balance of deposits in the hands of the Government on the 30th November was £728,980 19s. 10d., or an increase of £381,355 3s. 8d. over the balance on the same date in the year 1889.

The Savings Bank Additional Facilities Bill which came into operation on the 1st January, 1890, which enables depositors to have Savings Bank Certificates to the extent of £1,000 of £100 each in addition to ordinary deposits bearing interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. has been largely availed of, and the expectations which were formed by this new branch of Post Office business have been more than fully realized.

Telegraphs.

During the year 1890 Legislative sanction was received for the erection of one additional wire on the existing line between Port Elizabeth and Alicedale, two additional wires between Alicedale and Naauwpoort and Kimberley; and for the erection of new lines between the following places:—Kokstad and Matatiele, Mount Stewart and Steytlerville, Belmont and Douglas, Clanwilliam and Springbok viâ Van Rhynsdorp, Matjesfontein, and Sutherland. In the same year the telegraph was extended to French Hoek, Whittlesea, Jansenville, Durbanville, and Railway Telegraph Lines from Norvals Pont to Queen's Town, from Warrenton to Vryburg.

The total length of Colonial telegraph lines now in existence is 4,640 miles, and the length of wires is 11,862 miles.

A line of telegraph was erected at the expense of the British South African Chartered Company during the past year northwards from Mafeking, a length of 290 miles, offices having been opened at Ramontsa, Gaberones, Palla, and Palapye. A further extension of this line is in hand.

The Department having the Duplex, Quadruplex, and the Wheatstone high speed automatic apparatus in use at the larger telegraph centres is now in a position to cope with any pressure that is likely to be brought to bear upon it for some time to come.

In order to meet the convenience of those people living at places where there is no telegraphic communication messages may now be posted at these places, and are sent by post to the nearest telegraph office free of charge, provided that the charge for transmitting them by wire is attached in postage stamps to the message forms.

The value of the alternative route to England by the Western Cable has been fully proved during the year; the Eastern route having on two or three occasions been interrupted, when all cablegrams were sent and received by the former route.

The charges for Inland Telegraphs are uniform in this Colony, Natal, British Bechuanaland, the Transvaal, and the Orange Free State, being at the rate of one shilling for the first ten or part of ten words, and sixpence for every additional five or fraction of five words.

A proposal was made during the year that the rate should be amended, and be as follows: —A minimum charge of one shilling for the first twelve or part of twelve words, with one penny additional for every extra word.

With the exception of the Government of the South African Republic, the several Administrations have signified their acquiescence to the alteration; but in the absence of the consent of the Transvaal the proposal cannot be carried into effect, as by the South African Telegraph Convention, to which this Colony is a party, it is mutually agreed upon that the rate charged by the several administrations must be uniform, and cannot be altered without the sanction of all the Departments concerned.

Cape Police.

The Government was empowered by Act No. 12 of 1882 to define certain portions of the Colony as "Police Districts," and to appoint the necessary officers and men, mounted and unmounted, to serve as a Police Force for the preservation of peace and the prevention and detection of crime, and generally to perform such other duties as the Act in question or any rule or regulation made by the Government may require. The Cape Police may be employed outside their respective districts, and also beyond the Colonial boundary. The rules and regulations under the provisions of Act No. 12 of 1882, including general instructions for the guidance of the Police, are contained in a printed manual, which is confidentially issued to every member of the force.

The Divisions comprising the Police Districts at present existing and as now numbered, were indicated by Government Notices hereunder enumerated, viz.: —

No. 984, dated 24th August, 1882; No. 1065, dated 7th September, 1882; No. 258, dated 8th March, 1883; No. 597, dated 21st June, 1884; No. 1139, dated 31st December, 1889; and No. 959, dated 6th November, 1890.

III.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF THE TREASURER OF THE COLONY.

The duties devolving upon the Ministerial Head of this Division have materially increased in degree and importance since the introduction, in 1872, of Responsible Government. The Treasurer of the Colony is no longer simply the depositary of the revenues and moneys of the Crown, charged only with their safe custody, and their issue under fixed regulations or instructions from time to time issued by the Governor of the Colony, but he is now clothed with all the duties and responsibilities appertaining in England to the Treasury and its Parliamentary Head, the Chancellor of the Exchequer. He is now Controller of the Revenue, responsible for its proper and prompt collection. Where any shortfall is expected or occurs it is his duty to devise measures for temporary relief, or for permanent increase by new measures of taxation. Where expenditure is found necessary for which provision has not been made by Parliament, or when Parliamentary provision for any service is exhausted, it devolves upon him to state whether there are funds at his disposal to meet the unforeseen demands, and if not to provide them, and to recommend to the Premier the issue of the Covering Warrant. He is charged with all internal financial arrangements, and with the transfer from the Colony to its Agent in England of the moneys required to meet disbursements there; and lastly, by him must a full exposition of the financial affairs of the whole Colony be given to Parliament in the annual Budget Speech. The Customs are included in this Ministerial Division, and also the Excise Department.

Customs.

Up to the year 1854 the Customs Establishment was under the direct control of the Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury and the Commissioners of Customs. On Parliamentary Government being established, in lieu, in 1854, the Customs establishment was transferred to the Colonial Government on the 11th October, 1883. The office of Assistant Collector was made when the Treasurer occupied the position of Collector; it is now abolished, the duties being practically performed by the Chief Clerk.

Licence, Stamps and Excise Department.

The duties devolving on this Department are the supervision of the collection of Revenue derived from Revenue Stamps and Licences and the Auditing of Accounts of Collectors of such Revenue, as also the carrying out of the provisions of the Excise Spirit Acts Nos. 18 of 1884 and 9 of 1887, and of the "Compounded Spirits Regulations Act, 1890."

SPIRITS.

The "Excise Spirit Duty Amendment Act 1887" imposes upon every gallon of spirits distilled from materials other than the grape an Excise Duty of 2s. per gallon; the duty on spirit deposited in an approved Excise warehouse is charged on every gallon on the strength of proof, and so in proportion for any greater or less degree of strength, or for any greater or less quantity. The "Excise Spirits Act, 1884," provides for the charging and securing the duties of Excise and for the paying of Annual Licences as under:—

Distillers (other than distilled from the grape), £10.
Rectifiers and Compounders, £10.
Use of Stills and Retorts, £1.
Vinegar-makers, £1.
Still-makers, £1.

The existing regulations were published by the following Government Notices:—

No. 946, 18th September, 1884, Excise General Warehouse.
,, 119, 12th February, 1886, Excise Licences.
,, 735, 20th August, 1886, Rectifiers, &c., and Dealers in and Retailers of Spirits.
,, 529, 1889, 24th June, 1889. Use of Sugar by Jam Manufacturers.

By Government Notice, No. 1074, 12th December, 1887, the Chief Inspector of Excise was appointed Controller of Licences and Stamps for the Colony. Excise Officers now act as Inspectors of Licences.

The entrance to this department is by competitive examination. Subjects: Dictation to test handwriting and orthography; arithmetic, including percentages and calculation of areas; and Dutch, written and spoken; age 20 to 30.

Inspectors of Licences.

The officers at the undermentioned stations are Inspectors of Licences for the respective divisions enumerated after the name of the station:—

Cape Town.—Cape Town, Cape, Simon's Town, Paarl, Malmesbury, Stellenbosch, Caledon, Worcester, Tulbagh, Robertson.
Port Elizabeth.—Port Elizabeth, Uitenhage, Graham's Town, Bathurst.
Kimberley.—Kimberley, Barkly West.

IV.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The Attorney-General is vested with the right, and entrusted with the duty of prosecuting in the name and on behalf of Her Majesty all crimes and offences committed in the Colony. Special duties in connection with the internal administration of the Colony are imposed upon this officer by a very large number of the statutes. He is also the legal adviser of the Government, and, as Minister, controls the department connected with the administration of justice. During the year 1885, the detective force for the suppression of illicit diamond buying was removed from the Ministerial supervision of the Colonial Secretary, and placed under that of the Attorney-General. On the 1st July, 1887, the Deeds Registry Office was transferred from the Colonial Secretary's Ministerial Division to that of the Attorney-General, and the Convict Department was transferred from the Commissioner's Ministerial Division on the 1st January, 1888. The Secretary to the Law Department is the permanent head of this Ministerial Division.

Convict Stations and Prisons.

The control of Convict Stations which before July, 1879, was vested in the Colonial Secretary, and between that date and January, 1888, in the Commissioner of Crown Lands, was from the 1st January, 1888, transferred to the Attorney-General. In February, 1889, the control of prisons was transferred from the Colonial Secretary's Division to that of the Attorney-General, and with convict stations merged in one department under the management of the High Sheriff. Since the 1st October, 1889, this Department has been transferred to the Attorney-General's personal department under the immediate management of the Secretary to the Law Department. Early in 1889, Mr. Roper, Commissioner of Police and Chief of the detective Department at Kimberley, was appointed Inspector of Prisons, an office created by Act No. 23 of 1888, and he entered upon his duties on the 1st March, 1889.

The gaols (excluding convict stations) in the Colony are capable of holding 3,694 males and 874 females; the maximum number confined on any one day during 1889 was 2,850 males and 307 females; the daily average number being 1,790.

The number of prisoners tried and convicted by Resident Magistrates, excluding the Transkeian Territories, was 25,042 males and 3,501 females.

The average cost per man per annum of prisoners confined in gaols throughout the Colony is £20 19s. 0d. approximately, and deducting the revenue derived, the actual charge to the public funds is about £18 12s. 6d. per annum per man.

Criminals transferred to a convict station are men over 19 years of age, who have been sentenced to six months' imprisonment and upwards with hard labour. 1,705 individuals who were sentenced for offences visited by punishments of over six months' imprisonment with hard labour were received, 350 being sentenced by Superior Courts. Roughly speaking, about $\frac{3}{4}^{0}$ of the total number were Kafirs or men of kindred tribes; $\frac{1}{4}^{0}$ Hottentots, Bushmen, &c.; while only $\frac{1}{4}^{0}$ were Europeans, and $\frac{1}{4}^{0}$ men of other nationalities, such as Indians, Malays, Chinese. With regard to native convicts two-fifths of the convictions were for stock thefts, over one-third of the total number of convicts received during the year having been sentenced for this crime. Twelve per cent. of the convicts were under 40 years of age. Of the 100 convictions for contravention of the diamond laws, 35 were Europeans; 65 were sentenced to imprisonment for periods from three to seven years, and six to over seven years.

The total number of convicts incarcerated was 3,593, the daily average being 1,786, the number at all stations on the 1st January, 1890, being 2,140. These figures include criminals sent to convict stations only.

Taking the lowest average of the various estimated rates of wage at 2s. per diem, the total value of the labour devoted to harbour, forestry, road, defence and other works (excluding De Beer's) may be approximately estimated at £44,800. On this very low basis the value of convict labour distributed on various works may be estimated as follows:—

Defence Works	£13,082
Table Bay Harbour Board ..	8,344
East London Harbour	4,682
Port Alfred Harbour	3,586
Tokai (Forest Station)	1,968
Kluitjes Kraal (Forest Station) ..	1,990
Fort Cunynghame (Forest Station)	2,023
Constantia (Agricultural Department)	596
Robben Island (Institution) ..	894
Port Elizabeth (Drift Sands) ..	1,375

The total expenditure on convicts, not including the inmates of prisons, during the year ending 30th June, 1889, was £45,589 1s. 8d. (exclusive of De Beer's), and the annual cost per convict £28 8s. 1d., or 1s. 6¾d. per day. This is the lowest average that has been reached since 1879.

Porter Reformatory.

Up to the 30th June, 1889, this institution was under the control of the Managing Board, but from the 1st July last it was taken over entirely by the Government. The number of boys throughout the year averaged about 55 daily. On the 1st January, 1889, there were 51 boys under detention, 17 were discharged during the year, one apprenticed, and five absconded, 26 were admitted, leaving at the close of the year 54 inmates at the Institution.

Solicitor-General's Office.

(Graham's Town.)

On the establishment of the Eastern Districts Court by Act No. 21 of 1864, provision was made for the appointment of a Solicitor-General, who is empowered to exercise the functions of the Attorney-General in regard to all criminal cases within the Eastern Districts.

(Kimberley.)

By the Griqualand West Annexation Act, No. 39 of 1877, provision was made for the prosecution of crimes in that territory by means of a Crown Prosecutor, whose power and functions are similar to those of the Solicitor-General.

The Supreme, Eastern District, High, and Circuit Courts.

SUPREME COURT.

"The Supreme Court of the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope," constituted by the Charter of Justice, consists of the Chief Justice and eight Puisne Judges (Act No. 40, 1882, § 2); but it is generally held before the Chief Justice and two Puisne Judges; of the remaining Judges three are assigned to the Eastern Districts Court (Act No. 5, 1879, § 3), and three to the High Court, Act No. 40, 1882, § 6);—although there is nothing to prevent all the Judges sitting and taking part in the determination of any cause, civil or criminal, which shall be heard before the Supreme Court. (Acts Nos. 40, 1882, §§ 4 and 17, 1886, § 2.) One Judge out of term is clothed with all the powers of the Supreme Court. (Rule of Court No. 354.)

The Supreme Court opened on the 1st March, 1834, by Proclamation dated the 13th day of February of the same year, has jurisdiction over the whole Colony. (Charter of Justice, § 30.) Two Judges form a quorum (except out of term, when one Judge may sit), and in case of any difference of opinion between such two, the decision of the Court shall be suspended until all three Judges are present. (Act No. 40, 1882, §§ 3, 33.) An appeal in Civil Cases lies direct to the Privy Council from the decision of the Supreme Court. (Charter of Justice, § 50.)

Act No. 5, 1879, established a Court of Appeal for the Colony, but by Act No. 17, 1886, that Court was abolished, and all powers conferred upon it were vested in the Supreme Court. Every appeal to the Supreme Court from the Eastern Districts, High, or Circuit Courts shall be heard before not less than three Judges, one of whom shall be the Chief Justice, and two of them shall be Puisne Judges specially assigned to the Supreme Court. In any appeal against the unanimous judgment of the full Eastern Districts or High Courts, such judgment shall be affirmed unless three or more of the Judges sitting in appeal shall concur in reversing or varying it. (Act No. 17, 1886, §§ 1, 5.)

The officers of the Court, who issue all its process and record all its decisions, are the "Registrar or Prothonotary and Keeper of Records," and "Assistant Registrar." Copies of all laws passed by the Legislature of this Colony, signed by the Governor, the President of the Legislative Council, and the Speaker of the House of Assembly, are enrolled of record in this office, together with certificates of disallowances of bills, certified under the public seal of the Colony. (Cons. Ord., §§ 86, 87.)

In addition to this all legal records are here preserved, dating as far back as 1652, when the Colony was first taken possession of by the Dutch Government, as also the Protocols of deceased Notaries.

The Eastern Districts Court.

(Graham's Town.)

"The Court of the Eastern Districts of the Cape of Good Hope" was established by Act No. 21, 1864, and is composed of three Judges of the Supreme Court, one of whom is called the Judge President. (Act No. 5 1879, § 3). The same rule as to a quorum obtains in this Court as in the Supreme Court. (Act No. 5, 1879, §§ 3, 5). The Eastern Districts Court has jurisdiction throughout the Eastern Districts concurrent with that of the Supreme Court (Act No. 21, 1864, § 9), and within the territories known as the Transkei and Griqualand East. (Act No. 40, 1882, § 17).

[Vide Civil Establishment, page 73.]

High Court.

(Kimberley).

"The High Court of Griqualand," created by Griqualand West Proclamation, No. 4, 1871, consists of three Judges of the Supreme Court duly assigned for the purpose—one being called the Judge President (Act No. 40, 1882, § 6); and the Supreme Court rule as to quorum and difference of opinion amongst the Judges applies. (Act No. 40, 1882, §§ 6, 8). It has concurrent jurisdiction in the province of Griqualand West with the Supreme Court. (Act No. 39, 1877, § 10).

[Vide Civil Establishment, page 73].

Circuit Courts.

Circuit Courts, held twice at least in each year in each of the districts into which the Colony is divided, are presided over by the Chief Justice or one of the Puisne Judges of the Supreme Court (Charter of Justice, § 38), and have the same jurisdiction within the district in which a court is held as is vested in the Supreme Court. (Charter of Justice, § 39).

Special Court.

(Diamond Trade Act).

By Government Notice 716, of 27th August, 1888, Saturday, 1st September, 1888, was fixed as the date on and after which the Special Court was constituted in the manner provided by Section 2 of the "Diamond Trade Act Amendment Act, 1888," that is to say, of three members, two of whom shall be Judges of the Supreme Court.

Clerk, F. W. Roberts, £100 p.a. allowance.
Messenger for Service of Process, W. L. Cornwall, £150.

Vice-Admiralty Court.

Judge, Hon. Sir J. H. de Villiers, K.C.M.G.
Registrar, W. E. Moore.
Marshal, Capt. H. M. Penfold.
Queen's Proctor, C. A. Fairbridge.

The ordinary cases in respect of which the authority of this court is exercised are:—(1) to restore possession of a ship; (2) for damage to ship, her cargo, &c.; (3) in respect of seamen's wages; (4) salvage; (5) necessaries supplied to a ship; (6) bottomry and respondentia; (7) claims by a mortgagee; (8) pilotage and towage; (9) restoring goods taken by pirates; and (10) assaults or batteries committed on the high seas. Appeals lie to the Privy Council.

Provision is also made by the Judicature Acts for the appointment of a Prize Court at the beginning of every war, to proceed upon all captures, and reprisals of ships and goods.

Master's Office, Supreme Court.

Orphan Chamber Branch.

The Orphan Chamber Branch of this Department was established by Ordinance No. 103, which abolished the then existing Orphan Chamber of the Colony, and provided that the duties discharged by that body should, from the 1st March, 1834, be performed by the Master of the Supreme Court. What the duties so transferred consist of is set forth in Ordinances Nos. 104 and 105, entitled respectively "Ordinance for Regulating the Registration of Wills and the Administration of the Estates and Property of Persons dying either testate or intestate, in so far as the same are situated within this Colony," and "Ordinance for providing for the due Administration and Management of the Estates and Property of Minors, Lunatics, and persons absent from the Colony, and for the proper Care of the Persons of Minors and Lunatics." The titles of these Ordinances to some extent indicate the scope of the functions exercised by this department.—

[Vide G. 79—'82.]

Insolvency and Law Branch.

The powers and duties of the Master over Insolvent Estates within the Colony are defined by Ordinance No. 6 of 1843, entitled "Ordinance for regulating the due collection, administration, and distribution of Insolvent Estates within this Colony."—

[Vide Civil Establishment, page 72.]

Taxing Officer, Supreme Court.

In January, 1882, the Supreme Court ordered that all the powers and duties conferred upon the Master of the Supreme Court by certain rules of Court in regard to the taxation of costs should be exercised and performed by an Officer to be styled the Taxing Officer of the Supreme Court. [Rule of Court No. 351.] This officer has up to the present time always been the High Sheriff.

Deeds Registry Office.

An account of the institution of this office, and of the registration of deeds at the Cape of Good Hope for the last two hundred years, having appeared in three previous editions of the Civil Service List (1885, 6, 7) it is not reprinted. By the annexation of Griqualand East the Deeds Registry there, as a separate department, ceased to exist, and all deeds from that province are now registered here.

This office has likewise copies of the West Griqualand and King William's Town Debt and Transfer Registries.

[Vide Civil Establishment, pages 73.]

The Sheriff.

The Sheriff of the Colony (or High Sheriff, as he is generally styled) is annually appointed by the Governor, under the provisions of the Charter of Justice, for the purpose of carrying out the decrees of the Supreme and Circuit Courts.

In connection with those Courts his duties are regulated by Statute, and by Rules framed from time to time by the Judges. They comprise the execution, personally or by deputy, of all civil process for summoning and arresting persons, for recovering amounts of judgment, and carrying out other orders of Courts. Since 1881 they comprise also the realization of landed property declared executable by the decrees of the Supreme Court and Western Circuit Courts. In regard to criminal process, he is charged with the duty of securing the attandance of jurors, of executing writs, and of carrying out sentences of capital and corporal punishment.

For the effectual discharge of these functions he deputes, under his hand and seal, suitable persons to act on his behalf, either generally within certain limits, or specially for the service or execution of particular process. As a safeguard for the protection of the public, the High Sheriff is required to give substantial security to the Crown, and each deputy to the High Sheriff, for faithful compliance with their respective obligations.

The Deputy Sheriff of Albany and the Deputy Sheriff of Kimberley are, in regard to the Eastern Districts and High Courts respectively, charged with the duties connected with the sale of real property in addition to their ordinary duties as representatives of the High Sheriff in regard to Supreme Court process. All other processes of these two Courts are executed by the Deputy Sheriffs of the several districts.

The permanent officers of the High Sheriff's Department are occupied in scrutinizing all steps taken by the Deputies, and in regulating their remuneration according to the Tariff, not only in respect of process of the Supreme and Western Circuit Courts (for the due execution of which the High Sheriff is personally responsible), but also in respect of the process of the other superior Courts.—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 73.]

Detective Force.

Established under the provisions of Griqualand West Ordinance No. 11 of 1890, which was passed with a view to the suppression of diamond stealing from the mines, and was subsequently amended and supplemented by Act No. 48 of 1882. Appointments to the force, which are of a temporary nature, are made by the Government. All fines recovered under the said Acts, and the proceeds of all diamonds forfeited and sold, are paid into the public Treasury for the maintenance of the force. Revenue is also derived from a system of registration of rough diamonds, the fee (amounting to one-half per cent. on the value of the diamonds) being devoted, three-fourths towards the maintenance of the force, and one-fourth to be administered by the Mining Protection Board, appointed under Act No. 48 of 1882, for the protection of mining interests. The various mining boards are liable, however, for any deficiency there may be in the revenues thus obtained for maintaining the force. The force was created in 1882, under the supervision of the late Mr. Fry, whose appointment was dated the 4th May, 1882. He was succeeded by Mr Roper, appointed Chief of the Detective Department on the 1st May, 1885, and by Mr. George Hudson, appointed on the 1st January, 1889. The latter also holds the appointment of Commissioner of Police, Kimberley, and Barkly West.

V.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF THE COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS AND PUBLIC WORKS.

The Office of Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works was created by Act No. 1 of 1872 on the first introduction of Responsible Government. The Commissioner is charged with the administration of the Land Laws of the Colony, and with the administrative control and supervision of Public Works of all kinds, including the Government Railways, Government Buildings, Public Road communications, Bridges, Tolls, Ferries, Lighthouses, and Harbour Works, Woods and Forests, Ports and Harbours Diamond and other Mines and Mineral Deposits, Geological Explorations, Irrigation and Water Supply, and Immigration.

From 1882 to 1889 the Crown Lands and Public Works Office was divided into separate branches for the "Lands" and "Works" business respectively, each being directed by a responsible head. From 1st July, 1889, the office of Secretary for Lands and Mines was abolished, the control of the entire office reverting to the Assistant Commissioner.

Woods and Forests.

Until the year 1876 the control over Crown Forests was exercised through the Civil Commissioner of the Division in which the forest lay. In 1876 "Forests and Plantations" was constituted a separate Department of the Ministerial Division, its principal officers corresponding directly with the Ministerial Office.

In 1880 Parliament sanctioned the appointed of a Superintendent of Woods and Forests; and in January, 1881, the office was conferred upon the Count de Vasselot de Régné of the Department of the "Eaux et Forets" of the Government of France. The result has been the organization of the system of Forest working and Conservancy on the scientific system of the French School, the principles of which are adopted in the "Regulation for the Working of Crown Forests," published under Government Notice No. 406 of 1883. The principal Tariffs of Licences to fell Timber in Crown Forests are given in Government Notices Nos. 361 of 1875, 406 of 1883, 508 of 1885, 23 of 1886, 24 of 1886, 30 of 1887, and 192 of 1888.

Diamond Mines.

Upon the annexation to the Colony of the Province of Griqualand West the administration of the Laws and Regulations for Diamond Mines and Diggings devolved upon the Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works, and has since formed part of the duties of the Department under the control of that Minister. The Inspectors of Mines and Claims correspond directly with the Ministerial office. The administration of the Diamond Mines includes the control of portion of the Vooruitzigt Estate through the Civil Commissioner of Kimberley.

Knysna Gold Fields.

The Millwood Gold Fields Area was proclaimed an Alluvial Digging and Mine by Proclamations Nos. 4 and 12 of 1887, when an Inspector and Registrar of Mines were appointed as officers of the Ministerial Division of Crown Lands and Public Works.

The West Homtini Area was proclaimed by Proclamation No. 175 of 1887. Rules and Regulations for these Gold Fields are published under Proclamations Nos. 13, 36, 194, and 198 of 1887, and 159 of 1888.

Surveyor-General's Office.

This Department of Government has existed under various designations from the earliest times in the history of Colonial Land Registration. The Land Records dating from 1657 were, in the beginning of British Administration, kept in the Colonial Office, and were transferred to the custody of the Superintendent of Lands and Woods in 1819. This appointment, which was held by Baron Van Collot d'Escury, was in 1828 altered to that of Surveyor-General in the person of Colonel Michell, R.A., on whose retirement in 1848 the late Mr. Charles Bell was appointed by Royal Warrant, dated Osborne House, 31st August, 1848. In 1872 the present Surveyor-General succeeded to the office, the duties of which may be classed under the following heads:—

(1.) Appertaining to survey of land under

Land Acts, and the control and examination of surveyor's work; also the settlement of disputes under Acts 7 of 1865, 8 of 1866, and 9 of 1879.
(2.) Registration of land sold or granted.
(3.) Sales of Crown lands.
(4.) Supplying information to legal practitioners and the public.
(5.) Construction of maps.
(6.) Land revenue and expenditure.
(7.) Custody of all original title-deeds.
(8.) Examining candidates for admission as surveyors.

Public Works Department.

Until the year 1848 the Department now under the directions of the Chief Inspector of Public Works was for the most part controlled by the Surveyor-General, whose office combined the posts of Civil Engineer and Superintendent of Works. In 1848 it was for the first time separately organised under the direction of the "Colonial Civil Engineer," the holder of the office being Captain George Pilkington, Royal Engineers.

The Department had not at that time control of the Road communications which were still in charge of the Central Board of Commissioners of Public Roads constituted under the provisions of Ordinance No. 8 of 1843.

In 1858 the Roads Act No. 9 was passed, which abolished the Central Road Board, vesting their powers and authorities in an officer to be styled the Chief Commissioner of Roads. Upon the recommendation of the Select Committee on the Colonial Engineer's Department, appointed by the House of Assembly in 1859, this office was conjoined with that of the Colonial Civil Engineer, when the Department assumed the control of Public Roads, and extended its organization to what practically it has since remained. In 1865 the title of the Head was changed to "Chief Inspector of Roads, Bridges, and Buildings," and in 1866 to "Chief Inspector of Public Works," in use at the present day. The charge of Roads, Bridges, Buildings, Lighthouses and certain Harbour Works are entrusted to the care of this Department, and the Hydraulic work of the Colony was transferred to it in June, 1886.

Government Railways.

In 1859 Governor Sir George Grey cut the first sod of the Cape Town and Wellington Railway viâ Stellenbosch (57 miles). In 1863 it was opened for traffic; in 1872 it was purchased by the Government for £773,000.

In 1863 the construction of the line from Salt River Junction to Wynberg (5¾ miles) was commenced; in 1864 it was opened for traffic, and in 1876 it was purchased by Government for £75,000.

In 1872 the Government commenced the construction of Railways under the control of the Public Works Department; in 1873 the Railway Department was constituted, and works of construction vigorously proceeded with.

Mr. Brounger, M. Inst. C.E., was the first Railway Engineer and Head of the Department until 1875, when the three Systems of Railways, now known as West rn, Midland, and Eastern, were separated, and a Chief Resident Engineer appointed to each; Mr. Brounger retained the Western System, and acted also as Consulting Engineer in the Colony.

In December, 1880, Mr. C. B. Elliott, LL.B. (until then Assistant Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works), was appointed General Manager of the three Systems opened for Traffic. In 1881 a Railway Board, consisting of the Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works, the General Manager and the Railway Engineer, was appointed, and existed till 1884, when, upon Mr. Brounger's retirement (on pension) Construction also was placed under control of the General Manager, and Mr. H. J. Pauling, M. Inst. C.E., was appointed Engineer in-Chief.

Construction was continued with slight intermission up to 1886, the termini reached being Malmesbury, Kalk Bay, and Kimberley from Cape Town; Graaff-Reinet, Colesberg, Graham's Town, and Kimberley from Port Elizabeth (the Graham's Town Line being extended thence to the "Kowie" by the Graham's Town and Port Alfred Railway Company); and Aliwal North and King William's Town from East London.

Extensions authorised in 1888 from Colesberg Junction to the Orange River, a distance of 23½ miles, and from Eerste River through Somerset West to Sir Lowry's Pass, a distance of 14 miles. The first named Extension is now ready for Traffic, and the second named was opened for Traffic in December 1889. In 1889 various proposals were made in Parliament, resulting in the following extensions being sanctioned, viz.:—

1. The continuation of the Colesberg-Orange River Line from Norval's Pont on the Orange River to Bloemfontein, a distance of 123 miles; to be constructed and worked in terms of a Convention between the Cape Colony and the Orange Free State Governments. This Line was ready for Traffic in December, 1890.
2. A line from Burghersdorp on the Eastern System (243 miles from East London) to a point on Extension 1 near to Bethulie, in the Orange Free State. The Construction of this Line is postponed.

3. A line from Kalk Bay (17 miles from Cape Town) to Simon's Town. This line was ready for Traffic in December, 1890.

The extension from Kimberley to the Vaal River, sanctioned in 1888, was held in abeyance; subsequently an arrangement was made for its construction by the British South Africa Company as far as Vryburg, and by Act No. 13 of 1890 the Government was authorized to acquire, construct, and maintain the line from Kimberley to Vryburg, in British Bechuanaland, a distance of 126½ miles. This line was ready for Traffic in November, 1890.

VI.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF SECRETARY FOR NATIVE AFFAIRS.

The administration of the Secretary for Native Affairs, whose office was created by the Responsible Government Act of 1872, is entirely confined to those aborigines within the Colony who are not sufficiently civilized to be brought under the ordinary law. These natives are placed in carefully selected localities, under superintendents, whose official communications are made through the Civil Commissioners of their respective districts. The native territories beyond the Kei, which, with the exceptions of a few Europeans, are inhabited entirely by aborigines, are divided into the three chief magistracies of the Transkei, Tembuland, and Griqualand East, and are under the immediate control of this Minister. The Resident Magistrates at Port St. John's and Walfish Bay are not included in the jurisdiction of any Chief Magistrate, but communicate direct with the Ministerial Office in Cape Town. The office of Special Commissioner at Upington was abolished from 1st July, 1888, the magistracy of Kenhardt being established on the south side of the Orange River.

Total area, 2,535 square miles; population, approximate, Europeans, 1,000; coloured, 135,395.

Consists of Fingoland and Idutywa Reserve, 1,545 square miles, obtained by conquest in 1858. The present inhabitants of Idutywa were located there in 1858, and of Fingoland in 1865. The territory was annexed to the Colony by virtue of a Proclamation of Sir Bartle Frere, No. 112 of 1879, under the Transkei Annexation Act No. 38 of 1877. Magistrates are maintained at Nqamakwe, Butterworth, Idutywa, and Tsomo.

Galekaland is also a part of this chief magistracy. It is 990 square miles in extent, and was obtained by conquest in 1877-8. It was formerly ruled by the Governor under a Commission, dated the 14th November, 1881, [Vide Civil Service List 1885, pages 41-2], through the administration of the Secretary for Native Affairs, but was annexed to the Colony by a Proclamation of Sir Hercules Robinson, No. 140 of 1885, under the Act No. 3 of 1885.

Magistrates are stationed at Willowvale and at Kentani.

Tembuland.

Tembuland Proper, Emigrant Tembuland, and Bomvanaland comprise together 4,055 square miles. Population, approximate, Europeans, 5,515; coloured, 153,810. Tembuland Proper was obtained in 1875 by a cession from Gangelizwe, chief of the country and people. Emigrant Tembuland was obtained by conquest in 1858, and its present inhabitants were located there in 1865. The acts of cession, conquest, and location have been confirmed by the Imperial Government. The stations of Magistrates in Tembuland Proper and Emigrant Tembuland are:—Umtata, Mqanduli, Engcobo, St. Mark's, and Xalanga.

Bomvanaland, which is included in the chief magistracy of Tembuland, is situated to the east of the Bashee, on the sea coast, extending about half way across to Pondoland. In 1877 a Resident was placed with the Chief Moni, for the better protection of colonial interests; on the 7th January, 1878, the country was taken into military occupation, by consent of the chief, and on the 28th February of that year it was ceded to the British Government. A magistrate is stationed at Elliotdale.

Tembuland Proper, Emigrant Tembuland, and Bomvanaland were annexed to the Colony by a Proclamation of Sir Hercules Robinson, No. 140 of 1885, under the Act No. 2, 1885.

Griqualand East was ceded by Faku in 1861. The tribes and clans inhabiting it were brought under Government at different times between 1873 and 1875. The Act annexing this territory to the Colony was passed in 1877, No. 38, and the Governor's Proclamation completing it was issued on the 17th September, 1879. There are magistrates stationed at Kokstad, Umzimkulu, Matatiele, Mount Fletcher, Maclear, Tsolo, Qumbu, and Mount Frere.

The Xesibe District (Mount Ayliff) is now included in this chief magistracy, and is about 240 square miles. The Xesibes, under their Chief Jojo, were received as British subjects in 1878, but the land was not annexed to the Colony until the Act No. 37 of 1886 had been confirmed by Her Majesty, when a Proclamation, No. 174, 25th October, 1886, was accordingly issued by the Officer Administering the Government, effecting the annexation from that day under limits therein defined. In 1886 a plot of land called the Rode Valley, 31 square miles in extent, was purchased from the Pondo chief Umqikela, and was added to this chief magistracy. It was formally annexed by Proclamation of H. E. the Governor, No. 199, dated 27th October, 1887, under the Act No. 45 of 1887, confirmed by Her Majesty on the 15th of the following September.—[Vide Civil Establishment, pages 91—92.]

Port St. John's.

The Port of St. John's consists of about sixteen square miles of land on the western bank of the river, purchased in 1878 from Nquiliso, and of the tidal estuary and eastern bank up to the lower drift, proclaimed British possessions by Lord Chelmsford on the 31st August, 1878, and confirmed as such by a proclamation of Sir Bartle Frere, No. 68, dated the 4th September, 1878. For some years it was controlled by the Governor under a Royal Commission, dated the 27th July, 1881, appointing the Governor of the Colony for the time being to be Governor of the St. John's River Territory [Vide Government Notice No. 1,013, 1881], but by Proclamation of Sir Hercules Robinson, No. 215, of the 15th September, 1884, it was annexed to the Colony under the Act No. 35 of 1884.—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 91.]

Northern Border.

UPINGTON.

Office of Special Commissioner abolished 1st July, 1888.

Walfish Bay.

Annexed to the Colony by Proclamation of Sir Hercules Robinson, No 184, dated the 7th August, 1884, under the provisions of the Act No. 35 of that year,—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 89.]

Pondoland.

A British Protectorate over the whole Coast Border of this Territory was declared by Government Notice issued by the High Commissioner, dated 5th January, 1885. A Resident Commissioner was appointed for Pondoland in July, 1888.—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 92.]

Part VIII.
LOCAL BOARDS AND COURTS.

PUBLIC HEALTH BOARDS.

The Public Health Act, No. 4 of 1883, was promulgated by proclamation, dated the first October, 1883. Syphilis, cholera, and yellow fever have been declared to be diseases to which the Act shall apply, in addition to small-pox, which is specially mentioned in the Act, and regulations have been framed under the provisions of the Act respecting quarantine, vaccination, and infectious and contagious diseases.

The term "local authority" is thus defined in the Act:—

§ 2. In the construction of this Act the term "local authority" shall mean:

The council or board of commissioners of any municipality;

The board of management of any community in which the "Villages Management Act, 1881," is in operation;

A board consisting of no more than five persons nominated by the Governor for the purpose of carrying the provisions of this Act into effect, within any area to be fixed by the Governor by proclamation;

The resident magistrate, or special justice of the peace (if any, or as the case may be) residing in any town or village which is not a municipality, or in which the said "Village Management Act" is not in operation, or in which no such board as aforesaid has been appointed to act; and, when there shall be no such resident magistrate, special justice of the peace, or board, any justice of the peace, residing in such town or village. The area within which such resident magistrate or special or other justice of the peace, as the case may be, shall exercise authority, shall be such as the Governor may by proclamation determine.

Act No. 40 of 1887 amends the definition of the term "local authority" so as to include divisional councils, and enacts that whenever any area within this Colony shall be fixed by the Governor by proclamation under the provisions of the "Public Health Act, 1883," if the whole or any portion of such area shall not be situated within the local limits of any municipality, of any community in which the "Villages Management Act, 1881," is in operation, or of any town or village wherein any Resident Magistrate or Special Justice of the Peace is resident and has jurisdiction, the Divisional Council of the division wherein is included the whole or any portion of such area not so situated within such local limits, shall, for the purposes and within the meaning of the Act No. 4 of 1883, and the Act No. 41 of 1885, especially Section 2 of the firstmentioned Act, be deemed and taken, in respect of such whole or portion of such area so included as aforesaid, to be the "local authority," and no board shall after the passing of this Act be nominated by the Governor under the said section within any such area.

The Boards appointed under the provisions of the Act of 1883, and the Proclamations fixing and defining the respective areas are:—

REGULATIONS.

Quarantine and the Prevention of Infection.
(Under Sub-section 4, Section XXVI, of the "Public Health Act, 1883.")

1. When a vessel has been placed in quarantine' all letters, papers, and other mail matter before being landed shall be carefully and thoroughly fumigated with sulphur at the gangway, in the presence of the Health Officer.

2. The master of any vessel in quarantine is required to isolate the sick as much as possible until they shall be removed to a lazaret.

3. He shall afford every facility to the Superintendent of the quarantine station for landing the passengers and crew and the sick, and their baggage, together with such provisions as may be required for use on shore.

4. After the sick have been landed and removed to the lazaret, the healthy portion of the crew and passengers may be landed and located on a portion of the quarantine ground apart from the lazaret, or they may remain on board the vessel; but in the event of any fresh case of disease breaking out the patient shall at once be conveyed to the lazaret on shore, and if necessary the clothes and bedding belonging to such patient shall be destroyed.

5. The Superintendent shall not permit any communication whatever to take place between the patients or their attendants in the lazaret and the healthy portion of the passengers and crew.

6. He shall not permit anyone to land at or to have any communication wiih the quarantine station, and he shall give notice that any letters which persons in quarantine may wish to send to their friends must be delivered to him for the purpose of being fumigated.

7. The medical officer in charge of the lazaret shall keep a diary, which must be written up daily, and a medical register containing a history of every case of disease, with the treatment employed, and a daily entry of the diet and extras prescribed. He will be required to aid the Superintendent in maintaining order and discipline.

8. He shall cause the patients labouring under different descriptions of disease to be placed in separate wards as far as practicable.

9. The appointment of nurses and attendants will rest with him, and he will see that order and cleanliness are observed by the patients and attendants.

10. He will communicate with the Superintendent of the quarantine station once in each day, in the forenoon, when it will be expected that he will have his requisition prepared for any article he may require, as also his report on the state of the patients.

11. It will be his duty to see that the hospital linen and clothing are carefully washed, and that no dirty or soiled clothes, particularly those belonging to diseased persons, are allowed to remain longer than may be absolutely necessary before being cleansed or destroyed.

12. No bed-linen or articles of wearing apparel used by sick persons on board a vessel in quarantine shall under any circumstances be permitted to be taken on shore for the purpose of being washed, but must either be washed on board or destroyed by fire.

13. The bodies of persons dying either on board a vessel in quarantine or at the quarantine station on shore, shall be buried as soon as possible, in coffins or shells filled with lime.

14. Before the embarkation of the persons entrusted to his charge the Superintendent shall cause the whole of the buildings and tents to be carefully cleansed and disinfected.

15. Any person found wilfully damaging any of the buildings, tents, or other Government property, shall be liable, on conviction, to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

16. Should more than one vessel be placed in quarantine at the same time, the people of one vessel shall not be allowed to communicate with those of another, but they shall be restricted to the boundaries which shall have been allotted to each of them.

17. No release from quarantine will be granted until the master of the vessel or the Medical officer shall give a certificate to the following effect, viz.:—That no new case of the prevailing epidemic or of any other contagious or infectious disease has occurred among the people under his charge since the one last reported; and that all the measures directed to be taken for the cleansing, fumigation, and purification of the vessel and her lading, and of the baggage and bedding of the passengers and crew, have been completed, and that quarantine has been strictly kept.

Infectious Diseases and Hospitals.
(Under Section XXXII of the Public Health Act, 1883).

I. Any house or dwelling of any description may be visited by any medical or other officer duly authorised thereto by the local authority, and such officer is empowered to demand an entrance to such house or dwelling, and to visit every room, closet, or apartment, and he shall thereupon make a report on the state thereof to the local authority.

II. When any person is found suffering from symptoms which are of a suspicious nature, and is not under proper medical treatment, such person shall at once be removed to such hospital or lazaret as the local authority may appoint.

III. Whenever it shall be found that any house or dwelling contains a greater number of occupants than the medical officer considers consistent with the health of the inmates, it shall be lawful for the local authority to order the removal of so many of the inmates as shall be deemed necessary.

IV. The local authority shall provide means for removal of all rubbish, house refuse, and filth, which shall be destroyed by fire, as far as possible, and all that cannot be consumed by fire should be buried at such place or places as the local authorities may direct.

V. It shall be lawful for the local authority to establish an hospital or lazaret for the reception of persons suffering from any disease declared by the Governor to be deemed contagious or infectious within the meaning of the "Public Health Act, 1883," and to appoint medical officers and attendants to take charge of such hospitals.

VI. Every hospital erected by a "local authority," and intended for the accommodation of persons suffering from small-pox, shall be built at a distance of at least half a mile from the nearest habitation.

VII. All corpses shall be buried within twenty-four hours after death, the body being wrapped in a sheet saturated in carbolic acid wash.

VIII. The hearse or bier on which any corpse is carried shall pass along the centre of the road or street, and all funerals shall take place before nine o'clock in the morning, or after five o'clock in the evening.

IX. Any person coming into an area under the jurisdiction of a local authority from any locality where a disease of an epidemic, endemic, contagious, or infectious nature exists, shall be liable to be detained and fumigated, and any baggage, wearing apparel, or other articles capable of conveying infection or contagion shall also be fumigated at such place or places as the local authority may appoint, and any person endeavouring to pass into any area under the jurisdiction of a local authority from such locality as aforesaid without being fumigated, shall be liable to be apprehended and detained until such person shall have been fumigated.

X. Any person contravening any of the above regulations shall be liable to the penalties prescribed by the "Public Health Act, 1883."

XI. Whenever any person suffering from infectious disease shall die in any hospital or lazaret the body of such person shall be interred in such place and at such time as the medical officer in charge of such hospital or lazaret shall direct.

XII. It shall be lawful for any "local authority" to isolate or place in quarantine any house, hut, or other building occupied by persons suffering from any disease to which the provisions of the "Public Health Act, 1883," apply, and to prevent any communications with the occupiers of such house, hut, or other building. The "local authority" shall, however, be bound to provide medical attendance, and to furnish all necessary supplies for persons so detained in quarantine.

XIII. No person confined in any hospital, lazaret, or other place appointed by any "local authority" for the reception of persons suffering from contagious or infectious diseases, shall escape or attempt to escape from the same during the period of his lawful detention therein.

XIV. No person shall wilfully or without leave go within the limits assigned or appointed by any "local authority" around any such hospital, lazaret, or other place of detention.

XV. No person, unless he shall be duly authorized thereto by the "local authority," shall communicate in any way with any person detained in such hospital, lazaret, or other place of detention Gratuitous Vaccination.

(Under Section LIII of the "Public Health Act, 1883.")

I. Every District Surgeon and Vaccinator is required to vaccinate gratuitously—

(1) Any child under the age of fourteen years, whose parents are in his opinion unable to pay the customary fee.

(2) Any child under the age of fourteen years, whose parents, or the person having the custody of such child, shall produce a certificate from any Justice of the Peace, or Field-cornet in the District, stating that the parents of such child are, or in the case of an orphan that such orphan is, in indigent circumstances, and that such ought to be vaccinated gratuitously.

(3) Any person whom the Resident Magistrate of the District may in writing direct to be vaccinated gratuitously.

II. The Vaccinators at Cape Town and Graham's Town are required to vaccinate gratuitously throughout the year.

III. Every District Surgeon shall, when required to do so by the Resident Magistrate of the District, proceed to the different Field-cornetcies, in order to vaccinate such persons as may desire to be vaccinated, or whom such Surgeons may be required to vaccinate gratuitously.

IV. The Resident Magistrate shall cause timely notice to be given of the date appointed for the visits of the District Surgeon, and of the place appointed in each Field-cornetcy for his attendance for the performance of vaccination.

"The Contagious Diseases Prevention Act, 1885," was promulgated on the 16th November, 1888. The first part of the Act applies to the following areas or districts:—

1. The Cape district, including Cape Town and the district of Wynberg (Proclamations Nos. 209 and 210, dated 16th November, 1888.)

2. The districts of East London and King William's Town combined. (Proclamation No. 208, dated 10th November, 1888.)

3. The district of Simon's Town.

4. The district of Port Elizabeth.

The second part of the Act is in force throughout the Colony.

Hospitals for cases under Part I have been established at Cape Town, Simon's Town, Port Elizabeth, and King William's Town, and the following medical inspectors have been appointed:—

Cape Town, W. W. Ward, L.R.C.S.
Wynberg, H. C. Wright, M.R.C.S., M.D.

TABLE BAY.

The Harbour Works of Table Bay are, by Act No. 26 of 1881, placed under the control of a Board of seven Commissioners, four of whom are appointed by the Governor, the remainder being selected by a constituency specially constructed under the Act. Of the nominee members no more than two may be persons holding offices of profit under the Crown, and any of them may be removed by the Governor under proclamation. The elective members are returned by the constituency of importers and exporters of merchandise in Cape Town who have voting powers according to the amount of dock dues paid, in the proportion of one vote for every £100 of dues. The nominee members hold office for three years, and are eligible for re-nomination on expiry of the term. The elective members vacate their seats annually in rotation, each member thus sitting for three years, and they are eligible for re-election. By Act No. 11 of 1890 the Mayor of Cape Town for the time being is also ex officio a member of the Board during his term of office. Each member of the Board receives £1 for each meeting which he attends.

Under the general sanction of the Government, through the Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works, the Commissioners have direct control over the administration of its funds.

The Board for 1890-91 consists of the following members:—

Appointed by the Government.—F. W. Burrowes, Collector of Customs (Chairman), 2nd September, 1881; Thos. E. Fuller, M.L.A., 2nd September, 1881; L. Wiener, M.L.A., 8th October, 1885; the General Manager of Railways, C. B. Elliott, 18th August, 1888.

ROYAL OBSERVATORY.

Establishment.

H.M. Astronomer, David Gill, LL.D. (Aber. and Edin.), F.R.S., &c., £800.*
Chief Assistant, W. H. Finlay, M.A., F.R.A.S., £550.*
2nd Class Assistants, G. W. H. Maclear, F.R.S.A., £350*; R. T. Pett, F.R.A.S., £326.*
Junior Assistant, W. H. Cox, £250.

The Secretary of the Cape Meteorological Commission has his office also at the Observatory, by permission of H.M. Astronomer.

Besides these gentlemen, who are on the fixed establishment, Mr. C. Ray Woods is Photographic Assistant (£250). There are from four to six clerks appointed or dispensed with, according to the requirements of the service, by H.M. Astronomer.

Ground.

The Observatory grounds cover 27 acres, and are about three miles E.S.E. from Cape Town.

Buildings.

The Meridian Observatory, library, and computing rooms, with the attached official residences of H.M. Astronomer and Chief Assistant, constitute the main building. There are separate detached quarters in different parts of the grounds for the second class assistants, the artificer, carpenter, and Kroomen. There are besides nine detached Observatories covering different instruments.

Instrumental Equipment.

(1) A Transit Circle (similar to that at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich), of 8 inches aperture and 13 feet focal length.
(2) An Equatorial of 7 inches aperture and 9 feet focus, by Merz, the mounting by Troughton & Simms, the micrometer and illuminating apparatus by Repsolds.

* With an official residence or quarters.

(3) An Equatorial of 6 inches aperture and 6 feet focus, by Grubb.
(4) A Heliometer of 7 inches aperture and 8½ feet focus, by Repsolds, the finest instrument of its kind in the world.
(5) A three foot Theodolite, by Troughton and Simms (lent by the Indian Government), the most powerful instrument of its class in existence.
(6) A Zenith Telescope of 4 inches aperture.
(7) A Photo-heliograph and Coronagraph.
(8) A Photographic Telescope of 13 inches aperture and 11 feet focal length, with a Guiding Telescope of 10 inches aperture, by Grubb of Dublin, equatorially mounted, and driven by clockwork, which is electrically controlled by a swinging pendulum.
(9) Sundry magnetic, meteorological, and geodetic apparatus.

Electric lighting has been introduced for illumination of all the instruments.

Duties.

a. Construction of an extensive Fundamental Star Catalogue, the Fundamental Declinations being determined by new methods.
b. Daily observations of the Sun, Mercury, and Venus.
c. Observations of occultations by the Moon of all Stars to 6th magnitude.
d. Observations of all Comets that are not easily visible at European Observatories.
e. Determination of the parallax of the principal Stars of the Southern Hemisphere.
f. A photographic survey of the Southern Hemisphere for the purpose of forming a catalogue of all Stars to 9¼ magnitude, which was completed in June, 1889, and in further prosecution of similar work in connection with the Committee of the Paris Astro-photographic Congress of 1887.
g. Researches on the Solar Parallax by observations of the minor planets.

H.M. Astronomer also undertakes the scientific superintendence of the Geodetic Survey of South Africa, and the reduction of the astronomical results of the survey.

Institution of.

A full copy of the Order in Council for founding a Royal Observatory at the Cape will be found in the Memoirs of the Royal Astronomical Society, vol. xix., p. 4, which can be seen in the Public Library. The following is an extract:—

COLONIAL MEDICAL COMMITTEE.

By Ordinance No. 82 of 1830, the Governor was empowered "to appoint a Committee, consisting of a President and such number of members, being of the medical profession, as he shall think proper, together with a Secretary, under the style and description of the 'Colonial Medical Committee,' who shall superintend the civil medical concerns of this Colony." Any person wishing to practice as a physician, surgeon-accoucheur, surgeon-apothecary, apothecary, chemist, or druggist in the Colony, before he can take out a licence, must first satisfy the Committee that he is duly qualified, and must submit for the examination of the Committee his diploma or other certificates. The Ordinance further provides for an examination by the Committee of all drugs or medicines imported into the Colony before the same are sold, but this portion of the Ordinance is, and always has been, practically a dead letter. The Committee are officially the advisers of the Executive Government in all matters medical, or in any way affecting the public health.

The Imperial Medical Act of 1886 [49 and 50 Vict., ch. 48] so far as it relates to Colonies and Foreign Practitioners, was published in the Gazette by Government Notice, No. 786, 6th September, 1886.

Applications for authority to practise as physicians, surgeons, chemists, or dentists should be addressed to the Under-Colonial Secretary, and should in every case be accompanied by a declaration of identity and the necessary fee, as provided in Act 20 of 1884, Tariff 15:—

For admission to practise as medical practitioner	£5	0	0
Apothecary, chemist, and druggist	2	10	0
Dentist	2	10	0

[Government Notice No. 38, 1885.]

By Government Notice No. 223 of 1885, candidates for apothecaries' licences are required to attend before the Medical Committee to undergo a viva voce and practical examination.

Chairman:—

J. P. Roux, M.D., †1886, 25th June, £50, and £91 as Chairman.

Members:—

A. Abercrombie, M.D., 1880, January 7th, £50.
Thomas Douglas, L.R.C.S.E., 1884, May 26th, £50.
G. H. B. Fisk, M.R.C.S.E., 1886, June 25th, £50.

Secretary:—

J. Philip Landsberg, M.D., 1863, July 16th, £50, £50 as Secretary, and £25 rent.

VACCINE INSTITUTION.

By a Government Notice of Governor Janssens of the 12th December, 1803, twelve medical men were appointed as chief superintendents to conduct the then newly discovered system of vaccination. This arrangement having lapsed, in consequence of the second British occupation of the Colony in 1806, a Proclamation was issued by the Earl of Caledon, dated the 27th April, 1811, establishing an institution for the purpose of conducting the process of vaccination under the management of a director, aided by two vaccinating surgeons, forming together a committee for the same. The Institution in Cape Town is now reduced to one vaccinating surgeon, who vaccinates free of charge all children brought to him for that purpose between 11 and 12 o'clock on Tuesdays.

Vaccinating Surgeon: Philip Landsberg, M.D., 1870, July 14th £50; rent, £25.

Messenger: Henry Smith, 1884, June 1st, £60.

Vaccine Officer, Albany: J. B. S. Greathead, M.B., £50.

PARLIAMENTARY AGENTS.

The Standing Rules and Orders of the House of Assembly relating to Parliamentary Agents were adopted in 1883, and were published by order of Mr. Speaker, viz.:—

Appointment, Nos. 321 to 331.—Printed in Civil Service List for 1887, pages 116 and 117.

Private Bills, Nos. 270 to 290.—The following new rules have been subsequently adopted:—

New Rule, 27th June, 1884.—Private Bills when required to be translated into and printed in the Dutch language (on the application of three or more members), shall subject to the directions in regard to other similar work, be so translated and printed, but at the cost of the promoters.

New Rule, 16th July, 1884.—Examiners on all Petitions for the introduction of Private Bills presented after the thirtieth day of the session, shall specially report the reasons for the delay in such presentations, and such Report will be considered before the House is moved to grant leave for the introduction of such Bills.

Select Committees.—Printed in Civil Service List for 1886, pages 74 and 75.

Costs.—A list of charges which Parliamentary agents may justly make under the "Parliamentary Costs Act, 1887," was prepared in pursuance of the said Act by Mr. Speaker, and laid upon the table of the House on the 3rd August, 1887. The Clerk of the House is the taxing officer.

SPECIAL JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

In order to provide for the trial of certain offences committed at places distant from the seat of a resident magistrate, an* Act was passed in 1876 for the appointment of Special Justices of the Peace, to act within local limits to be fixed by the Governor, not being within ten miles of the office of any resident magistrate. In respect of the offences hereunder enumerated, these officers have the same jurisdiction as that exercised by a resident magistrate, but may not inflict a higher fine than 20s. or (and in default of payment) to imprisonment for more than 14 days, with or without hard labour or spare diet:

(1). Assault, where no dangerous wound is given and no dangerous weapon is used.
(2). Theft of any property, not being live-stock, and not exceeding £2 value.
(3). Attempt to commit either of the above offences, or being accessory thereto.
(4). Receiving stolen goods (not excepted in paragraph 2), knowing them to have been stolen.
(5). Contravention of sections 7 and 18 of Ordinance No. 25 of 1847, for improving the Police of the Colony.
(6). Contravention of any municipal regulation.
(7). Contravention of Act No. 28 of 1883. Liquor Licensing Act. (Special jurisdiction.)
(8). Contravention of the provisions of Native Pass Act, No. 22 of 1867.

The jurisdiction of Special Justices was extended in 1882 by the † Police Offences Act, in regard to any of the thirty descriptions of offences against the police provisions applicable to special localities mentioned in Part I. of that Act, and also with regard to the offences enumerated in clauses 9 and 10 thereof. By the ‡ Administration of Justice Act, passed in the same year, their jurisdiction was still further increased to empower them to decide cases arising under Sections 2 and 7 of the Masters and Servants Law Amendment Act of 1873, as amended by the Masters and Servants Act of 1875. The penalties to be inflicted under these extended powers are not to exceed Certain powers are also conferred by the following Acts, viz., Act No. 4 of 1883, Act No. 23 of 1879, as amended by Act No. 27 of 1889, Act No. 29 of 1881, as amended by Act No. 21 of 1889, Act No. 30 of 1889.

* No. 10 of 1876. † No. 27 of 1882. ‡ No. 40 of 1882. fine of £2, or one month's imprisonment.

DISTRICT SURGEONS.

Before these appointments, which are provisional, can be notified in the Government Gazette, the officer appointed must signify his assent, in writing, to the following conditions, for record in the Colonial Secretary' office :—

1. That I shall enter upon the duties of that office with the least possible delay.

Digitized by Google

2. That I will make myself acquainted with the instruction issued by the Government (under date 15th May, 1884), as to the duties required of me, and also with all other directions or instructions which may from time to time be issued relative thereto, and will conform to the same accordingly.
3. That if at any time it should be my desire to vacate or resign the said office and my appointment thereto, I agree to apprise the Government of my intention in that respect at least two months previous to the date upon which I will cease to perform the duties of that office.

Copies of the instructions, dated the 15th May, 1884, above referred to, are forwarded to District Surgeons upon their provisional appointment. They are as follows:—

Allowances and Travelling Expenses.

1. In addition to their fixed allowance, District Surgeons will receive an additional allowance, according to the present tariff, of 7s. 6d. an hour for travelling expenses, for all journeys taken on service, when the distance exceeds one hour (instead of three hours mentioned in Circular Instructions) from seat of Magistracy, to be issued for whole distance travelled, both going and returning. (Circulars 5 and 17 of 1855.)
2. District Medical Officers are likewise entitled to an allowance of 7s. 6d. per hour, but not to exceed £2 for any one day, while they may be in attendance in a Court of Justice as witnesses, in addition to any travelling allowance to which they may be entitled under paragraph 1, for going to and from such Courts. (Circular 36 of 1855.)
3. The maximum amount allowable for detention as a witness, viz., one of £2 a day, can be claimed only when the actual attendance has extended over at least six hours. A certificate of the number of hours the officer was necessarily detained will be required in every case. (Circular 10 of 1867.)

1. The District Surgeon is required, unless otherwise directed, to reside in the town or village which is the principal seat of magistracy in the district to which he is appointed. It is not intended to offer hereby any unreasonable obstruction to his private practice; if that, however, beyond the immediate neighbourhood of the town or village should be such as to prevent him from giving that attendance to his public duties which is required and may be reasonably expected from him, the matter will have to be brought specially under consideration of the Government.
2. He will be required to visit the prison daily, unless when absent on other public duty, or with the sanction of the Civil Commissioner or Resident Magistrate under approval of the Government; and besides affording his professional assistance to the sick prisoners and paupers admitted for treatment by authority of a magistrate, he is required to pay due attention to the state of the prison establishment, with respect to its cleanliness, the ventilation of the apartments, the quality of the provisions, and generally to everything connected with the preservation of health therein.
3. He will attend every inquest when required by the Resident Magistrate, the Clerk of the Peace, or any Justice of the Peace of his district, or Field-cornet, and he is bound to give his written opinion when the same may be officially required by any Court, or by the Civil Commissioner of the District, on any professional subject connected with the public welfare or administration of justice.
4. He is required to attend at the execution of all sentences of capital or corporal punishment within his district.
5. He will give professional attendance and medicines, gratis, to such paupers, prisoners, and public servants, whether paid wholly or partly out of the public* revenue, and to the families of the latter, and perform such casual duties as the Government may require, free of charge, and keep a journal (form annexed) specifying names, dates of entrance on the sick list, and dates of discharge or death; in which latter case the post-mortem appearances are to be recorded, if necessary. To this register the Resident Magistrate shall have access at all times, and the District Surgeon shall submit it, or extracts therefrom, to the inspection of the Colonial Medical Committee when required. This journal has been made as simple as possible, the form thereof being such as doubtless most medical practitioners employ for their own reference and information in private practice.

N.B.—Besides these duties, District Surgeons are also required to examine, free of charge, any candidate for employment in the Government service, when ordered by the Magistrate of the district to do so.

* At present only the Gaoler, the Chief Constable, and members of the Local Police, and the families of those officers.

GOVERNMENT ECCLESIASTICAL GRANTS.

Previous to 1875 the sum of £16,060 was annually reserved, by a Schedule to the Constitution Ordinance, for the service of religious worship. The Act No. 5 of 1875, which took effect on the 30th June of that year, repealed this schedule, and, while securing the continuance of the salaries of the then present incumbents until death or resignation, provided that, should any minister die or resign within five years from the taking effect of the Act, his successor should only receive salary till the expiration of the said five years. But a minister in receipt of a salary at the taking effect of the Act, who at any time resigns his post in order to accept some vacancy where the previous incumbent was also in receipt of such salary, shall also receive, till death or resignation, the same salary from public funds as his predecessor in such vacancy.

The appointments which have not yet come under the final operation of the Act, with name of incumbent, length of service, and other details, will be found in the Civil Establishment Return, to which there is an alphabetical index at the commencement of this volume.

LAND SURVEYORS.

[For the Surveyor-General and his Department, vide page 78.]

The professional qualifications of Colonial Government Surveyors is obtained by successful competition in two examinations:—

I.

The first examination (fee £15) is held once a year, in June, by the University, and is purely theoretical. It embraces the following subjects;—

Arithmetic; Algebra, including the Binomial Theorem; Geometry, viz.: the first four, the sixth, and propositions 1 to 21, inclusive, of the eleventh book of Euclid; Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, including the Exponential Theorem, and some of the Expansions derived from it; Co-Ordinate Geometry of the Straight Line; and Spherical Astronomy and Geodesy as far as these two subjects can be treated with the aid of the branches of Mathematics above specified.

II.

The second examination is held free of charge once a year, in February, in the Surveyor-General's Office, and embraces:—

A.—Drawing.

Including Topography, copying plans and drawing from models. Neatness as well as accuracy in this branch is essential.

B.—Application of the theory of Land Surveying to Practice and the working of the Land Beacons Acts, No. 7 of 1865 and No. 9 of 1879.

1. Use and adjustment of Theodolites, and use of Scales and Planimeter.

2. Co-ordinates and their practical application to Land Surveying.

3. Overcoming difficulties in the field, such as observation of angles, the vertices of which are inaccessible, and reduction of observations when there are small known errors in the positions of the observed signals.

4. Re-survey, under Land Beacons Acts or otherwise, sub-division of private property, and construction of plans and diagrams according to the regulations in force.

5. Construction of maps on the principle of projection on the developed surface of a cone.

The above Examination is to be followed by a Trial Survey.

In this survey candidates may be required—

1. To measure a baseline;

2. To determine the co-ordinates of a number of given points;

3. To fix in the field the positions of points, the co-ordinates of which are given;

4. To frame a plan of the survey, and to lay down on it accurately rivers, roads, &c., or other marked features of the ground within the limits of the survey.

5. To determine, by astronomical observations, the direction of the meridian with reference to given points, and to determine the variation of the compass.

NOTE.—Practical work in the field, with an able and experienced Surveyor, is strongly recommended as important in the preparation of candidates for this examination.

In order to pass the examination in branch B, candidates must attain at least 120 marks in the aggregate, the maximum number of marks obtainable being 200.

Copies of all Government Notices and Circulars bearing on the framing of diagrams and the working of the Land Beacons Acts are obtainable on application to the Office of the Surveyor-General. Before being appointed as Government Land Surveyors candidates must sign a declaration before a Justice of the Peace to the effect that they promise to be accurate in their professional work, to fulfil their professional duties conscientiously, and to abide by certain distinctly specified proceedings to be taken against them if they should do otherwise. A licence of £5 must be taken out before Surveyors are authorised to practise as such.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC EDUCATION.

Superintendent-General.

1839. J. Rose Innes, LL.D.

1859. Sir Langham Dale, K.C.M.G., M.A., LL.D.

Superintendent-General of Education, Sir Langham Dale, K.C.M.G., M.A., LL.D.

Secretary, George Maconachie.

The officers on the establishment of this department are enumerated on page 27, "Civil Establishment."

All letters and returns to be addressed to the Superintendent-General of Education, Education Office, Cape Town. Correspondents sending telegrams will get no reply unless the reply by wire is paid for.

TEACHERS' PENSIONS.

"The Teachers' Pension and Fund Act," No. 43 of 1887, fixes the conditions on which professors, lecturers, and teachers shall become entitled to good service allowances, and regulates the amounts; it also provides for continuance of these allowances upon retirement, and for the establishment of a Teachers' Pension Fund by an annual deduction of 5 per cent. from the good service allowances.

The Act was promulgated on the 9th August, 1887, and no pension can be awarded under it until after the expiry of twelve months from that date.

The following Bye-laws and Regulations were published by Proclamation No. 172, dated the 1st September, 1887:—

1. A Professor, Lecturer, or Teacher may obtain special leave of absence, at any time, for a period not exceeding six months, without salary, on the Superintendent-General of Education and the Managers of the College or School with which he is connected being satisfied with the arrangements made for the discharge of his duties throughout the period of his absence. The period of absence shall not count for service.

2. A Professor, Lecturer, or Teacher who has completed five years' continuous active service, may obtain ordinary leave of absence for a period not exceeding twelve months, on the Superintendent-General of Education and the Managers of the College or School with which he is connected being satisfied with the arrangements made for the discharge of his duties, without extra cost to the Education Department, throughout the period of his absence. The period of absence is to count for service, and the Merit Grant or Good Service Allowance is to be paid as in actual service. No ordinary leave shall be granted again except after an interval of five years' continuous active service.

3. When a Professor, Lecturer, or Teacher, by reason of the expiry of his engagement with the Managers, or by reason of his resignation for ill-health, or other and sufficient cause, shall be temporarily out of public employment, he may be considered as absent on leave without salary for a period not exceeding twelve months; and when he resumes active service, the breach of service caused by this suspension of public employment may be condoned if the Superintendent-General of Education is satisfied that such termination of engagement or temporary suspension of employment has not been brought about by the misconduct of the Professor, Lecturer, or Teacher; but the period during which he was out of public employment will not count as actual service; nor will any Merit Grant or Good Service Allowance be paid during that period.

4. A Professor, Lecturer, or Teacher who, by reason of an Inspector's report on the College, School, or Department with which he is connected, is in danger of having his name removed from the list of those entitled to Merit Grants or Good Service Allowanees, may appeal to the Superintendent-General of Education for special enquiry into his case; and the decision of the Superintendent-General of Education after such enquiry shall be final.

HIGHER EDUCATION.

Act No. 24 of 1874 makes provision for grants of public money in aid of the salary of a professor or lecturer in any of the departments of literature, science, law, and medicine in a college or institution approved of by the Government. The schedule to this Act was slightly amended in (*) 1882.

SOUTH AFRICAN COLLEGE.

(Cape Town).

The College was founded in 1829, and its affairs were established and regulated by Ordinance No. 11 of 1837 and Acts No. 19 of 1858 and No. 30 of 1861. In June, 1877, the several proprietors of shares in the College agreed to renounce all their right and title in the college buildings, and in the following year the Act No. 15 of 1878 was passed repealing all former enactments on the subject, and making provision for the future regulation of the institution. This Act was amended in certain respects the following year by Act No. 12 of 1879.

The standard for the examination for entry is that of the School Higher Examination.

There are ten Queen's Scholarships; five senior, tenable for three years, open to matriculated students under 18, the appointments being determined by the position attained by candidates in the preceding matriculation examination; and five junior, tenable for two years, open to non-matriculated students under 16, the appointments being determined by the position of candidates in the annual College July competitive examination.

"Murray's Gift" provides for ten Murray scholars, and the "Jamison Scholarship" of £200 a year, tenable for four years, is the gift of Mrs. Jamison, to enable the holder to pursue his professional studies in Europe or elsewhere. Mrs. Jamison has also founded a chair of practical chemistry and experimental physics.

DIOCESAN COLLEGE.

(Rondebosch.)

Founded by the Most Reverend Bishop Gray in 1849, at which time it was situated at Protea. Some years later extensive grounds were acquired on the Camp Ground, Rondebosch; commodious buildings were erected, which have since been greatly extended, and at the present time, in addition to the lecture and other rooms necessary for the work of the College, there is accommodation for between 50 and 60 boarders.

There are prizes and scholarships as follows: White Prize (£10) for Classics; Gorham Prize (£6) for Mathematics; Bishop's Prize for Greek Testament; old boys' prize for chemistry; three scholarships, equal in value to the College fees, to be held respectively for the term of one year by the students who, in the yearly examination (July), shall attain the highest place in the B.A., intermediate, and matriculation classes; two scholarships, open competition and equal in value to College fees for one year; two scholarships of the annual value of £30 for sons of clergy, or those destined for holy orders; one scholarship of the annual value of £16 16s., open to all boys coming up from the Diocesan College School.

VICTORIA COLLEGE.

(Stellenbosch).

The Stellenbosch Gymnasium was established as a public school in 1866. Immediately after the passing of the Higher Education Act in 1874, an Arts department was added, and was incorporated as a college by Act No. 9 of 1881, the public school continuing as a distinct institution, but under the administration of the same Council of Management as the College.

The subjects prescribed for the University School Higher Examination will sufficiently indicate the range of the College entrance examination. In addition to the work prescribed for the various University examinations, and degrees in literature and science, special classes are conducted in the School of Agriculture, attached to Victoria College, and directed by the Government department of agriculture. The College has also a fully arranged course of instruction for civil service candidates.

The College buildings comprise two halls, eight class-rooms, council-room, chemical laboratory, museum, library, &c.

There is no boarding establishment in direct connection with the College, but in addition to a large number of private boarding houses, two of an official character may be named: "Eiken hof." (Superintendent, Mr. D. J. de Kock), and The Young Men's Home (Superintendent, Mr. J. D. Krige), each of which accommodates about fifty boarders. The cost of board in Stellenbosch is about £36 per annum. School and College fees range from 18/- to £4 per term.

Number of students on College books, in session 1888-89, 90, 1889-90, 100. Number of pupils in Public School, 163.

ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE.

(Graham's Town.)

Founded 1855.

Incorporated by Act 21, 1887.

This College was opened in 1856, with the Rev. F. Bankes as Principal, and a School Department was at the same time attached to it, of which the Rev. F. Bankes was Head Master. The College and School were for some time combined in one institution, but the establishment of the Government-Aided Lectureships in 1878 under the Higher Education Act of 1874 has enabled the original intention of the foundation to be more adequately carried out, and the College and School Departments (the latter also being under the headmastership of the Rev. Canon Espin) are now distinct.

Candidates for admission to the College Department are required to be competent to Act to Define and Regulate the Civil Service of the Colony.*

No. 42 of 1885 as amended by Act 31 of 1888.

[Act 42 of 1885, Promulgated 9th February, 1886.
[Act 31 of 1888, Promulgated 21st August, 1888.

WHEREAS it is expedient to define the Civil Service of the Colony, and to provide for the framing of the rules regulating admission thereto, leave of absence, the maintenance of discipline, superannuation, security for efficient discharge of duty, and other matters connected therewith; Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

CIVIL SERVICE DEFINED.

2. The Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service of the Colony shall consist:

(a) Of all persons now holding or who may hereafter be appointed to any office mentioned in the Schedule A to this Act, excepting persons holding office on probation.

(b) Of all persons holding offices of like rank which the Governor may direct to be placed in such Schedule, not being persons holding offices mentioned in the second section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885."

(c) Of all other persons, now in the public service of the Colony, and duly placed on such Establishment either before the 9th day of February, 1886, or under the provisions of the "Civil Service Act, 1885."

(d) Of all other persons now in the public service of the Colony who, on the 9th day of February, 1886, held any office mentioned in the Schedule B to this Act.

(e) Of all persons accidentally omitted to be placed on the Fixed Establishment before the 9th day of February, 1886, whose names may be mentioned in a list, duly certified by the Prime Minister of the Colony, and laid before both Houses of Parliament during the present session.

(f) And of all persons engaged in the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character, appointed under the provisions of the third section of this Act or discharging like duties at the date of the taking effect thereof, who, on the completion of at least ten years' continuous service, shall obtain from the head of their department a certificate of efficiency and good conduct.

Provided:—

(a) That such persons are not remunerated solely by fees or allowances.

(b) That their whole time is devoted to the public service, except in the cases of the Solicitor-General, the Crown Prosecutor at Kimberley, the Assistant Law Adviser to the Crown, and any other persons to whom superannuation allowances may be granted under the provisions of the fortieth section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885."

* NOTE.—The Sections or insertions in Italics are from Act 31 of 1888. Sections not in Italics are from Act 42 of 1885. A marginal rule is equivalent to Italics.

2. Judges of the Supreme Court and their clerks, private secretaries to the Governor or aides-de-camp to the Governor, and officers of either House of Parliament shall not, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be in the Civil Service of the Colony.

ADMISSION.

3. No person shall be accepted as a candidate for the Civil Service of the Colony—

(1) Unless he is over seventeen and under twenty-five years of age.

(2) Unless he is free from any physical defect or disease which would be likely to interfere with the proper discharge of his duties.

(3) Unless he is of good character and free from any legal disability:

Provided that any person who has been employed in the permanent Civil Service, and whose services have been dispensed with by reason of the reduction of establishments, may be re-employed without reference to the provisions of this Act: Provided further that judges' clerks who shall be such at the date of taking effect of this Act shall be eligible as candidates for the Civil Service even if their age shall exceed twenty-five years.

4. All candidates for admission into the Civil Service of the Colony shall be required to pass an examination (to be styled the Civil Service Examination) in such subjects as the Governor shall from time to time prescribe: Provided that the Governor may, by the regulations to be framed under the eighth section hereof, exempt candidates who are graduates of any University of recognised standing, or undergraduates of the University of the Cape of Good Hope, from the necessity of being examined in any one or more of such subjects.

5. Official lists of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination shall be kept in the office of the Colonial Secretary, and shall show the percentage of the maximum number of marks obtained by each candidate in the several subjects of examination.

6. As soon as any candidate shall have attained the age of twenty-five years, or shall have been appointed on probation, his name shall be removed from such official lists.

7. The Council of the University of the Cape of Good Hope is required to hold from time to time a Civil Service Law Examination in the following subjects:—

(1) Elements of Dutch Law.

(2) Elements of English Law.

(3) Selections from colonial statute law, including

(a) The law of evidence.

(b) Procedure in criminal cases.

(c) Procedure in civil cases.

And such Council shall from time to time frame bye-laws and regulations for the conduct of such examinations and for establishing, in regard to the prescribed subjects, the standards of qualification to be applied to the candidates, and shall appoint the times and places for holding examinations.

8. The Governor shall from time to time appoint the persons by whom the examinations mentioned in the fourth section hereof shall be held, and shall frame rules and regulations for the conduct of such examinations, the times and places for holding them, and for establishing the standards of qualification to be applied to candidates.

9. All persons in the Civil Service of the Colony, whether serving on probation or on the fixed establishment, and all persons whose names appear in the official lists of candidates, shall be eligible as candidates for the Civil Service Law Examination.

10. Lists of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Law Examination shall be kept in the office of ths Colonial Secretary, and in these lists shall be included the names of persons in the Civil Service of the Colony who, having paassed any existing Law Examination of the University of the Cape of Good Hope, may have requested that their names should be included in such lists.

11. Such lists shall further show the percentage of the maximum number of marks which the persons named therein shall have obtained in the Law Examination or Examinations which they shall have passed.

12. Whenever it becomes necessary to admit a person into the Civil Service, the ministerial head of the department in which the appointment is to be made shall select from the official lists of candidates the person in his opinion best fitted to fill the office, and shall submit the name of such person to the Governor for appointment on probation; provided that the person so selected as aforesaid shall not be placed on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service until he shall have served on probation for a period of at least six months, and until he shall have satisfied the ministerial head of his department of his fitness to be permanently employed in that department, and that his conduct and diligence during probation have been uniformly satisfactory.

13. Whenever the permanent head of a ministerial department, in which it is necessary to fill any office, reports that, for reasons set forth in such report, the qualifications requisite for such office are wholly or in part professional or otherwise peculiar and not ordinarily possessed or to be acquired in the Civil Service, or possessed by candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination, and that the requisite qualifications are not possessed in sufficient degree by any available person then in the Civil Service of the Colony, it shall be lawful for the Governor, on the recommendation of the ministerial head of the department, to appoint to such office such other person possessed of such qualifications as shall be deemed best fitted to fill the vacancy, and to dispense wholly or partially with the examination prescribed in this Act, and to substitute therefor such other examination as, with reference to the special requirements necessary, he may see fit to prescribe, or entirely to dispense with any examination. The Governor shall, within thirty days after the meeting of Parliament in each year, cause to be laid on the table of both Houses a return of all appointments made under the provisions of this section up to the date of the preparation of such return.

14. From and after the first day of January, 1887, it shall not be lawful permanently to appoint to any office of Resident Magistrate, or Assistant Resident Magistrate, any person who, at that date, shall not have served ten years or upwards in the Civil Service of the Colony, unless his name shall appear in the list of candidates mentioned in section ten: Provided that no such appointment shall be made unless any person to be so appointed shall possess a sufficient knowledge of the Dutch language.

3. The ministerial head of any department may appoint to such department such officers, not mentioned in the Schedule A to this Act, as may be necessary for the efficient conduct of the public service; provided that due provision shall have been made by Parliament for the salaries or wages of the persons so appointed; and if at any time such ministerial head shall deem it expedient in the interests of the public service to dispense with the services of any person employed in such department under the provisions of this section, not being a person on the Fixed Establishment, he shall be at liberty to do so. When any such person shall have been employed on services not of a purely temporary character for at least ten years, then, whether he shall have been placed on the Fixed Establishment or not, it shall be lawful for the Governor, subject to the provisions of the seventh and tenth sections hereof, to grant him such pension as might lawfully be granted to him, if he were an officer on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service, subject to such regulations as may be in force with respect to Civil Service pensions; and if such person shall have been employed on services not of a purely temporary character for a less period than ten years, it shall be lawful, subject to the provisions of the seventh section hereof, to pay him by way of gratuity any sum not exceeding one month's salary or wages for every year of the period during which he shall have served continuously, and in such case no pension shall be assigned to such person:—Provided that no person dismissed for misconduct, or who voluntarily retires from the service on grounds other than those set forth in the twenty-second section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall receive any pension or gratuity.

4. The provisions of the first sub-section of section three, and of the fourth, fifth, sixth, twelfth, and thirteenth sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall not extend or apply to persons appointed under the provisions of the third section of this Act.

GENERAL.

15. It shall be lawful for the Governor to frame or approve of rules for the Civil Service, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, specifying the duties of officers, the hours of attendance, the conditions on which leave of absence and superannuation allowance may be granted, and regulating the maintenance of discipline and other matters connected with the discharge of the public duties of all officers in the service; and from time to time alter and amend such rules as circumstances may require.

16. If any officer be guilty of any breach of such rules, the minister of any department may suspend such officer pending examination by order of the Governor, and the Governor may, according to the nature of the offence, reduce him to a lower rank in the public service, or to a lower salary, or, with the consent of the Executive Council, dismiss him from the public service.

17. No person who is proved to the satisfaction of the Governor to be habitually using intoxicating beverages to excess shall be appointed to or retained in the public service.

18. If any officer is convicted of any crime, and sentenced to imprisonment without the option of a fine, or become insolvent, he shall be deemed to have forfeited his office, and thereupon cease to perform his duties or receive his salary.

19. When any officer has forfeited his office by reason of pecuniary embarrasment as aforesaid, if he prove to the satisfaction of the Governor that such embarrassment has not been caused or attended by any fraud, extravagance, or dishonourable conduct, the Governor may reinstate such officer in his former position, but no uncertificated insolvent shall be so reinstated.

SUPERANNUATION.

20. It shall be lawful for the Governor, if to him it shall appear expedient, to call upon any person on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service of this Colony who shall have attained the age of sixty years, to vacate his office on condition of being paid the superannuation allowance which may be granted to such person in consideration of his past services by virtue of any regulations in force for the time being; and thereupon the office held by such person shall be deemed to be vacant, and some other person may be duly appointed to fill the same.

21. Subject to the exceptions and provisions hereinafter contained, the superannuation allowance which may be granted, after taking effect of this Act to any person who shall have served on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service of the Colony, and for whom provision shall not otherwise have been made by Act of Parliament, or who may not be specially excepted by the authority of Parliament, shall be as follows:—

To any person who shall have served ten years and upwards, and under eleven years, an annual allowance of ten-sixtieths of such salary and emoluments:

And, in like manner, a further addition to the annual allowance of one-sixtieth in respect of each additional year of service, until the completion of a period of service of forty years, when an annual allowance of forty-sixtieths may be granted; and no addition shall be made in respect of any service beyond forty years.

7. In computing the pension or gratuity which may lawfully be granted to any person, all continuous service in any department of the public service shall be taken into account for pension purposes, excepting:—

(a) Services (if any) rendered by him while under seventeen years of age.

(b) Services (if any) rendered by a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund after the first day of July, 1886; in respect of which he may not have contributed to the Civil Service Pension Fund.

(c) Services on probation rendered by an officer appointed under the provisions of the twelfth or thirteenth sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," if during such probation he shall have elected not to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund.

10. All persons who, at the date of the taking effect of this Act may be employed in the public service on daily wages, and in the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character, may elect within three months from such date whether or not they shall become contributors to the Civil Service Pension Fund; and should they elect to become contributors they may further elect from what date within their period of service (not, however, before the first day of July, 1886, and in no case later than the first day of July, 1888), their contributions to such fund shall accrue or be calculated: Provided that any period of service between the first day of July, 1886, and the first day of July, 1888, in respect of which any such person may elect not to contribute to such fund shall not be counted as service for pension purposes.

11. Every person who may be appointed under the provisions of the third section of this Act on daily wages and for the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character, may elect, if then seventeen years of age or upwards, within one month of the date of his appointment, or if then under seventeen years of age, within one month of his becoming seventeen years of age, whether or not he shall become a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund; and should he elect to become a contributor to such fund, his contribution shall accrue from the date of his appointment, or the date on which he shall become seventeen years of age, as the case may be.

12. It shall not be lawful to grant any pension or gratuity under the provisions of this Act:—

(a) To any person engaged in the discharge of duties of a purely temporary character

(b) Or to any person referred to in the tenth and eleventh sections hereof, who may not, within the period allowed under such sections, elect to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund.

13. It shall be lawful for the Governor to frame or approve of rules similar to those which may be in force in the United Kingdom for the calculation of the pensions which may be granted on their retirement to officers who may have served partly in the Colonial Civil Service and partly in the Imperial Service, or in that of another British Colony, and for the charging of equitable shares of such pensions to the revenues of this Colony, anything in the twenty-first section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," to the contrary notwithstanding.

22. Except as is hereinafter provided, it shall not be lawful to grant superannuation allowance under the provisions of this Act to any person who shall be under sixty years of age, unless upon medical certificate, to the satisfaction of the Governor, that he is incapable, from infirmity of mind or body, to discharge the duties of his office, and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent.

23. It shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to any person who, being the holder of an office in respect of which a superannuation allowance may be granted, is compelled, before the completion of ten years' service, to quit the Public Service by reason of severe bodily injury, occasioned without his own default, in the discharge of his public duty, a gratuity not exceeding three months' pay for each year of service, or a superannuation allowance not exceeding ten-sixtieths of the annual salary and emoluments of his office.

24. It shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to any person who, being the holder of an office in respect of which a superannuation allowance may be granted, is constrained from infirmity of mind or body, to leave the Public Service before the completion of ten years' service, such sum of money by way of gratuity as the said Governor may think proper, but so as that no such gratuity shall exceed the amount of one month's pay for each year of service.

25. Should any person, being the holder of an office in respect of which a superannuation allowance may be granted, die from bodily injury, occasioned, without his own default, in the discharge of his public duty, it shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to the widow or minor children of such person, or to his parents, if dependent on him for their maintenance, a gratuity not exceeding one month's pay for each year of service.

14. The provisions of the twenty-third and twenty-fifth sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall apply and extend to every person who contributes to the Civil Service Pension Fund, and the following proviso shall be added to such twenty-fifth section: Provided that if such gratuity as aforesaid shall appear to the Governor to be inadequate to meet the circumstances of any particular case, he may grant such gratuity, not exceeding one year's pay, as he may consider reasonable.

26. It shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to any person retiring or removed from the Public Service in consequence of the abolition of his office, such special annual allowance, not exceeding two-thirds of the salary and emoluments of the office, by way of compensation, as on a full consideration of the circumstances of the case may seem to the said Governor to be a reasonable and just compensation for the loss of office: Provided that such special annual allowance shall not exceed the amount which might be granted under the scale provided in this Act:—

If to persons who shall have served twenty years and upwards, ten years were added to their actual service;

If to persons who shall have served under twenty years and not less than fifteen years, seven years were added to their actual service;

If to persons who shall have served under fifteen years and not less than ten years, five years were added to their actual service;

If to persons who shall have served under ten years and not less than five years, three-sixtieths were added to so many sixtieths of the salary and emoluments of the office as the person has served a complete number of years;

If to persons who shall have served under five years, one-sixtieth were added to so many sixtieths of the salary and emoluments of the office as the person has served a complete number of years:

Provided always that the number of years to be added shall in no case exceed such number as would, if added to the actual age of the person retiring or removed, make up sixty-five.

8. Should any person on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service be found to be unfit to discharge efficiently the duties of the particular office filled by him, it shall be lawful for the Governor, if such person shall have had ten years' service or upwards, to place him on temporary pension pending the occurrences of a suitable vacancy, or if he shall have had less than ten years' service, to dispense with his services, precisely as if, in either case, he were a person employed under the provisions of the third section of this Act, not on the Fixed Establishment.

27. Every person to whom a superannuation or compensation allowance shall have been granted before he shall have attained the age of sixty years, shall, until he has attained that age, be liable to be called upon to resume his duties in his former office, or to fill any public office or situation in the Colony for which he is qualified; and if he shall decline, when called upon to do so, to take upon him such office or situation, or shall decline or neglect to execute the duties thereof satisfactorily, being in a competent state of health, he shall forfeit his right to the compensation or superannuation allowance which had been granted to him.

5. In the case of telegraphists, locomotive engine-drivers, and firemen, the twentieth, twenty-second and twenty-seventh sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall be read as if the word "fifty" were inserted for the word "sixty" wherever the latter word occurs.

28. In case any person enjoying any superannuation allowance, in consequence of his having retired from office on account of age, infirmity, or any other cause, or enjoying any compensation for past services upon the abolition or reduction of office, shall be appointed to fill any office in any public department is this Colony or elsewhere, such allowance or compensation shall cease to be paid for any period subsequent to such appointment, if the annual amount of the salary and emoluments of the office to which he shall be appointed be equal to those of the office formerly held by him; and in case they shall not be equal to those of his former office, then no more of such superannuation allowance or compensation shall be paid to him than what, with the salary of his new appointment, shall be equal to that of his former office.

15. In the twenty-eighth section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," the term "public department" shall be construed to mean any department in the service of Her Majesty the Queen, whether under the Imperial or any Colonial Government.

29. It shall be lawful for the Governor, on the ultimate retirement of any person who may have been re-employed under the twenty-seventh section, to grant to such person a retiring allowance, not exceeding forty-sixtieths of his salary and emoluments, based on his period of actual service before and after his temporary retirement, precisely as if such periods had formed continuous service.

30. It shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to a person any superannuation compensation, gratuity, or other allowance of greater amount than the amount which might be awarded to him under the foregoing provisions, when special service rendered by such person and requiring special reward shall appear to him to justify such increase, but so that such allowance shall in no case exceed the salary and emoluments enjoyed by such person at the time of his retirement: Provided that the minute detailing the circumstances under which such increase was recommended to the Governor shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament before it be granted; and it shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to any person any such allowance of less amount than otherwise would have been awarded to him, when his defaults or demerits in relation to the Public Service appear to him to justify such diminution.

31. Any superannuation or compensation allowance which may be granted to any person after the passing of this Act shall not be computed upon the amount of the salary and emoluments enjoyed by him at the time of his retirement, unless he shall have been in the receipt of the same for a period of at least three years immediately before the granting of such superannuation allowance; and in case he shall not have enjoyed his then existing salary for that period, such superannuation or compensation allowance shall be calculated upon the average amount of salary and emoluments received by such person for the three years next preceding the commencement of such allowance: Provided that, if at the date of his retirement, the whole period of service of such person be less than three years, any superannuation or compensation allowance which may, under the provisions of this Act be granted to him, shall be calculated on his average salary and emoluments during the whole period of service: Provided, also, in the case of a person re-employed under the twenty-seventh section hereof, that if, at the date of his ultimate retirement, his whole period of service subsequent to the date of his re-employment shall have been less than three years, his superannuation or compensation allowance shall be calculated upon his average salary and emoluments during the last three years of his actual service, precisely as if a period of temporary retirement had not existed. Provided, lastly, that in the case of a person, who shall have been employed on daily wages, any superannuation allowance which may be granted to him, may be calculated upon the average amount of wages and other emoluments received by him for the ten years preceding his retirement.

32. Service in respect of which superannuation or compensation allowances may be granted must in all cases be continuous, unless interupted by reduction of office, leave of absence, or other temporary suspension of employment, not arising from misconduct or voluntary resignation; and in computing the amount of any superannuation or compensation allowance, the term salary and emoluments shall be taken to include house rent or house allowance, or the annual value of quarters in any buildings belonging to the Crown which an officer may be allowed to occupy, to an extent not exceeding one-sixth of the average salary and other emoluments of the office during three years preceding; the net amount of fees to an extent not exceeding one-fourth of such salary; the value of rations; and other unquestionable remuneration for personal service; but it shall not include local allowance contingent on the high cost of living in certain localities, or allowance for horse keep, or travelling, or stationery, or any other allowance contingent on the particular nature and actual transaction of the business of the office, and presumably spent in the discharge of such busines: Provided that the net amount of fees shall be obtained by deducting from the average gross amount of fees received during the three years next preceding the average office expenses during such three years personally defrayed by the officer.

33. It shall not be lawful to grant leave of absence for any period exceeding one month to any person who purposes to retire on pension at or within six months of the termination of such leave; and should any person who has obtained leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, voluntarily retire on pension during such leave, or within six months after its termination, any superannuation allowance which may lawfully be granted to him under the provisions of this Act shall be calculated on his period of service up to the date from which such leave commenced: Provided, if it be established by medical certificate, to the satisfaction of the Governor, that such person is incapable, from infirmity of mind or body, of resuming the duties of his office at the termination of his leave, or of continuing to serve for six months hereafter, and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent, it shall be lawful for the Governor, should he see fit, to direct that the period of service of such person shall be reckoned up to the date of his ultimate retirement.

34. Except in so far as it is otherwise by law provided, it shall not be lawful to grant any superannuation allowance to any person who is paid entirely by fees or allowances.

35. In the computation of superannuation or compensation allowances, fractional parts of a month and no increase of salary or emoluments granted after the date of the application to be allowed to retire, shall be taken into consideration.

36. It shall not be lawful to grant a superannuation or compensation allowance to any person holding more than one appointment or office until he shall retire from all the offices held by him.

37. For the purpose of calculating any superannuation or compensation allowance, absence on leave on full or half pay in accordance with this Act shall be regarded as service, and the person during such absence on leave shall be deemed to have drawn his full salary and emoluments, but any absence on leave without salary shall not be reckoned in the period of service.

38. After a pension or superannuation allowance has been awarded to any person, the same may thereafter be rescinded, in case it shall appear that during his tenure of office he was guilty of any such grave offence as would have led to his dismissal.

39. Should any person serving in a capacity to which a pension calculated according to the scale of one-fiftieth of yearly pay may be granted for each year of service, be transferred to the Civil Service of the Colony, or vice versâ from the Civil Service to service in such capacity, then on the ultimate retirement of such person, it shall be lawful for the Governor to grant him a pension or superannuation allowance according to the rules of the service from which he retires, allowing, however, one-sixtieth of the amount on which such pension or superannuation allowance may be calculated in respect of each year in which he shall have served in the Civil Service, and one-fiftieth of such amount for each year in which he shall have served in such other capacity: Provided that no pension or retiring allowance may be granted under this section, unless the aggregate number of years of service of such person shall have been at least ten years, if he shall at the time of his retirement have been serving in the Civil Service; or at least fifteen years, if at such time he shall have been serving in such other capacity, and shall, further, have served in such other capacity for at least ten years.

16. The Superannuation Allowance of any person who on his retirement shall have served partly as a Police Officer, as defined in the "Police Superannuation Act, 1874," and partly in some other capacity or capacities referred to in the thirty-ninth section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall be calculated under the provisions of that section, as if his service as a "Police Officer" had been service under the "Police Regulation Act, 1882."

40. Except as hereinafter is excepted, it shall not be lawful to grant any superannuation allowance to any person holding an office, the duties of which are not such as to require that the holder should give his whole time to the Public Service; but nothing herein contained shall prevent the Governor from granting a retiring allowance, under the preceding sections of this Act, to the Solicitor-General, the Crown Prosecutor at Kimberley, the Assistant Law Adviser to the Crown, or to the holder of such other office as he may from time to time see fit to direct: Provided that no such direction shall be of force and effect until the expiration of thirty days from the date on which a minute, embodying the reasons on which it was made, shall have been laid before both Houses of Parliament; or shall extend or apply to any holder of an office unless made not later than twelve months after the date of appointment of such holder.

41. Save as may in this Act be excepted, the superannuation allowance to be granted to any person holding office in the Civil Service of the Colony shall be calculated according to the actual period of service of such person, and no addition shall on any pretext whatsoever be made to such period: Provided that nothing in this section contained shall be taken to prejudice the rights under existing superannuation regulations of any person who may at the time of the taking effect of this Act be on the fixed establishment of the Public Service,

SECURITY.

42. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer of the Colony to fix and determine the amount of security to be given by the holder of every office in the Public Service of the Colony involving the receipt, custody, or payment of public money, or the receipt, issue, or custody of stamps, and to frame a schedule for the guidance of public officers, showing the amount so fixed in respect of such offices, and from time to time to amend such schedule as circumstances may require: Provided that in determining the amount of security to be required of the holder of any such office the said Treasurer shall act in conjunction with the ministerial head of the department in which such office may happen to be.

43. In order to provide proper security for the faithful and punctual discharge of the duties of the holders of offices from whom security is required, and to enable the practice heretofore followed of obtaining the guarantee of private persons, or of a public company, to be discontinued, a fund shall be created to be styled the "Public Service Guarantee Fund," which shall provide such security for persons who shall contribute thereto under the provisions of sections forty-two to forty-six hereof, both inclusive.

44. All contributions or other moneys payable to the said fund shall be lodged in the Treasury, and shall be accounted for by the Paymaster-General of the Colony.

45. Whenever any person who has not previously contributed to the Public Service Guarantee Fund, in respect of any appointment previously held by him, is appointed to any office in the Public Service of the Colony, the holder of which is required to give security, a deduction of one-eighth per cent. on the amount for which he is required to give security shall be made on account of such fund from the first payment of salary in respect of such office, and such person shall further contribute to such fund at the rate of one-eighth per cent. per annum on such amount from the date of his entering on the discharge of the duties of such office.

46. Should any person hereafter appointed to any such office have contributed to such fund in respect of an office previously held by him, then, in case the amount of security required in respect of his new office, shall be either less than or equal to that required in respect of such former office, he shall contribute to such fund at the rate of one-eighth per cent. per annum on the amount of security required in respect of such new office, and such contribution shall accrue from the termination of the period for which he shall have already contributed, or if such period shall have already terminated, then from the date of his entering on the discharge of the duties of such new office; and in case the amount of security required in respect of his new office shall be greater than that required in respect of his former office, a deduction at the rate of one-eighth per cent. on the increase in the amount for which the security is required shall be made on account of such fund from the first payment of salary in respect of such new office, and such person shall further contribute to such fund at the rate of one-eighth per cent. per annum on such higher amount of security from the date of his entering on the discharge of the duties of such new office: Provided that, if the period for which he shall have previously contributed shall not have expired, a portion of such previous contribution, proportionate to such unexpired period, shall be deducted from the first contribution required by this section.

47. Any person who at the time of taking effect of this Act holds an office in respect of which security has been given, shall from and after the 31st March, 1886, contribute to the said fund as if then appointed to such office, and on his so doing his sureties shall be relieved from all responsibility in respect of his subsequent transactions: Provided that any person may, should he desire, so contribute at any time before that date.

48. Every person who at the date of the taking effect of this Act holds an office in the Public Service of the Colony in respect of which, in the opinion of the Treasurer of the Colony, security should be given, but who has not been required to give, or if so required, has not given, any security, shall contribute to the Public Service Guarantee Fund as if he has been first appointed to such office at such date.

49. In respect of every first annual contribution to the fund, an amount proportionate to the period between the date from which, it commences to accrue and the 31st of March next ensuing shall be deducted from the first payment of salary payable to the holder of the office in respect of which security is given, and thereafter the annual contribution shall be payable in advance, on the 31st of March in each year, and shall be deducted from the payment of salary for the said month of March, and should any deduction not be made as prescribed in this Act, the amount shall be forthwith recovered from the person in default.

50. The rates of initial deduction and annual contribution, set forth or referred to in the sections of this Act, from the forty-second to the forty-sixth inclusive, may from time to time be altered and amended by resolutions of both Houses of Parliament, and thereafter such amended rates shall be substituted for the rates set forth or referred to in such sections as if the same had been originally inserted therein.

51. Should any person who has become a contributor to the Public Service Guarantee Fund cause any pecuniary loss to the public revenue of the Colony, by reason of any wrongful act or omission, the amount of such loss shall be charged against such person, and shall, as far as possible, be recovered from him, in such manner as the Governor may direct; and in case the amount recovered shall be insufficient to cover such loss, it shall be lawful for the Paymaster-General, on being authorised so to do by the Treasurer of the Colony, to pay out of the aforesaid fund such sum as shall be sufficient to make good the amount of loss sustained by the said revenue, not exceeding, however, the amount for which security was given by the defaulter: Provided that if any amount be subsequently recovered from such defaulter, such amount shall be applied, firstly, to make good the deficiency (if any) still remaining due to the revenue, and secondly, to the reimbursements of such fund.

52. It shall be lawful for the Governor to cause interest to be paid from and out of the public revenue at the rate of four per cent. per annum, on the balance at the close of each quarter, to the credit of the fund in the books of the Paymaster-General.

53. It shall be lawful for the Treasurer of the Colony to invest any portion of the balance to the credit of the fund, in Government debentures or stock, and to sell any such debentures or stock which may have been previously purchased.

54. A statement of moneys received and disbursed under the provisions of the forty-second to the fifty-second sections, of this Act inclusive, and of all investments and sales under the provisions of the last preceding section shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament annually.

55. At the end of every period of five years, the first period being reckoned from the taking effect of this Act, a complete statement of all moneys received and disbursed under the provisions of the forty-second to the fifty-second sections of this Act inclusive, and of the position of the Public Service Guarantee Fund, together with all such further particulars connected therewith as may be required for a full investigation into the working and conditions of the said fund, shall be prepared by the Assistant Treasurer, and laid before both Houses of Parliament, during the first session after the expiration of every such period.

Miscellaneous.

56. The several departments of the Civil Service of the Colony shall be considered and treated as one service; and every person serving therein shall be liable at any time to be transferred or removed by the Governor from one office or department to another, and from one station to another, on promotion or otherwise, whensoever the interests of the service may require it; and when so transferred or removed, except at his own request, the actual reasonable travelling expenses of himself and family shall be paid on production of proper vouchers: Provided that no person, unless disrated, shall be transferred without his own consent to an office of a lower grade or one to which a lower salary, inclusive of house-rent, but exclusive of local allowances, is attached.

57. Any officer on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service who may desire to reign his appointment shall be required to give such notice, not exceeding three months, of his intention so to do, as the ministerial head of his department may require; and any such officer leaving the service without having given such notice shall forfeit such sum, not exceeding three months' salary, as the Governor may determine.

59. If any officer on the fixed Establishment shall be employed to fill any office in the Public Service not mentioned in the Schedule of this Act, such employment shall not be construed to his prejudice.

60. The Act No. 4 of 1878, entitled "An Act for the Better Regulation of the Public Service of the Colony," is hereby repealed.

61. Nothing in this Act contained shall entitle any civil servant to claim exemption from the operation of any Act that may be passed hereafter, requiring annual deductions from the salaries of civil servants for the purpose of establishing a pension fund.

62. This Act may be cited as the "Civil Service Act, 1885."

Act to Provide for the establishment of a Civil Service Pension Fund.*

No. 23 of 1886, as amended by Act 31 of 1888.] [Act 23 of 1886, Promulgated 29th June, 1886. [Act 31 of 1888, ,, 21st August, 1888.

Whereas it is desirable to provide against any increase of the amount now paid out of the general revenue for pensions to persons who have retired from the Civil Service of the Colony :—Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows :—

1. From the salary of every person to whom, on his retirement from the public service, a pension or gratuity may lawfully be assigned under the provisions of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," there shall be made a monthly deduction at the rate of three pounds per centum per annum on such salary ; and all sums so deducted shall be paid into the Colonial Treasury to the credit of a separate account, to be called "The Civil Service Pension Fund" : Provided that nothing in this section contained shall apply to any person who was on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service of the Colony on the 10th August, 1885.

2. For the purposes of the last preceding section the word "salary" shall be taken to include all emoluments in respect of which superannuation or compensation allowances can be granted under the provisions of the thirty-second section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885;" provided that when the amount of any fees receivable by any officer cannot be definitely ascertained beforehand the deduction aforesaid shall be made upon the average amount of such fees received annually during the three financial years next preceding.

20. In every case in which the amounts paid to a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund as wages or emoluments vary from month to month, his monthly contribution to such fund shall be at the rate of three per cent. per annum or such other rate as may be prescribed under the provisions of the fifth section of the Civil Service Pension Fund Act, 1886, on such sum as may be determined for the year, with the approval of the ministerial head of his department, as fairly representing his annual emoluments capable of being taken into account for pension purposes.

21. In all cases in which any person contributes both to the Civil Service Pension Fund and to the Widows' Pension Fund, whatever amount may be taken to be or to represent his annual emoluments for the purpose of determining his contribution to the former, shall likewise be taken to be his annual emoluments for the purpose of determining his contribution to the latter.

22. Should any person require to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund, or to the Widows' Pension Fund, fail or neglect to contribute on any of his emoluments capable of being taken into account for pension purposes, such emoluments shall not be taken into account in calculating any pension or gratuity which may lawfully be granted to him, or in calculating the pension to which his widow may be entitled: and in computing pensions and gratuities the amounts on which contributions have been duly paid to the Civil Service Pension Fund shall, as far as practicable, be taken as a basis.

3. The amount which shall from time to time be voted by Parliament for the payment of pensions to persons who have already retired from the public service, or who may hereafter become entitled to any pension or gratuity under the provisions of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall be paid into the said Fund out of the general revenue in quarterly instalments, payable in advance; and all pensions or gratuities payable to any such persons shall be paid out of the said Fund.

4. Interest at the rate of five pounds per centum per annum on the balances of the said Fund in the Treasury on the thirtieth day of June in each year shall be paid into the said Fund out of general revenue.

5. The rate of deduction mentioned in the first section of this Act may from time to time be altered by the Governor, provided that no such alteration shall take effect until the Legislative Council and House of Assembly shall have communicated to the Governor their concurrence therein.

6. It shall be lawful for the Treasurer of the Colony to invest any portion of the balance to the credit of the Fund in Government Debentures or Stock, and to sell any such Debentures or Stock which may have been previously purchased.

7. A statement of all moneys received and disbursed under the provisions of this Act and of all investments and sales under the provisions of the last preceding section, shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament annually.

8. At the end of every period of five years, the first period being reckoned from the taking effect of this Act, a complete statement of all moneys received and disbursed under the provisions of this Act, together with all such further particulars connected therewith as may be required for a full investigation into the working and condition of the Fund, shall be submitted by the Treasurer of the Colony to a competent actuary, and the report of such actuary shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament during the first session after the expiration of such period.

9. This Act may be cited as the "Civil Service Pension Fund Act, 1886," and shall come into operation on the 1st day of July, 1886.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

(Government Notice No. 1103, December 11th, 1889.)

Regulations respecting Hours of Attendance, Leave of Absence, and Maintenance of Discipline, applicable to all persons holding Offices mentioned in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888, other than persons appointed under the provisions of the first Section of Act 30 of 1875.

I. HOURS OF ATTENDANCE.

1. The ordinary hours of attendance to be observed in the Public Offices will be at the least from 9 o'clock a.m. to 4 o'clock p.m., and on Saturdays (or on such other day as may at any station be substituted therefor by competent authority), from 9 o'clock a.m. to 1 o'clock p.m. The Permanent Head or the Chief Clerk of each Department or Office will be charged with the duty of seeing that these hours are regularly observed by all Officers, and will report on the attendance of each Officer in the Department or Office, at such times and in such manner as may be directed by the responsible Minister. All Officers will be required to attend at their offices for such longer period as may from time to time be ordered or required.

Digitized by Google

2. All Officers will be required to devote themselves during the hours of attendance exclusively to the discharge of their public duties.

3. Officers will not be allowed to receive private visitors during the hours of attendance, or otherwise to allow their attention to be engaged in private affairs.

4. A reasonable interval for luncheon may be arranged at the discretion of the Permanent Head of each department, who will take care, however, that business is not interrupted, and that the work of the Office is fairly distributed.

5. No Officer will be allowed to leave his Office during such hours except on official business, or at such times as may be arranged by permission for luncheon or otherwise.

II. LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

(i.) By Order in Council.

6. No Officer serving on probation, with a view to being placed on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service, shall be granted the vacation leave mentioned in the next succeeding paragraph,

7. Subject to the necessities of the service, vacation leave of six weeks in every year may be granted on full pay to any Officer to whom these rules are applicable, after the completion of three years' service (including probation), upon his making adequate and satisfactory provision for the due performance of the duties of his office without extra cost to the public, and any such Officer of less than three years' service may on special application obtain not exceeding seven days' leave in every year on the same conditions.

8. Should it appear that an Officer in a very small department, or performing duties of a technical and professional character, would be practically debarred from obtaining any vacation leave of absence by the operation of the preceding rule, requiring that adequate and satisfactory provision must be made for the due performance of his duties during his absence on leave, without extra cost to the public, the Governor may, in such case, relax the rule to any extent he may think proper, by directing that the whole or any portion of the cost entailed by such leave may be defrayed out of such moneys as Parliament may provide for the purpose.

9. Vacation leave on full pay for a period not exceeding three months may be granted on the same conditions to any Officer who shall have completed three years' service (including probation), and who shall not have obtained any leave under the preceding paragraph during the two consecutive years immediately preceding; but if he shall have obtained any such leave during such two years, further vacation leave on full pay may be granted under this paragraph only for the excess of three months over the period already granted.

10. At any time after the expiration of eight years' service, including probation, any Officer may obtain vacation leave of absence on the conditions mentioned in paragraph 7 hereof, for a period not exceeding the excess of the total vacation leave which might have been granted to him during the preceding five or lesser number of years, over the aggregate of the periods of leave (if any) which have actually been granted to him during the same years under the aforesaid paragraph: provided that in no case shall vacation leave be granted for a longer period than six months. The calculation shall be made on a lesser number of years than five when to the advantage of the applicant, and all leave without pay shall be excluded from such calculation.

11. Any Officer to whom vacation leave is granted under the preceding paragraphs shall not receive full salary within any period of two years for more than three months of his absence from his duties, and shall receive half-salary during the remainder of such absence: provided that if he shall have had no leave of absence within the preceding six months, and not more than four weeks' leave of absence within the preceding five years, he may obtain three months' leave of absence on full pay.

12. In case any officer to whom leave is granted occupies quarters owned or rented by Government or receives a house allowance, if his locum tenens requires to possess quarters, or to take a house to enable him to discharge the duties of the acting appointment, such locum tenens shall be entitled to occupation of the quarters or to draw the house allowance; otherwise the person on leave may be allowed to occupy the quarters or draw the allowance for that period of his leave, during which he may be allowed to draw full pay.

13. As a rule, emoluments which do not count for pension may not be drawn by any Officer on leave; provided, however, that if such officer provides suitable transport for his locum tenens, he may be allowed to draw, during his absence, that part of any commuted travelling and forage allowance which may be regarded as representing the cost of transport: provided, also, that in any case a local allowance may be treated as ordinary salary with the special sanction of the Ministerial head of the department.

14. In all cases in which any Officer on leave shall be receiving less than his full salary and emoluments the amount deducted shall be available to cover the cost of the performance of his duties during his absence.

15. Subject to the exigencies of the Service, and to such instructions (if any) as may be issued from time to time by the Ministerial head of the department, any head of a department may grant to Officers in his department occasional leave of absence, not exceeding two days at any one time. A return of all leave so granted should be forwarded to the Ministerial head of the department, every month in the case of large, and every quarter in the case of small departments.

16. Special leave of absence may be granted by the Governor to any Officer, irrespective of his length of service, in cases of serious indisposition, or of urgent private affairs, if it shall be proved that such indulgence is absolutely necessary.

17. In cases of "serious indisposition," it must be certified to the satisfaction of the Governor, by one or more medical officers approved of by the Ministerial head of the department, that the state of the person's health renders the leave absolutely necessary.

18. In cases of "urgent private affairs," the nature of such urgent affairs must be stated.

19. When special leave is granted in cases of "serious indisposition," the period (including any vacation leave granted within the preceding two years) shall not exceed twelve months, and the person obtaining such leave may receive such salary, during his absence from his duties, as the Governor may determine: provided that he shall not receive full salary for a longer period than six months, within any period of two years, or more than half-salary for the remainder of such leave.

20. When special leave of absence is granted on the ground of "urgent private affairs," any ordinary vacation leave which may be granted, may be extended on the same conditions, by a period not exceeding three months, during which additional period the person may receive half-salary.

21. Subject to the necessities of the service, special leave may be granted to any person, who shall make application therefor, upon condition that he shall not draw any salary during his absence from his duties.

* Note.—Any period of absence on leave without salary cannot be reckoned as Service for pension purposes (Act 42 of 1885, Section 37).

22. All leave of absence granted to any Officer shall be recorded in a convenient form in the department to which he belongs, and, with the exception of leave granted under paragraph 15 hereof, it shall also be recorded in a "Leave Register" to be kept in the Office of the Controller and Auditor-General. Such Leave Register shall at all times within Office hours be open to the inspection of the permanent Heads of Ministerial departments or their deputies.

23. As soon as any Officer resumes duty after leave of absence the fact shall be reported to the Ministerial head of the department.

24. Every application for leave of absence (other than for leave under paragraph 15 hereof) must be made on the form prescribed for the purpose, C.A. 128 (vide Annexure), and all instructions on such form must be carefully complied with.

25. No Head of a Department requires leave to absent himself from his station for the discharge of his ordinary duties or if lawfully summoned by some Court or other competent authority, but when so summoned he should immediately report the matter to the Ministerial head of his department, in order that arrangements for the discharge of his duties in his absence may be made or sanctioned.

26. All Officers, passing through Cape Town, on leave or on duty, should report themselves to the permanent Head of the Ministerial Department to which they belong. Officers entrusted with the collection of Revenue or other financial business should also report themselves at the Treasury.

(ii) STATUTORY.

27. Leave of absence for any period exceeding a month may not be granted to any person who purposes to * retire at or within six months of the termination of such leave. (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 33.)

III. DISCIPLINE.

A. OFFENCES AMENABLE TO DISCIPLINE.

(i) BY ORDER IN COUNCIL.

28. Absence from office without leave or valid cause during the prescribed office hours.

29. Performance of the duties of his office in a negligent or careless manner, or the neglect or omission to perform known duties; discourteous behaviour towards his superior or brother officers, or to those with whom he has to transact public business.

30. Being under the influence of intoxicating liquors, especially during office hours.

31. Pecuniary embarrassment, if occasioned by imprudence, or other reprehensible cause.

32. Having a decree for civil imprisonment issued against him.

33. Becoming a party, under whatever plea, to accommodation bills, whether for his own purposes or for another person, and whether resulting in pecuniary embarrassment or not.

34. Entering into a composition with creditors, or assigning his estate in any form, unless he can show that his difficulties have been occasioned by unavoidable misfortune, and not by extravagance or improvidence.

35. Engaging for profit, either in or out of office hours, in any business or occupation other than his official duty, without the special consent of the Ministerial head of the department.

36. Undertaking any private agency in any matter connected with the exercise or performance of his public duties.

37. Becoming editor of a newspaper, or taking any part in the management thereof. Speaking in public, or writing articles for newspapers, or other publications, on political subjects. Writing anonymous letters, or articles in any public print, of any other than of a purely scientific or literary character.

38. Giving any official information out of the strict course of duty, without the express permission or direction of the Ministerial head of the department.

39. Refusing or neglecting to give categorical answers to any questions put to him by, or by direction of, the Ministerial head of his department, as to whether or not he has committed any of the offences mentioned in paragraphs 37 and 38 hereof.

40. Taking any part in elections for Members of Parliament or Divisional Councils; except recording his own vote, acting as polling officer or scrutineer, or discharging any duties connected with elections which may be imposed on him by law.

41. Being guilty of any conduct unbecoming a gentleman.

(ii.) STATUTORY.

42. Breaking any of the Regulations applicable to him, approved of by the Governor under the 15th Section of the "Civil Service Act, 1855" (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 16.)

43.† Habitually using intoxicating liquors to excess. (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 17.)

44. Being convicted of any crime, and sentenced to imprisonment without the option of a fine; or becoming insolvent; in either of which cases he shall be deemed to have forfeited his office, and shall thereupon cease to perform his duties or receive his salary. (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 18.)

B. PROCEDURE IN CASES OF DISCIPLINE.

(i.) It shall be the duty of all heads of departments and of their various branches to observe the following Rules and to enforce their observance on all subordinate departments, when persons to whom they are applicable are charged with any offence amenable to discipline set forth in the preceding paragraphs 28 to 43 inclusive:—

45. The offence with which such person is charged, with the grounds on which it rests, must be communicated in writing to the Ministerial head of the department, who, if he shall find sufficient grounds for

* NOTE.—Should any person who has obtained leave of absence for any period exceeding one month voluntarily retire on pension during such leave, or within six months after its termination, any superannuation allowance which may lawfully be granted to him under the provisions of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall be calculated on his period of service up to the date from which such leave commenced: Provided if it be established by Medical Certificate, to the satisfaction of the Governor, that such person is incapable, from infirmity of mind or body, of resuming the duties of his Office at the termination of his leave, or of continuing to serve for six months thereafter, and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent, it shall be lawful for the Governor, should he see fit, to direct that the period of service of such person shall be reckoned up to the date of his ultimate retirement. (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 33.)

investigating the same, shall cause a copy of the charge preferred, and of the grounds on which it rests, to be handed or forwarded to the person against whom the information is laid, and such person shall be required to answer the charge, in writing, within such period as may be specified in the notice conveyed to him.

46. Such answer, with any supporting evidence, shall be forwarded without delay to the Ministerial head of the department, who, on receipt thereof, shall order such further inquiry as may seem to him desirable, or if no answer shall have been forwarded within such reasonable time as may have been allowed for that purpose, he shall submit the matter to the Governor, with his report thereon.

47. In case it may appear to the head of the department to be seriously prejudicial to the interests of the service to leave a person, to whom an offence of a serious character is imputed, in the execution of his functions, he may at once, as a provisional measure, interdict such person from the further exercise of his functions, pending the result of an immediate reference to the Ministerial head of the department.

48. In case it may appear to the Ministerial head of the department to be inexpedient to leave a person, to whom an offence of a serious character is imputed, in the execution of his functions, during the time necessary for the thorough investigation of the charge, he may at once, as a provisional measure, suspend such person by order of the Governor, pending such investigation, or may interdict him, if not already interdicted under paragraph 47 hereof, from the further exercise of his functions, and may also interdict him from drawing the whole or part of his salary.

49. If in the course of the inquiry, new charges, or new evidence, be adduced, such new charges, with the grounds on which they rest, and the nature of any new evidence, shall be communicated to the person concerned, who shall be required to answer the same, in writing, within such time as may be specified in such communication.

50. The Governor may either acquit the accused of the charge preferred against him, or, upon the charge being sustained, may (subject to Sec. 17 of Act 42 of 1885) award such of the undermentioned punishments as the merits of the case may seem to require:—

1. A reprimand.
2. Reduction of salary.
3. Dis-rating.
4. Suspension without salary.
5. Enforced resignation.
6. Dismissal.

51. No person against whom any charge has been made shall be entitled to absent himself from the Colony pending the decision of his case, without the special permission of the Governor.

52. No person who has been dismissed from the service shall receive any retiring allowance.

53. The Ministerial head of the department may initiate proceedings against any person in his department for any breach of discipline, although no charge in writing shall have been lodged with him.

(ii.) Offences described in Paragraphs 31, 32, and 44.

54. It shall be the duty of the Master of the Supreme Court, of the High Sheriff, of Registrars of the Superior Courts, and of all Magistrates, to report to the Head of the Department, and also to the Head of the Ministerial Department, at such times and in such manner and form as may from time to time be prescribed, all cases coming under their official cognizance in which any person employed in any department of the Civil Service may have or may appear to have committed any offence described in paragraphs 31, 32, and 44 of "Offences against Discipline," and such reports shall include all cases in which any such person may have been summoned for debt, with a record of the results, whether or not pecuniary embarrassment is thereby indicated.

55. In case of any offence described in paragraph 44 of "Offences against Discipline," the Head of the Department is required at once to inform the Ministerial Head of the Department of the facts of the case, and to see that payment of the salary of the offender is duly stopped, and pending the receipt of instructions from such Ministerial Head, he is authorized to provide temporarily for the discharge of the offender's duties.

56. Any *application under the 19th Section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," from any person who has forfeited his office by reason of pecuniary embarrassment, for reinstatement on the ground that such embarrassment was not caused by any fraud, extravagance, or dishonourable conduct, must be forwarded by such person, within one month after his forfeiture of office, through the Head of his department to its Ministerial Head, who, after making such enquiry as he may deem necessary, shall submit the matter to the Governor, with his remarks thereon.

Government Notice.—No. 805, September 15th, 1890.

Regulations respecting Hours of Attendance, Leave of absence, and Maintenance of Discipline applicable to all persons in the Civil employment of the Colony, other than persons holding offices in the Second Section of Act 42 of 1885, or in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888.

The following Rules, 1 to 39, are applicable to all such persons whether on the fixed establishment or not.

I. HOURS OF ATTENDANCE.

1. All Officers and employés will be required to attend at their offices, or other places of business, for such period, or periods, as may from time to time be ordered by competent authority.

2. All Officers and employés will be required to devote themselves, during the hours of attendance, exclusively to the discharge of their public duties.

3. Officers and employés will not be allowed to receive private visitors during the hours of attendance, or otherwise to allow their attention to be engaged in private affairs.

4. Reasonable intervals for meals may be arranged at the direction of the permanent head of each Department, who will take care, however, that business is not interrupted, and that the work of the Office or Department is fairly distributed.

5. No Officer or employé will be allowed to leave his office or place of employment during working hours except on public business, or at such times as may be arranged by permission for meals or otherwise.

II. LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

(a) By Order in Council.

6. Subject to the requirements of the service, vacation leave of 12 days in every year may be granted on full pay to any Officer or employé to whom these rules are applicable, and who is engaged in the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character, without his being required to make provision at his own cost for the performance of the duties of his office or situation, provided that any public holidays on which he may not be on duty shall be counted as part of such 12 days.

7. Subject to the requirements of the service, further vacation leave of 30 days in every year may be granted on full pay to any such Officer or employé, after the completion of three years' service, upon his making adequate and satisfactory provision for the due performance of the duties of his office or situation without extra cost to the public.

8. Should it appear that an Officer or employé in a very small Department or Sub-department, or performing duties of a technical, professional, or other special character, would be practically debarred from obtaining any vacation leave of absence in excess of 12 days per annum by the operation of the preceding rule, requiring that adequate and satisfactory provision must be made for the due performance of his duties, during his absence on leave, without extra cost to the public, the Ministerial Head of the Department may, in such case, relax the rule to any extent he may think proper, by directing that the whole or any portion of the cost entailed by such leave may be defrayed out of such moneys as Parliament may provide for the purpose.

9. Vacation leave on full pay for a period not exceeding three months may be granted on the same conditions to any Officer or employé who shall have completed three years' service, and who shall not have obtained any leave under the preceding paragraphs during the two consecutive years immediately preceding: but if he shall have obtained any leave during such two years, further vacation leave on full pay may be granted under this paragraph only for the excess of three months over the period already granted: Provided that if he shall have had no leave of absence except on public holidays within the preceding six months, and not more than four weeks' leave of absence within the preceding five years, he may obtain three months' leave of absence on full pay on the above conditions.

10. In case any Officer or employé to whom leave (other than leave under paragraph 6 hereof) is granted occupies quarters owned or rented by Government, or receives a house allowance, if his locum tenens requires to possess quarters, or to take a house to enable him to discharge the duties of the acting appointment, such locum tenens shall as a rule be entitled to occupation of the quarters or to draw the house allowance; otherwise the person on leave may be allowed to occupy the quarters or draw the allowance. Rations or a ration allowance may not ordinarily be drawn by an Officer or employé when on leave; but if he be married, the Ministerial Head of the Department may authorise him while on leave to draw a ration allowance, or his family to draw his rations.

11. As a rule emoluments which do not count for pension may not be drawn by any Officer or employé on leave; provided that if such Officer or employé provides suitable transport for his locum tenens, he may be allowed to draw during his absence that part of any commuted travelling and forage allowance which may be regarded as representing the cost of transport: provided, also, that in any case a local allowance may be treated as ordinary salary with the special sanction of the Ministerial Head of the Department.

* Should his address while on leave vary, he is required, if in South Africa, to keep his department, otherwise the Agent-General, constantly informed of such an address as would enable the Government (if necessary) to communicate with him with the least possible delay.

† Whether at some Station in the Colony or at the Office of the Agent-General.

‡ The five preceding years each ending on the date of application.

12. In all cases in which any Officer or employé on leave shall be receiving less than his full salary and emoluments, the amount deducted shall be available to cover the cost of the performance of his duties during his absence.

13. Special leave of absence may be granted by the Ministerial Head of the Department to any Officer or employé, irrespective of his length of service, in cases of serious indisposition, or of urgent private affairs, if it shall be proved that such indulgence is absolutely necessary.

14. In case of "serious indisposition," it must be certified to the satisfaction of the Ministerial Head of the Department, by one or more Medical Officers approved of by him, that the state of the person's health renders the leave absolutely necessary.

15. In case of "urgent private affairs," the nature of such urgent affairs must be stated.

16. When special leave is granted in case of "serious indisposition," the period (including any vacation leave granted within the preceding two years) shall not exceed twelve months, and the person obtaining such leave may receive such salary, during his absence from his duties, as the Ministerial Head of the Department may determine: provided that he shall not receive full salary for a longer period than six months, within any period of two years, or more than half-salary for the remainder of such leave, including in each case any contribution he may receive from any Government Sick Fund.

17. When special leave of absence is granted on the ground of "urgent private affairs," any ordinary vacation leave which may be granted, may be extended on the same conditions, by a period not exceeding three months, during which additional period the person may receive half-salary.

18. Subject to the necessities of the service, special leave may be granted to any person, who shall make application therefor, upon the condition that he shall not draw any *salary during his absence from his duties.

19. All leave of absence granted to any Officer or employé shall be recorded in a convenient form in the Department to which he belongs, and any leave granted by the Ministerial Head of a Department shall be recorded in his office.

20. As soon as any Officer or employé, to whom leave has been granted by the Ministerial Head of the Department, resumes duty after such leave, the fact shall be reported to such Head.

21. Every application for leave of absence (other than for leave under paragraph 6 hereof) must be made on the form prescribed for the purpose, C.A. 128 (vide Annexure), and all instructions on such form must be carefully complied with.

(b) STATUTORY.

22. Leave of absence for any period exceeding a month may not be granted to any person who purposes to † retire at or within six months of the termination of such leave. (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 33.)

III. DISCIPLINE.

A. OFFENCES AMENABLE TO DISCIPLINE.

(a) BY ORDER IN COUNCIL.

23. Absence from office or place of employment without leave or valid cause during the prescribed working hours.

24. Performance of the duties of his office or situation in a negligent or careless manner, or the neglect or omission to perform known duties; discourteous behaviour towards his superior or brother officers or employés, or to those with whom he has to transact public business.

25. Being under the influence of intoxicating liquors, especially during working hours.

26. Pecuniary embarrassment, if occasioned by imprudence, or other reprehensible cause.

27. Having a decree of civil imprisonment issued against him.

28. Becoming a party, under whatever plea, to accommodation bills, whether for his own purposes or for another person, and whether resulting in pecuniary embarrassment or not.

29. Entering into a composition with creditors, or assigning his estate in any form, unless he can show that his difficulties have been occasioned by unavoidable misfortune, and not by extravagance or improvidence.

30. Engaging for profit, either in or out of working hours, in any business or occupation other than his public duty, without the special consent of the Ministerial Head of the Department.

31. Undertaking any private agency in any matter connected with the exercise or performance of his public duties.

32. Becoming editor of a newspaper, or taking any part in the management thereof. Speaking in public, or writing articles for newspapers, or other publications on political subjects. Writing anonymous letters; or articles in any public print, of any other than of a purely scientific or literary character.

33. Giving any official information out of the strict course of duty, without the express permission or direction of the Ministerial Head of the Department.

34. Refusing or neglecting to give categorical answers to any questions put to him by, or by direction of, the Head of his Department, as to whether or not he has committed any of the offences mentioned in paragraphs 32 and 33 hereof.

35. Taking any part in elections for Members of Parliament, or Divisional or Municipal Councils; except recording his his own vote, acting as polling officer or scrutineer, or discharging any duties connected with elections which may be imposed on him by law.

36. Being guilty of any conduct unbecoming a public servant.

(b) STATUTORY.

37. Breaking any of the Regulations applicable to him, approved of by the Governor under the 15th section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885" (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 16).

38. ‡ Habitually using intoxicating liquors to excess. (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 17.)

* NOTE.—Any period of absence on leave without salary cannot be reckoned as service for pension purposes (Act 42 of 1885, Section 37).

† NOTE.—Should any person who has obtained leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, voluntarily retire on pension during such leave, or within six months after its termination, any superannuation allowance which may lawfully be granted to him under the provisions of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall be calculated on his period of service up to the date from which such leave commenced: Provided if it be established by medical certificate, to the satisfaction of the Governor, that such person is incapable, from infirmity of mind or body, of resuming the duties of his Office at the termination of his leave, or of continuing to serve for six months thereafter, and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent, it shall be lawful for the Governor, should he see fit, to direct that the period of service of such person shall be reckoned up to the date of his ultimate retirement. (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 33.)

‡ NOTE.—No person who is proved to the satisfaction of the Governor to be habitually using intoxicating beverages to excess shall be appointed to or retained in the public service. (Act 42 of 1885. Sec. 17.)

39. Being convicted of any crime, and sentenced to imprisonment without the option of a fine; or becoming insolvent; in either of which cases he shall be deemed to have forfeited his office, and shall thereupon cease to perform his duties or receive his salary. (Act 42 of 1885, Sec. 18.)

B. PROCEDURE IN CASES OF DISCIPLINE.

(a) It shall be the duty of all Heads of Departments and of their various branches to observe the following Rules and to enforce their observance on all subordinate Departments, when persons to whom they are applicable are charged with any offence amenable to discipline set forth in the preceding paragraphs 23 to 38 inclusive.

The following Rules, 40 to 52, are applicable only to persons on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service, who are not Officers of Institutions, established under the "Convict Stations and Prisons Management Act, 1888":—

40. The offence with which such person is charged, with the grounds on which it rests, must be communicated in writing to the Head of the Department or Sub-department, who, if he shall find sufficient grounds for investigating the same, shall cause a copy of the charge preferred, and of the grounds on which it rests, to be handed or forwarded to the person against whom the information is laid, and such person shall be required to answer the charge, in writing, within such period as may be specified in the notice conveyed to him.

41. Such answer, with any supporting evidence, shall be forwarded without delay to the Head of the Department, who, on receipt thereof, may order such further inquiry as may seem to him desirable, and shall in all cases, including those in which no answer shall have been forwarded within such reasonable time as may have been allowed for that purpose, dispose of the matter as hereinafter provided.

42. In case it may appear to the Head of a Sub-department to be seriously prejudicial to the interests of the service to leave a person, to whom an offence of a serious character is imputed, in the execution of his functions, he may at once, as a provisional measure, interdict such person from the further exercise of his functions, pending the result of an immediate reference to the Head of the Department.

43. In case it may appear to the Head of the Department to be inexpedient to leave a person, to whom an offence of a serious character is imputed, in the execution of his functions, during the time necessary for the thorough investigation of the charge, he may at once, as a provisional measure, pending such investigation, interdict him, if not already interdicted under paragraph 42 hereof, from the further exercise of his functions, and may also interdict him from drawing the whole or part of his salary or wages.

44. If in the course of the inquiry, new charges, or new evidence be adduced, such new charges, with the grounds on which they rest and the nature of any new evidence, shall be communicated to the person concerned, who shall be required to answer the same, in writing, within such time as may be specified in such communication.

45. The Head of the Department may either acquit the accused of the charge preferred against him, or, upon the charge being sustained, may award either:—

(1) A reprimand;
or (2) A fine in accordance with departmental rules;

or may provisionally award either of the undermentioned punishments:—

(1) Reduction of salary or wages;
(2) Disrating;

or may, in more serious cases, recommend either:—

(1) Suspension without salary or wages;
or (2) Dismissal

as the merits of the case may seem to require. Pending Ministerial approval, or otherwise, such awards shall be provisionally carried out.

46. Except in cases of reprimand, or fine in accordance with departmental rules, the Head of the Department shall either at once transmit the records of the case, together with his award or recommendation, and any appeal of the person against any such award, to the Ministerial Head of the Department, or shall transmit them to such Ministerial Head with a periodical return of all charges, which, in his opinion, have been sustained.

47. In case it may appear to the Ministerial Head of the Department to be inexpedient to leave any person, to whom an offence of a serious character is imputed, in the execution of his functions, he may at once interdict him, if not already interdicted under paragraphs 42 or 43 hereof, from the further exercise of his functions, and from drawing the whole or part of his salary or wages.

48. On receipt of any records or return under the provisions of the 46th paragraph hereof, the Ministerial Head of the Department shall make such further enquiries (if any) as he may deem necessary, and shall thereafter submit the case or cases to the Governor with his report thereon.

49. The Governor may either acquit the accused of the charge preferred against him, or upon the charge being sustained, may (subject to Sec. 17 of Act 42 of 1885) award such of the undermentioned punishments as the merits of the case may seem to require:—

(1) A reprimand;
(2) A fine;
(3) Reduction of salary or wages;
(4) Disrating;
(5) Suspension without salary or wages;
(6) Dismissal.

50. No person against whom any charge has been made shall absent himself from the Colony pending the decision of his case, without the special permission of the Head of the Department.

51. No person who has been dismissed from the service shall receive any retiring allowance.

52. The Ministerial Head of the Department may initiate proceedings against any person in his department for any breach of discipline, although no charge in writing shall have been lodged with him.

The following Rule 53 is applicable only to persons neither on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service, nor belonging to Institutions established under the "Convict Stations and Prisons Management Act, 1888":—

53. When any Officer or employé not on the Fixed Establishment is charged with any offence amenable to discipline set forth in paragraphs 23 to 38 hereof, the Head of the Department or Sub-department may at once suspend such person from the further exercise of his functions, and interdict him from drawing the whole or part of his salary or wages, and, after such enquiry as he may deem necessary, may either acquit him of the charge preferred against him, or may, on the charge being in his opinion sustained, award such of the undermentioned punishments as the merits of the case may seem to require:—

(1) A reprimand;
(2) A fine in accordance with departmental rules;
(3) Reduction of salary;
(4) Disrating;
(5) Suspension without salary;
(6) Dismissal;

provided that the Head of a Sub-department who may award any punishment more severe than a reprimand or fine shall, as soon as may be, report the case, and his action thereon, to the Head of the Department for confirmation or otherwise; provided also that any person aggrieved by any award of the Head of a Department or Sub-department may, within 14 days of the date on which he was informed of such award, appeal against any award of the Head of a Sub-department to the Head of the Department, and against any award of the Head of a Department to its Ministerial Head.

(b) Offences described in Paragraphs 26, 27, and 39.

The following Rules 54 and 55 are applicable to all employés whether on the Fixed Establishment or not:—

54. It shall be the duty of the Master of the Supreme Court, of the High Sheriff, of Registrars of the Superior Court, and of all Magistrates, to report to the Head of the Department, and also to the Head of the Ministerial Department, at such time and in such manner and form as may from time to time be prescribed, all cases coming under their official cognizance in which any persons, whom he may ascertain to be employed in any department of the Civil Service, may have or may appear to have committed any offence described in paragraphs 26, 27 and 39 of "Offences against Discipline," and such reports should include all cases in which any such person may have been summoned for debt, with a record of the results, whether or not pecuniary embarrassment is thereby indicated.

55. In case of any offence described in paragraph 39 of "Offences against Discipline," the Head of the Department is required at once to see that payment of the salary of the offender is duly stopped, and to provide for the discharge of his duties.

The following Rule 56 is applicable only to persons on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service:—

56. Any application under the 19th section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," from any person who has forfeited his office by reason of pecuniary embarrassment, for reinstatement on the ground that such embarrassment was not caused by any fraud, extravagance, or dishonourable conduct, must be forwarded by such person, within one month after his forfeiture of office, through the Head of his Department to its Ministerial Head, who, after making such enquiry as he may deem necessary, shall submit the matter to the Governor with his remarks thereon.

Government Notice No. 927, November 3rd, 1888.

I. Admission into Public Service.

1. No person shall hereafter be appointed under the provisions of the 3rd Section of the "Civil Service and Pension Fund Acts Amendment Act, 1888," so as to acquire any claim to pension or gratuity on his retirement:—

(a) Unless he is free from any physical defect or disease which would be likely to interfere with the proper discharge of his duties.
(b) Unless he is of good character, and free from any legal disability.

2. Freedom from any such physical defect or disease must be satisfactorily established by a certificate of a duly qualified medical practitioner, which should be given on one of the annexed forms (vide Annexures A and B). Should there be room for doubt whether any physical defect or disease of a candidate is or is not likely to interfere with the proper discharge of duty, the precise nature of the defect shall be clearly stated in the certificate.

3. The statutory legal disabilities in respect of Appointments in the Public Service are:—

(a) Not having been vaccinated. (Section 60 of Act 4 of 1883.)
(b) Being of intemperate habits. (Section 17 of Act 42 of 1885.)
(c) Having been convicted of any crime and sentenced to imprisonment without the option of a fine. (Section 18 of Act 42 of 1885.)
(d) Or being an insolvent. (Section 18 of Act 42 of 1885.)

II. Admission into the Civil Service.

4. Whenever any person, whether employed on monthly or annual salary or otherwise, to whom on his retirement from the Public Service a pension or gratuity may lawfully be assigned under the provisions of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," and who is not already on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service, is desirous, on the completion of ten years' continuous service, of being placed on such Establishment, he is required to forward an application on the form C.A. 113 (vide Annexure C) to the head of his Department, giving his name (in full), his age, the date of his first appointment, the office or situation then filled by him, and all other particulars shown by the form to be required.

5. Should the head of the Department in which such employé is serving be in a position, on receipt of such application, to grant a certificate substantially to the following purport:—

"This is to certify that.....(naming the applicant) has served
"ten years continuously under Government from the.....day of.....18..., that he "discharges his duties with efficiency, that he is free from any physical defect or disease which would "be likely to interfere with such efficiency, that his conduct has been uniformly good, and that he is free
"from any legal disability."

He shall attach a certificate to such application, and shall forward it to the head of his Ministerial Division; provided that in the case of persons admitted into the public service under the provisions of the first and second of the regulations under Government Notice No. 862 of 1887, or under the first and second of these regulations, the following certificate shall be sufficient:—

"This is to certify that..... ....(naming the applicant) has served ten years continuously
"under Government, from the..... day of..... .....18 , that he discharges his duties with "efficiency, that his conduct has been uniformly good, and that he continues free from any legal "disability."

* Note.—No uncertificated insolvent may be so reinstated (Act 42 of 1885, Section 19).

6. Should the preceding regulations be satisfactorily complied with, a notification shall be addressed to the applicant through the head of his department on the form C.A. 114 (vide Annexure D), informing him that he has been placed on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service from the date mentioned in such notification.

7. Such date shall be the day immediately following that on which his period of ten years' continuous service expired, in all cases in which the certificate of the head of his Department shall be granted in accordance with these regulations within three months of such day, or before the 1st day of January, 1889; and in all other cases shall be the day immediately following that on which such certificate shall be granted.

Government Notice, No. 553, June 26th, 1890.

The following allowances may be made to persons holding Offices mentioned in the Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888 in reimbursement of expenses incurred by them when travelling on public service :—

I. Personal or Subsistence Allowance.

(1.) An Officer occasionally travelling from his station on duty will ordinarily be allowed, for personal expenses and subsistence, at the rate of 15s. for every 24 hours (exclusive of time spent on board ship) during which he may be absent from his Station, and travelling on duty or necessarily detained : Provided that in cases in which an Officer's necessary absence from his Station does not exceed six hours, only any reasonable expenses actually incurred by him may be allowed : Provided also that no fraction of an hour will be allowed to count.

(2.) An Officer stationed at a port and proceeding or returning by sea may not charge for any period before embarking or after landing at such port.

(3.) An Officer who frequently travels from his Station on duty, or who may be temporarily detached for special service, may be allowed to draw a commuted monthly or annual allowance, or may receive for personal expenses and subsistence such daily sum not exceeding at the rate of 15s. for every 24 hours, as the Minister of the Department may, under the circumstances, consider fair and reasonable.

(4.) An Officer transferred from one station to another will be allowed 15s. per diem for personal expenses and subsistence for every calendar day or portion of a day necessarily spent in travelling from the one station to the other, or during which he may have been necessarily detained, including the day of departure if he travels by land, and in any case the day of his arrival, but excluding any days spent on board ship, and the day of departure, if he has been stationed at a port and proceeds by sea.

II. Servant's Allowance.

(5.) Two shillings and sixpence a day will be granted when an Officer travelling on duty is necessarily accompanied by a servant.

III. Transport on Horseback or by Private Vehicle.

(6.) If an Officer travelling on duty uses his own vehicle and horses, or mules, or wagon and oxen, the following rates will be allowed for every day on which he actually travels, and during unavoidable detention by weather, on short detention on duty not exceeding two days :

	£	s.	d.
(a) Horse or mule hire, per diem for each animal not exceeding 4	0	7	6
(b) Forage do. do.	0	4	6
(c) Cart hire, per diem	0	3	0
(d) Hire of wagon and oxen, per diem	1	10	0

The above forage allowance will also be paid during any further unavoidable detention by weather, or short detention on duty, and during such further detention there may be paid such allowance for horse, mule, or cart hire or hire of wagon and oxen, at rates not exceeding the above, as the Minister of the Department may consider under the circumstances to be fair and reasonable ; but no transport allowance may be paid for detention in the case of prolonged absence.

(7.) If a vehicle, animals and driver are hired, they should (if practicable) be hired at a fixed price for the journey, and the Officer hiring them will be reimbursed the reasonable cost thereof, on production of properly certified and completed vouchers.

(8.) More than two horses or mules may not be charged for, except under the special sanction of the Minister of the Department, supported by a certificate that more than two were absolutely necessary.

(9.) A day's journey, by cart or on horseback, should extend over 36 miles, and by bullock wagon over 18 miles.

IV. Transport by Rail or other Public Conveyance.

(10.) An Officer travelling by rail, post or passenger cart, or in any other public vehicle, will be reimbursed the cost of conveying himself and his reasonable personal luggage.

(11.) Officers travelling on the public service should, wherever practicable, perform their journeys by rail, unless some other mode of conveyance is specially sanctioned.

V. Transport by Sea.

(12.) An Officer travelling by sea will be furnished with a free passage, or reimbursed the cost of it.

(13.) No allowance will be made for wine, or for any extras consumed, or steward's fees paid on board ship.

VI. Conveyance of an Officer's Family.

(14.) Any Officer transferred or removed, except at his own request, from one station to another, on promotion or otherwise, shall, in addition to his own travelling and personal expenses according to the preceding rules, be allowed the actual reasonable travelling expenses of his wife and family on production of proper vouchers. (Vide Act 42 of 1885, Section 56.)

(15.) Any Officer transferred or removed at his own request from one station to another, may receive such allowance in aid of any expenses he may incur as the Prime Minister may sanction.

(16.) An Officer on his first appointment may, with the special sanction of the Minister of the Department, receive a reasonable allowance to cover the transport of himself and his family to the place at which he is to be stationed.

(17.) In no case, however, will the personal expenses of an Officer's family be defrayed from public funds

VII. Cab and Boat Hire, Porterage, &c.

(18.) Officers travelling on duty will be reimbursed in respect of their actual and reasonable expenditure for cab or wagon hire, boat hire, landing or shipping fees, porterage, and other incidental petty expenses.

VIII. Transport of Furniture and Personal Effects.

(19.) When an Officer is, with or without promotion, transferred from one station to another in the interests of the public service, he may receive such allowance in aid of any expenses actually incurred by him for the removal of indispensable household furniture and personal effects (other than reasonable luggage already provided for) as the Minister of the Department may sanction.

IX. Detour or Detention.

(20.) Officers should travel as rapidly as circumstances will permit, and subject to paragraph 12 hereof, by the shortest possible routes. The cause of any detour or detention should be explained in the certificate to the travelling account. Should an Officer travel by a route requiring longer time or involving greater cost for transport than that herein prescribed, the allowances will be reduced to those which would have been payable in respect of the prescribed route.

X. Certificates.

(21.) The certificate to every account should as nearly as the facts will allow be in the following form:—

I certify that, in obedience to the annexed (*) authority dated .....I started from (place)..... .....at (†) (hour).....on the (date)....., arrived at (place)..... on the (date)....., was detained there in the execution of my duty (or through stress of weather) until the (date).....when I left for (place).....where I arrived on the (date)..... .....I left that place on the (date).....and arrived at my destination (place).....at (†) (hour)..... ..... on the (date).....; that the period occupied by this journey was.....days and (†) .....hours, including detention as above (but excluding any period on board ship); that I travelled by rail from (place)..... .....to (place).....by steamer, having embarked at (hour).....on the (date)..... .....and landed at (hour) .....on the (date)..... and by cart and two [or four] horses from (place)..... to (place)..... ...that I travelled the latter stage, a distance of .....miles, at an average rate of not less than six hours a day (except when detained as above); and that I found it necessary to take a servant with me. I also certify that such charges herein as are not regulated by fixed tariff are fair and reasonable (or do not exceed those made to the public).

XI. General.

(22.) An Officer who frequently travels from his station on duty may be allowed to draw such commuted monthly or annual allowance for transport and incidental petty expenses (not however in excess of the scale herein laid down), as the Prime Minister may, under the circumstances, consider fair and reasonable.

(23.) When an Officer is transferred in the interests of the service, without promotion or increase of pay, from one station to another, any other reasonable expenses (not already provided for) actually incurred by him in removal, may be allowed if specially approved by the Prime Minister.

(24.) Any departure from the above rules and any charges in excess of the rates therein fixed will not be allowed without the Prime Minister's general or special sanction, but nothing in these Regulations shall prevent the issue of such lower tariff, suitable to the requirements of any particular department, as may be approved by its Ministerial head.

(25.) No account for travelling will be passed unless it contains full information as to the authority (if any) required for undertaking the journey, the times of departure from and arrival at home, and each place at which any detention on duty has taken place, the times of embarkation and landing on any ship or steamer, the mode or modes of conveyance, the causes of detention, whether any vehicle or animals used were the property of the officer or were hired, &c. Such particulars may be embodied in the certificate or in the detailed account.

(26.) The preceding rules are applicable to Officers whose travelling allowances are governed by Tariff 12 of Schedule 2 to Griqualand West Ordinanee No. 20 of 1874, only in so far as such rules are not inconsistent with the provisions of that Tariff.

PENSIONS.

The laws and regulations affecting the granting of pensions, gratuities, or rewards to persons on their retiring from the Public Service of the Colony may be summarised as follows:—

(a) Judges of the Supreme Court.

1. Pensions to Judges of the Supreme Court are granted under the provisions of Act 2 of 1867. No pension

---

NOTE.—(*). If no authority is required this may be omitted. If a standing authority exists, such as for the holding of a Periodical Court, or for the exercise of some ordinary function, the certificate should be varied accordingly.

(†). In the case of Officers transferred from one station to another the hours of departure and arrival need not be given.

may be granted to a Judge who is under 65 years of age, unless he is disabled by permanent infirmity. Subject to the above, service for a period under ten years entitles a Judge to such pension, not exceeding half his salary, as the Governor may consider to be reasonable. Service for a period of at least ten, but under 15 years, entitles him to a pension of half his average salary for the last three years, and service of 15 years and upwards to a pension of two-thirds such average salary.

(b) The Ordinary Civil Service.

1. Persons placed on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service may not retire or be placed on pension unless they are over 60 years of age, or are disabled by permanent infirmity of body or mind, or are found to be unfit to discharge efficiently the duties of their respective offices, or unless their offices are abolished: provided, that in the case of telegraphists, locomotive engine drivers and firemen 50 should be read for 60; while the services of persons appointed under the 3rd Section of Act 31 of 1888, or strict urging like duties on the 21st of August, 1888, when that Act was promulgated, and not placed on the Fixed Establishment may be dispensed with at any time. Such persons, however, may be placed on the Fixed Establishment after ten years' continuous good service on receiving a certificate of efficiency and good conduct from the heads of their respective departments.
2. Persons placed on pension while under 60 years of age, or 50 years in the case of telegraphists, locomotive engine drivers, or firemen, are liable to be called upon to accept suitable re-employment on penalty of forfeiture of their pensions.
3. The following services do not count for pension:—
   (a) Service rendered by any person while under 17 years of age.
   (b) Service rendered after the 1st day of July, 1886, by a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund, in respect of which he may not have contributed to the Fund.
   (c) Service on probation rendered by an officer appointed under the 12th or 13th Sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," if he shall have elected not to contribute during such probation to the Civil Service Pension Fund.
4. No pension or gratuity may be granted under the provisions of the Civil Service Act:—
   (a) To any person who, not being of sufficient age or disabled, voluntarily retires from the service.
   (b) To any person remunerated solely by fees or allowances or, with a few exceptions, whose whole time is not given to the public service.
   (c) To any person engaged in the discharge of duties of a purely temporary character.
   (d) To any person who, having the power to elect, may elect not to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund.
   (e) To any person who, having contributed to the Civil Service Pension Fund, has had his contribution returned with simple interest at 4 per cent. at the expiration of ten years' service.
   (f) Or to any one dismissed for misconduct.
5. Any period of absence on leave may usually be counted as service for pension purposes, excepting any period of absence without salary. Another exception is provided for in Section 33 of Act 42 of 1885.
6. Subject to these conditions and limitations a gratuity not exceeding one month's pay for each year of service may be granted to any person of less than ten years' continuous service, if, having been appointed under the 3rd Section of Act 31 of 1888, or holding a like office on the 21st of August, 1888, his services are dispensed with, or, if being placed on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service, compelled to leave the service from infirmity of body and mind, or is found to be unfit to discharge the duties of his office.
7. If the holder of an office in respect of which a pension or gratuity may be granted is compelled to quit the service before the completion of ten years' continuous service, through severe bodily injury occasioned without his own default in the discharge of his public duty, a gratuity of three months' pay for each year of service, or a pension not exceeding one-sixth of his annual salary and emoluments may be granted to him; and if, irrespective of the length of his service, his death results from such bodily injury, a gratuity not exceeding one month's pay for each year of service may be granted to his widow or minor children, or to his parents, if depending on him for their maintenance; or if such gratuity shall appear to the Governor to be inadequate to meet the circumstances of any particular case, he may grant such sum, not exceeding a year's pay, as he may consider reasonable.
8. In the case of continuous service of ten years and upwards, a pension of one-sixtieth (1-60th) of the average salary and emoluments may be granted to any one entitled or required to retire on pension for every year of service which may lawfully be counted, not exceeding forty in any case.
9. In the case of the abolition of the office of a person who has been placed on the Fixed Establishment, a pension may be granted for any service, however short, but such pension may not exceed what might be granted, if one or three years were added to the integral number of years of continuous service, according as the officer has served under five, or over five and under ten years; or what might be granted if five, seven, or ten years were added to the years and months of continuous service, according as the officer has served over ten and under fifteen, over fifteen and under twenty, or over twenty years: provided that the years thus added may not exceed the number of years by which the officer's age falls short of 65, nor may the pension awarded exceed two-thirds of the average salaries and emoluments.
10. The term "average salary and emoluments" means the average for the preceding three years of salary (less local allowances) with fees, house-rent or allowance, rations, and other remuneration for personal service added. But allowances for horse-keep, travelling, &c., do not count for pension, nor may fees exceed one-fourth of the salary, or house allowance one-sixth of the salary and other emoluments.
11. Special pensions not exceeding full pay may be granted for special services if submitted to Parliament before being granted.
12. Further details will be found in the Civil Service Acts Nos. 42 of 1885, and 31 of 1888. (Vide pages 144-147.)

(c) Members of the Cape Mounted Riflemen and Cape Infantry.

1. No pension or gratuity may be granted to a member of the Cape Mounted Rifles or Cape Infantry who is under 50 years of age, unless he is incapacitated by infirmity likely to be permanent.
2. A gratuity not exceeding three years' pay, or a pension not exceeding full pay, may be granted to a member of the force disabled by wound or injury received in the actual execution of his duty, but all such gratuities or pensions must be specially reported to Parliament.
3. Subject to the conditions in paragraph 1 a gratuity of one month's pay for every year of service may be granted to retiring members who have served under 15 years, and in the case of service of 15 years and upwards a pension of 1-55th of the yearly pay may be granted for every year of service not exceeding 30.

4. The average annual pay means the average for the last three years of the actual annual pay, less £20 per annum for every horse required to be kept.

(d) Ordinary Police Officers. (Act 12 of 1874.)

1. No pension or reward may be granted to a Police Officer who is under 50 years of age, unless he is incapacitated by infirmity likely to be permanent.
2. A pension not exceeding his average yearly pay may be granted to a Police Officer disabled by a wound or injury received in the actual execution of his duty.
3. Subject to the above conditions, a pension equal to half his average yearly pay may be granted to an officer who has served not less than 15 and under 20 years, or of two-thirds his average yearly pay to an officer who has served 20 years or upwards.
4. Rewards may be granted for extraordinary services, but must be reported to Parliament.

(e) Police Force under Act 12 of 1882.

1. Any member of the force of the age of 40 with at least 20 years' good service may retire on a gratuity of one month's pay for each year of service.
2. Any member of the age of 50, or incapacitated by permanent infirmity, not occasioned by his own excess or misconduct, with at least ten years' service, may be required to retire, and to receive, at his option, either a gratuity of a month's pay for each year of service, or a pension of one-fiftieth of his annual pay for every year of service, not exceeding 30.
3. Any member with less than ten years' service incapacitated by permanent infirmity, not occasioned by his own excess or misconduct, may receive a gratuity of a month's pay for each year of service.
4. Any member with less than ten years' service, incapacitated by bodily injury received in the discharge of duty, without his own default, may retire on a gratuity of a month's pay for each year's service, or on a pension not exceeding half pay, and should he die before he thus retires, such gratuity may be granted to the widow and children.
5. Should a member lose his life in the discharge of his duty, the gratuity or pension to which he would have been entitled, if he had been 50 years of age, shall be paid to the widow and children.
6. Special rewards may be granted for extraordinary services, but must be reported to Parliament.

(f) Additional Municipal Police (Act 15 of 1857) and Divisional Police (Act 8 of 1873.)

Such police may be pensioned as if appointed under Act 12 of 1874 (vide Attorney-General's opinion dated 22. 10. 75.)

(g) Burgher Force and Levies.

1. A pension not exceeding £70 per annum may be granted to the widow or family of any burgher or member of levies killed in action, and to any burgher or member of levies who may receive, during service, any wound or injury permanently injurious in its consequences.

(h) Mixed Service.

Cases in which a person has served partly in the ordinary Civil Service, and partly in the Police or Cape Mounted Rifles are dealt with in Section 39 of Act 42 of 1885, and in Section 16 of Act 31 of 1888.

The case of a person having served partly in the Police under Act 12 of 1874, partly in the Police under Act 12 of 1882, and partly in the Cape Mounted Rifles or, in any two of these services, is not provided for by law, but in some recent instances the principles laid down in Acts 42 of 1885 and 31 of 1888 have been applied.

APPLICATION FOR SUPERANNUATION. (C.A. 91.)

All applications for pension or gratuity, under the provisions of Acts 42 of 1885 and 31 of 1888, must be made on the following form, C.A. 91:—

suspensions, reprimands, &c., with full particulars of any injuries received on duty, or other claims or matter for consideration (vide Annexure.....to this application).

Date.....

(Signature of Applicant).....

N.B.—Should any application be incomplete in any important respect, it will be returned for completion, and no delay in awarding a pension shall have the effect of postponing the date at which salary ceases, unless it is desirable in the interests of the department to retain the services of the applicant beyond the date originally contemplated.

20. Referred (in the case of contributors to the Civil Service Pension Fund) to the Assistant Treasurer, for Report on Heads 11 and 12.

23. I certify that the.....which may be paid to the applicant according to the Rules of the Colonial Service, amounts to..... ...., and I base my certificate on the following calculation and considerations:—

.... Controller and Auditor-General.

Instructions referred to above.

This application and the certificates connected with it, must be sent in original, or the copies must be duly attested.

HEAD 3.

Here state the description of allowance for which the applicant is recommended, whether pension or gratuity, and its amount. In the case of persons claiming an addition to years of actual service in respect of professional or other special qualifications, the grounds of the claim should be stated, and a reference should be given to the authority under which it is made. No such addition may be made to the service of any officer who was not on the Fixed Establishment on the 9th February, 1886.

HEAD 4.

No service rendered by any person while under 17 years of age shall be reckoned for pension or gratuity.

HEAD 6.

If the service has been interrupted by one or more breaks, the word "broken" should be added before or after the number of years and months, and the causes, dates, and circumstances of the break or breaks should be stated under Head 9. Temporary service before a break cannot in any case be counted; but service on the Fixed Establishment before a break may be counted, if the interruption has been due to reduction of office, leave of absence, or other temporary suspension of employment not arising from misconduct or voluntary resignation. Services (if any) rendered by a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund after the first day of July, 1886, in respect of which he may not have contributed to the Civil Service Pension Fund, cannot be counted for pension.

HEAD 7 (a).

If the person retiring has been in receipt of the same salary for the thirty-six months immediately before the date of his retirement, the actual annual rate of salary at that date should be inserted, preceded by the word "actual." In other cases, the average annual amount of salary or wages for the thirty-six months next preceding the date of retirement should be inserted preceded by the word "average"; but if the whole period of service is less than three years, then the annual average for the whole period of service should be inserted. Should, however, any person who has been employed on daily wages desire that his retiring allowance should be based on the average of his wages and other emoluments for the ten years preceding his retirement, he may submit a detailed statement showing his emoluments capable of counting for pension during the ten years in question. The amount of any local allowance must be deducted from the total salary.

HEAD 7 (b).

A statement should be here inserted of the average annual value for the three or ten years, as the case may be, immediately preceding retirement, of each emolument or remuneration for personal service (exclusive of salary or wages) which may be included in the calculation of the pension or gratuity, supported by a schedule of the amounts received each year, if not given in sufficient detail under Head 9.

Whenever the value of a house or house allowance, or the annual value of quarters in any building belonging to the Crown which the applicant may have been allowed to occupy, exceeds one-sixth of the salary and other emoluments, it must be reduced to one-sixth of that amount, so that it shall not exceed one-seventh of the whole amount upon which pension is calculated. The net fees for a year must be obtained by deducting from the gross amount of fees received, the office expenses during the year defrayed by the officer, and the average fees may not exceed one-fourth of the salary on which pension may be calculated.

HEAD 8.

Voluntary resignation or dismissal for misconduct absolutely disqualifies for pension or gratuity. The Ministerial head of the Department may dispense with the services of any person not on the Fixed Establishment at his discretion.

In the case of persons on the Fixed Establishment some lawful cause for retirement, such as age, infirmity of mind or body, or abolition of office, must be satisfactorily established. In case of infirmity, if the applicant is below the ordinary age for retirement, a medical certificate must be furnished, showing that he is disqualified by infirmity of mind or body for discharging the duties of his situation, and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent.

HEAD 9.

As to "broken" service see Head 5.
If the applicant has "acted" in any capacity, the details must be fully given.

HEAD 10.

"On what ground." This is to say, whether on the ground of holding an office mentioned in Schedule A to Act 32 of 1881, or of having been placed on the fixed Establishment after ten years' continuous good service, or of being covered by any other specified sub-section of the second section of Act 31 of 1888.

HEAD 12.

In the case of contributors to the Civil Service Pension Fund, the emoluments on which they have actually and properly contributed within the three or ten years (as the case may be) on which an average is based, will be taken to be their true emoluments at the time of contribution. Any emolument on which a contributor has failed to contribute or has improperly contributed will not be counted for pension.

HEAD 13.

If, in special circumstances, an officer has been allowed to have "private practice" without forfeiting his claim to pension, the facts are to be fully stated.

HEADS 16 AND 17.

These dates should be definitely filled in before the application is forwarded to the Treasury or Audit Office for report. An indefinite date will not be accepted (such as the date on which the Governor may award a pension).

HEAD 18.

"Still Serving" should not be inserted under this head: a definite date must be given.

HEAD 21.

The Treasury will verify, and if need be amend from its records on the form C.A. 98, or otherwise, the statements under Heads 11 and 12.

HEAD 22.

The amount certified by the Controller and Auditor-General represents merely the superior limit which cannot lawfully be exceeded. The Governor may award any lesser amount should he see fit.

CIVIL SERVICE PENSION FUND.

In the last report of this Fund appears the following comparison of the roll of contributors from the 1st July, 1886, to the 31st December, 1889:—

1st July, 1886, to 31st December, 1887, total	2,363,	ceased to contribute,	572
January to December, 1888	,, 3,367,	,, ,,	794
,, ,, 1889	,, 4,160,	,, ,,	1,038

which shows a net increase of 549 contributors during the year 1889, after deducting 1,038 who ceased to contribute by virtue of resignation, dismissal, retirement, and decease, &c. It may be mentioned that the considerable increase in the number of contributors during the year 1889 is attributable to the provisions of Act No. 31 of 1888 which permit of daily or hourly paid employés becoming voluntary contributors to the Fund.

General Provisions.

1. The advantages of the Acts are available to the widows of those officers on the Fixed Establishment whose salaries are at least £100 per annum, and to the widow of every contributor to the Fund of less than ten years' service, and not on the Fixed Establishment, who shall have been required so to contribute on salary or wages amounting to £100 per annum.

2. Officers on the Fixed Establishment at the time of the passing of the 1879 Act were allowed the option of contributing to the Fund. By Act No. 14 of 1882 this right expired on the 21st June, 1883. All persons placed on the Fixed Establishment after the 11th September, 1879, when the Act No. 22 of 1879 was promulgated, are compelled to contribute to the fund 1 per cent. of their annual salaries.

3. All who contribute the 1 per cent. may contribute further sums, provided the state of their health has been approved of when they propose to pay the additional contributions.

4. No pension may exceed one-third of the salary of the deceased husband, nor may it exceed £250 per annum.

5. The contributions to the fund at the rate of one per cent. per annum must be paid monthly.

6. Interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum is paid to the Fund at the close of each half-year on the balance to its credit.

7. Any person who has been dismissed from, or has resigned his office in, the service, forfeits all claims on behalf of his widow to the benefits of this Fund.

8. The reports of the fund, since its establishment until the present time are contained in the following printed papers:—

G. 58, 1881.	G. 8, 1884.	G. 32, 1887.
G. 93, 1882.	G. 44, 1885.	G. 32, 1888.
G. 53, 1883.	G. 43, 1886.	G. 13, 1890. G. 64, 1890.

9. The Actuary's first quinquennial report upon the operations of the Fund [G. 43,—'86, price 6d.] is dated the 21st April, 1886, and contained, amongst other interesting information, a Balance Sheet, showing the state of the Fund on the 31st December, 1884, which was printed on page 185 of the Civil Service List for 1887.

Compulsory Contributions.

FIRST WIFE'S PENSION.

I. IN CONSIDERATION OF THE CONTRIBUTIONS PAID BY THE MEMBER DURING BACHELORHOOD.

RULE: Accumulate the contributions at 5 per cent. compound interest, and multiply the amount by the quantity found in Table A, corresponding to the respective ages of the husband and wife at the time of marriage.

The product will give the annual pension to which the wife will be entitled on her husband's death, on account of his past contributions.

EXAMPLE: Thus, if the total contributions of the member during bachelorhood, when accumulated at the rate of 5 per cent. interest amount to £20, and the ages of himself and wife at the time of marriage are 25 and 20 repectively, then £20 × ·40096=£8·0192

Wife's pension=£8 0s. 4d.

II. IN CONSIDERATION OF THE FUTURE ANNUAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO BE PAYABLE FROM THE DATE OF MARRIAGE.

(a) In respect of the salary receivable at the time of marriage.

RULE: Multiply the annual contribution by the quantity found in Table B, corresponding to the respective ages of the husband and wife at the time of marriage.

The product will give the annual pension to which the wife will be entitled on her husband's death, on account of his contributions in respect of the salary receivable at the time of marriage.

EXAMPLE: Thus, if the last referred to member's salary at the time of marriage be £150 a year, and the annual contribution be £1 10s., and the ages of himself and wife at the time of marriage be 25 and 20 respectively, then £1 10s. × 6·595=£9·8925.

Wife's pension=£9 17s. 10d.

(b) In respect of increments made to the salary after marriage.

RULE: Multiply the additional contribution by the quantity found in Table B, corresponding to the respective ages of the husband and wife at the date of the increments of salary.

The product will give the additional annual pension to which the wife will be entitled on her husband's death, in respect of his additional contributions on account of an increase of his salary.

EXAMPLE: Thus, if the last referred to member's salary be increased by £50 a year, and the then ages of himself and wife are respectively 30 and 25, then the further pension will be: 10s.× 5·934=2·967.

Wife's further pension=£2 19s. 4d.

Thus the total pension of the widow of the member here referred to would now be £8 0s. 4d.+£9 17s. 10d.+£2 19s. 4d.=£20 17s. 6d.

Voluntary Contributions.

ADDITIONAL PENSION SECURED BY A FIXED ANNUAL PAYMENT DURING THE JOINT LIVES OF THE MEMBER AND HIS NAMED WIFE.

RULE: Take annual amount proposed to be paid, and multiply it by the quantity found in Table C, corresponding to the respective ages of the husband and wife.

The product will give the additional annual pension to which the wife named will be entitled on her husband's death, in respect of his voluntary contributions.

EXAMPLE: If a member, himself and his wife being of the respective ages of 30 and 20, proposes to make a voluntary contribution of £20 per annum so long as he and his wife are both alive, the additional pension so secured to the wife named will be: £20 × 5·2565 = £105·130.

Additional pension secured to wife named by the voluntary annual contributions of £20 per annum. } =£105 2s. 7d.

PUBLIC SERVICE GUARANTEE FUND.

Under the 42nd Section of Act No. 42 of 1885, 340 officers became contributors to the Guarantee Fund during the year 1889, of whom 10 ceased to contribute on account of their leaving the Public Service through resignation, &c. From the remaining officers the initial deductions of £88 11s. 3d. have been made.

The contributions to the Fund during the year 1889 amounted to £678 0s. 4d. as compared with £587 3s. 1d. during the year 1888, being an increase of £90 17s. 3d. The total income to the Fund during the year 1889 was as follows:—Total receipts from public officers under Sections 45 to 48, £769 9s. 1d; Accummulated interest at 4 per cent. per annum, under Section No. 52, £62 8s. 1d; Total £831 17s. 2d; and the expenditure was:—Contributions refunded £8 1s. 3d; Defalcations paid £50 14s. 8d; Salary drawn by Accountant from Votes £100; Total £158 15s. 11d; leaving a balance unexpended amounting to £673 1s. 3d. as compared with an overdrawn balance of £376 4s. 10d. during the preceding year.

The reports of this Fund are contained in the Parliamentary Papers G. 33—'87, G. 7—'88, G. 25—'89, and G. 14—'90.

The sections of the Civil Service Act relating to security are numbered from 42 to 55.—[Vide pages 152—153]

The regulations of the Controller and Auditor-General under this head, sections 413—421, were published by Government Notice No. 617, 1886, and took effect from the 1st July, 1886.

Control and Audit Office,
Cape Town, 7th October, 1890.

1. The difficulties in interpreting Act 42 of 1885 have been mainly removed by the passing of Act 31 of 1888. The unequal treatment of employés on day pay and monthly or annual salary has also been almost entirely removed, the only remaining difference between these two classes being that day pay employés are allowed the privilege of electing whether or not they shall contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund, while employés on monthly or annual salary of less than ten years' service must contribute to that Fund, provided in either case that the duties discharged are not of a purely temporary character.

2. Another grave inequality has also been removed. The privilege of being placed on the Fixed Establishment on the ground of ten years' continuous good service was under Act 42 of 1885 reserved to employés in the departments of the Postmaster-General and General Manager of Railways. It is now extended to employés in every Civil department.

3. All offices filled up under the provisions of the Civil Service Acts of 1885 and 1888 may be divided into two classes, viz. :—(a) Offices included in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888, and (b) all other offices filled up under the provisions of these Acts.

4. All candidates for admission to any office included in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888 must be over seventeen and under twenty-five years of age, of good character, free from any physical defect or disease which would be likely to interfere with the proper discharge of their duties, and free from any legal disability.

5. By the fourth section of Act 42 of 1885 all such candidates are required to pass a Civil Service Examination. The subjects at present prescribed for that examination may be ascertained by reference to the Civil Service Calendar at the end of this volume.

6. Save in exceptional cases, every person appointed to any office included in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888, must be over seventeen and under twenty-five years of age, must be chosen from the list of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination, and must be appointed by the Governor on probation. After service for at least six months on probation he may be placed on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service, if he has satisfied the Ministerial head of his department of his fitness to be permanently employed in that department, and that his conduct and diligence during probation have been uniformly satisfactory.

7. If, however, the permanent head of a Ministerial department reports that the qualifications of the office to be filled up are wholly or partly professional or peculiar, and not ordinarily possessed or to be acquired in the Civil Service, or possessed by candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination, and that the requisite qualifications are not possessed in sufficient degree by any available person then in the Civil Service of the Colony, the Governor may, under the 13th section of Act 42 of 1885, on the recommendation of the Minister, appoint any person possessing the necessary qualifications, and deemed best fitted to fill the vacancy, dispensing wholly or partially with the examination prescribed in the Act, or with any examination, or substituting for it any other examination he may think fit to prescribe. An annual return of all such exceptional appointments up to date is required to be laid before Parliament within 30 days after its meeting.

8. In the case of persons appointed under the provisions of the 13th Section of the Act no period of service on probation is prescribed as necessary before they are placed on the Fixed Establishment, but on the other hand it is not forbidden to require a period of probation, and obviously it must depend on the circumstances of each case whether a period of probation is or is not expedient and what should be the duration of any such period.

9. Admission to offices not included in Schedule A to the Act is entirely at the discretion of the Ministerial head of the department (vide Section 3 of Act 31 of 1888) subject only to the condition that Parliament has made due provision for the salaries or wages of any persons so admitted.

10. Persons thus admitted may be divided into three classes :—

(a.) Those appointed for the discharge of duties of a purely temporary character;

(b.) Those appointed on monthly or annual salary for the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character;

(c.) And those appointed on daily wages for the discharge of duties of the character last mentioned.

11. Persons appointed for the discharge of duties of a purely temporary character may not contribute either to the Civil Service Pension Fund or to the Widows' Pension Fund, nor is it lawful to grant them any pension or gratuity on the termination of their period of service.

12. Persons appointed on monthly or annual salary for the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character are required to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund, if seventeen years of age or upwards, otherwise as soon as they reach the age of seventeen.

13. Persons appointed on daily wages for the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character differ only from the last mentioned class in that they may elect within one month of their appointment or of their reaching the age of seventeen whether or not they shall contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund.

14. It is clearly implied that if any such person fails to intimate his decision within the period allowed he shall be deemed to have elected not to contribute; if, however, without any formal intimation, he has allowed the requisite deductions to be made from his wages, the fact of such deductions having been made would be accepted as a sufficient intimation of his desire to contribute.

15. The above phrase "duties of a purely temporary character" is not capable of very exact definition or explanation. It was no doubt purposely left somewhat vague, so as to allow to the Government a reasonable discretion in each case. This vagueness cannot however give rise to any practical inconvenience or hardship, for the question is practically decided in each case when a person is first appointed to the service, not when he retires therefrom; that is to say, if he is required to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund, or being on daily wages is allowed to elect whether he shall contribute or not, it would be held that he is engaged on the discharge of duties not of a temporary character, while if permission to contribute to that Fund is refused, or if being in receipt of a monthly or annual salary and over 17 years of age, he in point of fact does not contribute, it would be held that his duties have been regarded as being of a purely temporary character.

16. If a person at first engaged on duties of a purely temporary character is subsequently employed in duties which are not so, it is his duty to see that he is allowed to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund, for if he does not contribute, whether owing to his own neglect or otherwise, no pension or gratuity may lawfully be granted to him on his retirement.

17. Every contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund of less than ten years' service, whose salary or wages amounts to £100 per annum or upwards, must also contribute to the Widows' Pension Fund. It has been agreed that persons employed for six days of the week at 6s. 5d. per diem or upwards shall be considered as in receipt of wages amounting to at least £100 per annum. The corresponding rate for those who work seven days in the week would be 5s. 6d. per diem.

18. If officers appointed on probation under the 12th Section of Act 42 of 1885 voluntarily contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund during their period of probation, then at their ultimate retirement, their period of service on probation will be included in their period of service for pension purposes; otherwise it will not be included in such period.

19. Should any contributor fail to contribute in respect of any emolument on which he should have contributed, such emolument shall not be taken into consideration at his retirement in the calculation of his pension.

20. After ten years' continuous service any person appointed under the provisions of the third section of Act 31 of 1888, or discharging like duties on the twenty-first of August, 1888, may send in an application on the form C.A. 113 to be placed on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service, and should the head of his department be able to certify that the applicant has served ten years continuously, that he discharges his duties with efficiency, that he is free from any phyical defect or disease which would be likely to interfere with such efficiency, that his conduct has been uniformly good, and that he is free from any legal disability, he will receive an intimation that he has been placed on such Establishment.

21. It may be observed that the law does not distinctly provide that applicants for admission to the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service on the ground of ten years' service must establish their freedom from any physical defect or disease likely to interfere with the discharge of their duties, but it is obviously within the powers of the Government to define the term "efficiency" in the preceding paragraph, and it is its duty to protect the Civil Service and Widows' Pension Funds against loss through the admission into the Public Service of persons not in good health, or who are suffering from some physical defect or disease likely to interfere with the discharge of their duties. It is obvious that a person afflicted with some physical defect or disease which is likely to interfere with the discharge of his duties cannot be properly described as efficient.

22. It would, however, be hard, if not unfair, that a person who on his admission into the service was free from physical defect or disease should be debarred from being placed on the Fixed Establishment after ten years' service, through physical defect or disease contracted after his admission. It has therefore been prescribed in the case of any person in respect of whom on his admission into the service a medical certificate has been granted of his being free from any physical defect or disease which would be likely to interfere with the discharge of his duties that it is not necessary that such freedom should again be certified when he is placed on the Fixed Establishment.

23. Should any person after ten years' continuous service be not placed on the Fixed Establishment from any cause other than voluntary resignation, or his own fault or neglect, his contributions to the Civil Service Pension Fund and the Widows' Pension Fund shall be returned to him, should he desire it, together with simple interest thereon at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum: in which event he shall thenceforth cease to contribute to either fund, and it shall not be lawful thereafter to grant him any pension or gratuity on his retirement from the service, or to grant any pension to his widow.

24. If, however, he does not desire such refund, he will continue to contribute, and his widow's pension and (save in the case of abolition of office) his own pension will be as great as it would have been had he been placed on the Fixed Establishment.

25. For the fact of being or not being on the Fixed Establishment does not in the least affect widows' pensions, nor does it under the Act of 1888 in the least affect the pension or gratuity which may lawfully be granted to an officer or employé on his retirement, save only in the case of abolition of office.

26. Indeed the only advantage of being placed on the Fixed Establishment are:—

(a). Greater fixity of tenure of office. The service of officers on the Fixed Establishment may not be dispensed with unless either they are over sixty years or in certain cases over 50 years of age, or their offices are abolished, or they are removed from office for misconduct, or are found to be unfit for the efficient discharge of their duties; while the services of an officer not on the Fixed Establishment may be dispensed with at any time at the discretion of the Ministerial head of his department.

(b). In the case of abolition of office a certain number of years, from one to ten according to the length of service and age, may, for the purpose of calculating pension, be added to the years of service of an officer on the Fixed Establishment, but no such addition of years may be made in the case of an officer not on the Fixed Establishment.

27. It should, however, be observed that being placed on the Fixed Establishment on ground of ten years' service does not qualify an officer to receive an appointment included in the Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888.

28. The Council of the University of the Cape of Good Hope is required by the seventh section of the Civil Service Act to hold from time to time a Civil Service Law Examination.

29. All persons in the Civil Service of the Colony, or appointed on probation, or in the list of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination, are eligible as candidates for the Law Examination.

30. Persons who have passed any other Law Examination of the University, or who, previous to 1874, obtained certificates of proficiency in law and jurisprudence from the Board of Examiners, may have their names enrolled in the official list of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Law Examination.

31. After the 1st January, 1887, no person who had not on that day served at least ten years in the Civil Service may be permanently appointed as Resident or Assistant Resident Magistrate, unless his name shall appear in the above list, and unless he shall possess a sufficient knowledge of the Dutch language.

32. Should any officer on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service resign his office without giving three months' notice of his intention to do so, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding three months' salary.

33. While, as already stated, the legal difficulties in interpreting the Civil Service Act have been to a great extent removed by the passing of Act 31 of 1888, the administrative difficulties necessarily remain.

34. It is, I believe, impossible to coin a phrase or frame any general description by which it might be readily decided, whether the holder of a certain office is or is not included in Schedule A.

35. The phrase actually adopted "Officers of and above the rank of 3rd Class Clerks" a number of specified departments seems as good as any other that can be suggested, and most departments there is no practical difficulty in interpreting the phrase.

36. It is far otherwise in the departments of Posts, Telegraphs, and Railways, and to some extent in the department of Public Works.

37. In these departments it is necessary to engage boys, and to train them for the discharge of their duties. If these youths succeed in passing the Civil Service Examination, and in obtaining an office in Schedule A before reaching 25 years of age, every position in the service is open to them; but if through lack of opportunities they are unable to pass that examination, their promotion must be limited to offices not included in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888.

38. To take an illustration, if the Postmaster at a certain important station is held to be in Schedule A, the most efficient postmaster and telegraphist in the service, if not on the Fixed Establishment on 9th February, 1886, could not be appointed to that office should be unfortunately not have passed the Civil Service Examination, or be over 25 years of age.

39. To put it broadly, by declaring that the holders of certain superior offices in such departments are included in Schedule A, legitimate avenues of promotion may be closed to men trained up in the department from their boyhood and in every way thoroughly efficient.

40. Caution should therefore be exercised in deciding that the holder of a certain office is included in the Schedule. At the same time, through the increase of educational opportunities, it will be safe and practicable gradually to increase the number of offices for which persons who pass the very moderate examination styled the Civil Service Examination are alone eligible.

41. Many Civil Commissioners and Accounting Officers having found some difficulty in applying the Pension Fund regulations to particular cases, it may be mentioned by way of illustration that, subject to the conditions as to age and election already mentioned, pension deductions must be made from all railway, postal, and telegraph employés, messengers, gaolers, turnkeys, constables at convict stations, forest rangers, male and female hospital attendants, &c., &c., employed in the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character. On the other hand, persons employed on railway construction are exempt on the ground of the temporary nature of their duties. The members of the Medical Board, all district surgeons, and nearly all other medical practitioners at present employed in the public service, are exempt, in a few instances on the ground that they were on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service before the 10th of August, 1885; in other cases on the ground that they were paid out of the Railway Sick Fund, not out of votes; and in other cases on the ground that their whole time is not devoted to the public service. Issuers of process and matrons of gaols are exempt on the last mentioned ground. Native Police are exempt on the ground that on their retirement they may receive pensions under Act 12 of 1874. Native chiefs and headmen are exempt on the ground that payments are made to them during their natural life, and therefore they cannot be said at any time to be put on pension.

42. There are a number of small appointments in the service, the holders of which are continually changing, in consequence of their voluntary resignation. As no pension or gratuity may be granted under the Civil Service Act to any person under sixty years or in certain cases fifty years of age who voluntarily resigns his appointment, it is not expedient that such persons should be required to contribute to a fund from which, in the probable event of their voluntary resignation, they can obtain no benefit. The difficulty may be avoided by placing such persons, should they wish not to contribute, on daily pay, instead of monthly salary.

THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

CIVIL SERVICE CALENDAR, 1891.

Civil Service Commission.

Chairman : Hon. C. Abercrombie Smith, M.A., 25th February, 1886.

Commissioners : Leopold Marquard, Esq., 25th February, 1886.

Rev. James Cameron, LL.D., 15th September, 1887.

Secretary : Mark Garrett, Esq., Colonial Secretary's Office, 1st March, 1886.

REGULATIONS.

In Section IV of the Civil Service Act, 1885, it is provided that all Candidates for admission into the Civil Service of the Colony shall be required to pass an examination in such subjects as the Governor shall from time to time prescribe.

The Civil Service Examination includes the following subjects :—

A. General.

I. (a) Exercises to test Handwriting and Spelling.
(b) Exercises to test accuracy in copying MSS, or other documents.
(c) Reading; and writing from Dictation.

II. (a) Precis or Digest of Correspondence.
(b) Digest of Returns into Summaries.
(c) Indexing, and Correction of Printer's Proofs.

III. The Dutch Language, oral and written. 1. Oral—ability to converse in Dutch, sufficient for the ordinary business of a Magistrate's Court, or a Civil Commissioner's Office. 2. Written—Passages in Dutch to be translated into English, English passages to be translated into Dutch, and letters to be written in grammatical Dutch.

IV. Arithmetic, together with the systems of Weights, Measures, and Currency of France and Germany; and also Colonial Land Measure.

V. Geography, Political and Physical, together with statistical and other information about the products and trade of different countries, and particularly of South Africa.

Failure in Handwriting, Spelling, Arithmetic or Dutch disqualifies a Candidate, even if he should otherwise obtain the marks required for a pass.

All Candidates are required to pass the above General Examination, and so far as the Dutch Language is concerned, are ranked in two classes according to their proficiency therein. Candidates who appear in the second class are not eligible for admission into any office in the Service, except where a knowledge of Dutch is of no importance, until the list of those who have passed in the first class has been exhausted, nor are they eligible for promotion to any office of higher rank than that of a third class Clerk, unless and until at some future Examination they shall have obtained a special Certificate of Qualification equivalent to that required of Candidates in the first class in the Dutch Language.

B. Special.

The German Language, oral and written.
The French Language, do.
The Kafir Language, do.
Bookkeeping.
Shorthand writing.
Logarithms.

Candidates who pass in one or more of the special subjects have a preference in appointments where a knowledge of one or other of these subjects is necessary or desirable.

Candidates who have passed the Matriculation or the Intermediate Examination of the University of the Cape of Good Hope, or are graduates of the University of the Cape of Good Hope, or of any other recognised University, are not exempt from any portion of this Examination; but on passing the Examination may have their Academic Status registered in the official lists on production of satisfactory evidence; and due weight, in making appointments, will be given to such additional certificates of their qualifications.

No person is accepted as a Candidate unless he is:—

(2). Free from any physical defect or disease which would be likely to interfere with the proper discharge of the duties of a Civil Servant.

(3). Of good character and free from any legal disability.

The examination under these regulations take place every December, and is held in Cape Town and Graham's Town.

Applicants who wish to have their names put on the list of Candidates must apply in their own handwriting, and send the required certificates of age, health, character, and freedom from legal disability, to the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission, Colonial Secretary's Office, Cape Town, on or before the 1st of October preceding any Examination. They must at the same time state in what "Special" subjects they intend to present themselves for Examination.

A fee of One pound (£1) is required from every applicant before his name is put on the list of Candidates.

Applicants have to take notice that no person can be registered as a candidate who may be under 17 or over 25 on the 1st October, but an applicant whose age is under seventeen years on the 1st October, and who will complete his seventeenth year between that date and the day on which the Civil Service Examination begins, can lodge his application, certificates, and fee with the Secretary on or before the 1st October, though the actual registration of his name as a Candidate cannot be made until he has reached the prescribed age of 17 years.

All persons who have passed the Civil Service Examination, and all persons in the Public Service engaged in the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character, may appear at any Examination, with the view of qualifying themselves in Dutch or in such of the "Special" subjects as they may choose, on payment of a Registration Fee of £1 sterling on or before the 1st October immediately preceding such Examination.

SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATES.

[The names of successful candidates whose removal from this list, by appointment or otherwise, has been notified in the Calendar for previous years, are now omitted.]

Candidates who have passed in Special and Additional Subjects are indicated as follows:—

(1.) French Language.
(2.) Dutch Language.
(3.) German Language.
(4.) Kafir Language.
(5.) Logarithms.
(6.) Book-keeping.

REPORT.

The Civil Service Commissioners have the honour to present the following Report to Government, as the result of the Civil Service Examination, held simultaneously at Capetown and Grahamstown during the week 1st to 6th December, 1890.

The undermentioned gentlemen gave their valuable services as Examiners :—

Mr. Noel Janisch, of the Crown Lands Office, in Handwriting and Copying MSS;

The Rev. Dr. Cameron in Dictation, Reading and Spelling;

Digitized by Google

Mr. W. H. Tooke, of the Crown Lands Office, in Precis, Indexing, and Correction of Printers' Proof;

Mr. G. A. Reynolds, of the Master's Office, in Digest of Returns into Summaries;

Mr. J. E. Coley, of H.M.'s Customs, in Geography;

The Rev. D. P. Faure, in Dutch;

Captain Jurisch, of the Surveyor-General's Office, in Arithmetic and Logarithms;

Mr. W. E. Gurney, of the Audit Office, in Bookkeeping;

Dr. Marloth, in German;

Mr. L. Peringuey, in French;

The Rev. Bryce Ross, in Kafir; and

Mr. E. F. Kilpin, of the House of Assembly, in Shorthand Writing.

At Grahamstown, the Rev. Mr. Helm examined orally in Dutch, the Rev. W. Turpin in Kafir, Dr. Schonland in German, and Mr. Walter in French; and at Capetown Mr. G. H. Stevens examined orally in Kafir.

At Capetown, the Examination was superintended by the Commissioners, and at Grahamstown by the Rev. G. W. Cross of that city.

One hundred and thirty-three Candidates presented themselves for examination, ninety-seven in Capetown and thirty-six in Grahamstown, of whom sixty-nine passed the Examination. Of the sixty-four unsuccessful Candidates, seven failed in Handwriting, nineteen in Spelling, fifty-four in Arithmetic, nineteen in Dutch, and sixteen in the General Examination.

C. ABERCROMBIE SMITH,
L. MARQUARD,
JAMES CAMERON,
} Commissioners.

General Instructions to Candidates.

1. Candidates must retain during the examination the seats assigned to them.
2. Candidates must use the paper supplied, and as a rule write only on one side, being careful not to crowd the answers.
3. Candidates wishing to communicate with the presiding Commissioner must simply rise in their places without speaking; the Commissioner will then attend to their communications.
4. No inquiry involving explanation of the Examination question will be answered by the presiding Commissioner.
5. Each sheet of paper which a Candidate sends up must be headed with his name, the subject, and the number of the question.
6. No communication of any kind whatever will be permitted among Candidates.
7. No Candidate is allowed to introduce into the examination, or to use, any book, paper, or means of information not supplied or authorised by the Civil Service Commission.
8. Candidates detected in copying from the papers of another Candidate, in giving or receiving assistance during the examination, or in any way attempting to deceive the Commissioner, will be at once dismissed and their names erased from the list of Candidates.

9. Candidates are not allowed to retire until they have given up their answers, or to leave the room without the permission of the presiding Commissioner within an hour from the commencement of the examination, or to enter the room after the expiration of that hour. They are also particularly requested to make as little noise as possible when entering or leaving the Examination Hall.

10. Each Candidate must, at the close of a sitting, arrange the written answers in regular order, with the answer to the first question at the top. He must then fasten them together with a pin or paper fastener, and hand them up, unfolded, to the presiding Commissioner.

11. When the papers of a Candidate have been given up, no paper which has been accidentally omitted will, under any circumstances, be received.

EXAMINATION PAPERS, 1890.

Handwriting.

Time allowed—¾ hour.

13.—Section XVIII, Act 37 of 1882.—Conversion of Licence into Quitrent Grants, under Act 14, 1878.

Section XVIII, Act 37, 1882, stipulates that "At the expiration of any licence and "on the fulfilment of the terms and conditions of such licence, the Commissioner of Crown "Lands shall certify the same, and the licensee shall obtain a grant or quitrent in terms of "Act 14, 1878, at an annual quitrent equal to the yearly fee paid in respect of such licences."

During the past year the Commissioner issued his certificate as above in respect of 36 licences which have expired, the licensees having in each case sufficiently complied with the conditions of allotment to entitle them to receive quitrent titles to their respective allotments.

The extent so granted is 3,725 morgen, the total quitrent payable being £200 11s. 6d., representing if redeemed at 20 years' purchase a capital sum of £4,011 The expenses of survey on the lots so granted, amounting to £377 6s. 4d., have been recovered from the grantees. (See Appendix XVII.)

Dictation and Spelling (Written).

Time allowed for this and Handwriting—1½ hour.

I. Write the following passages from dictation :—

(a). Little more than four centuries ago comparatively few European vessels ventured westwards beyond the Mediterranean Sea. The existence of America was unsuspected, and it was believed that the Atlantic Ocean was not navigable, while the African Coast was deemed uninhabitable on account of its fiery tropical heat. The credit of dissipating these idle beliefs is due to the smallest nation in Europe. The Portuguese, though possessed of a mere strip of country, were nevertheless filled with a passionate love of liberty and enterprise. They expelled the Moors from Europe, and made themselves masters of the trade which had enriched their predecessors. Prince Henry of Portugal was the chief promoter of those adventurous voyages which resulted in the discovery and partial settlement of Madeira, the Azores, and the Cape Verde Islands. Under his energetic direction the science of astronomy was deeply studied and practically applied, observatories were built and equipped, and the compass, which had been previously discovered, first became useful in steering.

(b) The Spanish provinces on the Pacific Coast of South America present the quite unique feature of an almost unbroken coast-line extending from the Equator to the Polar Regions, and offering in regular succession a specimen of almost every climate on the earth's surface. Before the epoch of independence, very little was known of the more southerly parts of this coast. The Spanish Government was far more deeply engrossed in the great Vice-royalty founded on the ruins of the ancient kingdoms which it had subverted than in the sparsely populated districts in the South, though these neglected parts more than once provoked the covetousness of other powers. The history of this part of the world is a painful record of bloodshed and rapine, revolutions and counter-revolutions, and the countless miseries which inevitably accompany a protracted and obstinate guerilla warfare.

(c) It is generally understood that during the recess special attention must be given to those minor details of public business which are apt to be overlooked in the strain and pressure of the Parliamentary Session.

(d) Separate estimates of revenue and expenditure will be submitted for the consideration of the legislature, all of which have been carefully framed with a due regard at once to efficiency and economy.

(e) All endeavours to conciliate the disaffected will be ineffectual, unless the great principles of justice and honour are steadily maintained: and the surest guarantee for peace is to be thoroughly prepared for war.

(f) More than twenty centuries before Vasco di Gama, the Phœnicians performed the most extraordinary feat in ancient history, the circumnavigation of Southern Africa.

Reading and Spelling (Oral).

Time Allowed for this and Copying MSS.—1½ hour.

A.—Read the following passage aloud:—

Let us cast our eyes on the map of Australia, beginning with the Eastern shore. Travelling south from the tropical clime of North Queensland, we shall pass by a line of coast nearly 3,000 miles long. As the climate becomes more temperate, we gradually find the coast occupied right up to the distant mountain ranges, and for many hundreds of miles beyond them, by English colonists, living under a free local government of their own, and divided into four central governments, having their seats at Brisbane, Sydney, Melbourne, and Adelaide. All these ports, and several others, are connected by railways with the uplands beyond the mountains. Opposite Victoria lies the island of Tasmania, forming a fifth independent colony. This great south-eastern part of Australia is the best part of the island, for most of the central and western parts consist of sandy and stony deserts and salt-marshes. There is but one settlement on the western coast: it is not yet of sufficient size to receive independent government, and is not at all likely to grow into a great nation like the five colonies of the East. It is not unlikely that the great world of the Pacific, including the shores of China, Japan, Australia, and America will one day vie, in prosperity and civilization, with the world that is washed by the Atlantic.

B.—Spell the following words aloud:—

Catastrophe, decipher, dysentery, transition, systematic, exaggerate, deference, superstitious, oscillation, accelerate, criticism, ineligible, inaccessible, agreeable, assassinate, chronometer.

Correction for the Press.

1.—Correct for the Press the Proof printed below:—

"Merchant Taylor's SCHOOL, Crosby, Liverpool,
"October 15, 1889.

"DEAR Sir,—I wish to bring before your notice an observation of mine relative to the purpose of colour in animals.

"The red-backed shrike (Lanius collurio]. Colour of eggs—either pale blue or green, white ground with zone of spits at larger end; or, pink ground with reddish spots.

"Observation.—The colour of the lining substance of the nest—such as roots—assimilates to the colour of the eggs, being dirty gray material when the eggs are to be pale (blue or green) white, butbeingofred-brown roots, &c., when the eggs are to be pink.

"Evidence for above statement. About sixteen ago years I was a bad of fifteen, an enthusiastic birds'-nester, living at maidstone, and founp several (I forget how many) nests, and noticed this; and it so puzzled me—because I could not make out haw the bird what colruoed lining to select, because she made her nest before she laid her eggs—that I have never forgotten it. In those days I had never heard of 'The Urign of Species,' nor did I trouble myself about evolutionary evolutionary theories, knowing nothing about them, so that there was no predisposing cause in me to make a wrong observation.

Yet I remember it was only a schoolboy's observation, and therefore it needs confirmation. "Assume the fact. Protective, obviously. Yet, how does the bird know! We know birds build pests from observing other nests, and not by instinct wholly.

"(a) Have we hear incipient species, in which the emerging FROM pink eggs, remember their own infancy in reddish nest?

"(d) Has the sight of the red lining an influence over the mother to tinge the eggs pink—i.e. would a shrike brough tup in a pink cage be more likely to lay pink?

"(c) A mere coincidence; too few observations.

'Will you forgive one who intends amongst to be your audience on October 29 and 30, if not prevented, thus trespassing on your time—time which, spent in Research, is so valuable to the whole scientific world?

"Believe me, yours faithfully,
"(Rev.) FRED. F. GRENSted."

Digest of Returns into Summaries.

Time Allowed—3 Hours.

N.B. (a) In assigning marks great importance will be attached to accuracy and neatness. No additional credit will be given for completing the paper in less than the time allowed.

(b) Any mistakes should be neatly corrected by drawing the pen through the wrong figures or words and then entering above them the correct particulars, but no erasure is to be made. Calculations may be made on waste paper, which will be provided for that purpose.

Prepare a Form (which may be as wide as your paper will admit of) exactly like the subjoined specimen in each case, and fill up the several columns from the particulars given, observing carefully the following instructions :—

1. That all stops and initial capitals given in the Specimen of Form are to be exactly reproduced.
2. That all the figures which cannot be directly copied from the particulars given are to be supplied by you.
3. That percentages are to be calculated and entered correctly to two places of decimals.
4. That in the columns left blank of Form II the Articles of Export are to be entered in Alphabetical order.

Summarise the following Returns :—

Arithmetic.

Time allowed—3 Hours, including $\frac{1}{2}$ Hour for Addition (Separate Paper).

1. Simplify:

(a) $\dfrac{2\frac{3}{4} + 3\frac{2}{5}}{4\frac{1}{3} + 5\frac{1}{4}} + \dfrac{3\frac{2}{3}}{10\frac{1}{2}}$.

(b) $2\frac{1}{6} + 3\frac{3}{8} + \frac{11}{14} + \frac{1}{15} + 6\frac{17}{20}$.

(c) $\frac{1}{13}$ of $(1 + 5\frac{1}{2}) + \frac{3}{8}$ of $\frac{1}{27}$ of $(7 - 2\frac{2}{3}) - \frac{1}{8}$.

2. Reduce to their lowest terms the fractions:

$\frac{31184}{6912}$; $\frac{12883512}{2358368}$; $\frac{26872048}{32251152}$.

3. Express the following fractions accurately as decimals:

$\frac{3}{64}$; $\frac{7}{13}$; $\frac{2231}{11100}$.

4. Convert the following decimals into vulgar fractions expressed in their lowest terms:—

$0{\cdot}05625$; $0{\cdot}\dot{0}\dot{4}0\dot{5}$; $0{\cdot}0\dot{9}0\dot{4}\dot{5}$.

5. A rectangular field 495 yards and 2·52 English feet long and 60 roods 9 feet and 9 inches Cape measure broad, was sold at £100 per English acre, find:

Given: 1 English foot = 0·0806712 Cape rood, and 1 Morgen = 2·11654 English acres.

NOTE.—Convert the length of the field into Cape roods and decimals of Cape roods, and use contracted multiplication so as to obtain products to four decimals throughout.

6. A man contracts to perform a piece of work in 60 days, and employs on it during the first 48 days 30 men. At the end of the 48th day only three-fifths of the work has been completed, find the additional number of men the contractor must employ during the last 12 days in order to fulfil his contract.

7. The capital of a mining company is £300,000; the working expenses of the mine amounted in a certain year to £15,691 13s. 4d., what should be the amount of the gross proceeds of the mine during that year to enable the shareholders to obtain a dividend of 4 per cent.?

8. If 5 horses require as much oats as 8 ponies, and 15 quarters of oats last 12 ponies for 64 days, how long may 25 horses be kept for £41 5s. 0d., when oats are 22 shillings a quarter?

9. An insurance company has paid invoice prices for the following goods which were damaged and placed at the company's disposal:

1. Be it remembered that on this the Tenth day of March, in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and ninety, A.B., of Cape Town, and C. D., of Wynberg, appeared before me, James Crosby, Resident Magistrate of Cape Town, and in my presence signed their names to the following contract of service:

The said A. B. agrees to hire the services of the said C. D., and the said C. D. agrees to render to the said A. B. his services at all fair and reasonable times, and in the capacity of cook, for one year, commencing on the First day of April next, and terminating on the Thirty-first day of March, in the year 1891.

And it is further agreed that the said A. B. shall pay to the said C. D. as such servant as aforesaid, wages at the rate of Three Pounds Sterling per month, and that such wages shall be paid on the first day of each month.

The preceding Agreement was signed by the abovenamed parties, in my presence, on the day and in the year above written, voluntarily, the same being, as far as I am able to judge, understood by them respectively.

2. One day, when he was hunting, he espied a wild ass, which he chased, lost his company, and was carried away so far by his eagerness as to ride on till night. He then alighted, and sat down at the entrance of a wood into which the ass had run. No sooner had darkness set in than he discovered among the trees a light, which made him conclude the he was not far from some village. He rejoiced at it, hoping that he might pass the night there, and find some person to send to his followers to acquaint them where he was, and accordingly he got up and walked towards the light, which served to guide him. He soon found that he had been deceived, that light being no other than a fire lighted in a hut; however, he drew near, and, with amazement, beheld a great black man, or rather a dreadful gaint, sitting on a sofa. Before the monster was a great pitcher of wine, and he was roasting an ox he had newly killed. Sometimes he drank out of the pitcher, and sometimes he cut slices off the ox and ate them.—Arabian Nights.

Now why is this? Great Britain has lost none of her natural advantages. Her coal, her iron, her vast capital, her soil, her climate are still the same; her population is increasing. We are told that the French and Belgians beat us because they are more thrifty than we are; but the French and Belgians were equally thrifty, and the English equally extravagant, fifteen years ago, and they did not beat us then. We are told the Americans are more enterprising, and no doubt they are, but it is the enterprise born of prosperous and increasing trade as contrasted with the depression inseparable from a steadily decreasing one. England is the only country in the world that has adopted what is called free trade, and England is the only country in the world that is retrograding in industrial prosperity.

livings he had been positively promised, and which had been given to other men, were more numerous than the number of pounds in his own wretched stipend.

He once in desperation thought of writing a book on the antiquities, county history, and natural history of Devonshire, but he never got further than ordering several reams of foolscap and a big jar of ink, for both of which he was ultimately sued in the county court, when an order was made against him to liquidate the amount by monthly instalments of four shillings each.

Celui qui a dit: "Il n'y a pas de grand homme pour son valet de chambre," m'a toujours paru avoir mis en circulation un proverbe très inexact—comme beaucoup de proverbs, d'ailleurs.—Il serait plus juste de dire—lorsqu'il s'agit d'artistes, tout au moins—c'est dans l'intimité que les hommes vraiment supérieurs sont le plus grand. C'est là une impression personnelle, peut-être, mais elle s'appuie sur de nombreuses preuves, car j'ai connu presque tous les maîtres qui ont illustré cette époque.

Mais l'homme intime est, la plupart du temps, défiguré par des biographes renseignés à la légère, ou qui croient savoir parce qu'ils ont surpris quelques détails de la vie privée. Des légendes s'établissent, des masques se posent sur les visage et ne sont plus jamais levés.

Pour mon père il y a eu deux légendes: celle du gilet rouge porté le soir d'Hernani, et celle de son horreur pour la musique.

Le gilet rouge a cela pour lui qu'il est historique, avec cette réserve que ce n'était pas un gilet mais un pourpoint de satin cerise, et il rendit célèbre, d'un seul coup, le jeune homme de dix-huit ans qui avait en l'audace de le porter pondant quelques heures, mais d'une célébrité assez pareille à celle des grands criminels. Théophile Gautier avait coutume de dire que c'était le souvenir de ce gilet qui empêchait qu'il fut admis à l'Académie française.

II.

J'avis six ans lorsque ma mère mourut. Je vous l'ai dit, je me la rappelle très peu. C'était une Orientale, belle, indolente et silencieuse. Je crois qu'elle m'aimait avec tendresse. Elle m'embrassait passionnément, me donnait des friandises, me gardait à jouer près de son hamac, dans l'ombre fraîche des treullis de bois dentelé, où grimpaient des verdures, et sous la palpitation des éventails que ses femmes agitaient autour d'elle. Mais elle ne causait pas avec moi. Elle ne disait pas, comme mon père, des choses qui me faisaient, songer. Quand je lui apportais des fleurs, elle les respirait en souriant, mais elle ne m'en indiquait pas la structure, elle ne m'apprenait pas à les regarder, comme mon père. Elle les aimait autrement que lui, ne les considérant pas comme de vivantes créatures dont l'effeuillement peut causer une affectueuse mélancolie, mais comme des coupes de parfum qu'on jette sans peine dès que leur tendre haleine s'est évaporée.

Nous assistons, depuis un certain temps, à un phénomènr économique des plus remarquables: le taux de l'intérêt va en se réduisant de plus en plus. La havsse de notre 30/0 perpétuel n'a été qu'un simple incident; quoi qu'on ait, pu dire et croire, dans ce mouvement encore si imparfaitement compris. L'attribuer, comme on l'a fait, aux placements des fonds disponibles de nos caisses d'épargne, c'était commettre une méprise grossière. Bien autrement profondes sont les causes de la plus-value qui s'est preduite. Qu'on regarde ce qui s'est passé dans le monde entier: partout les bénéfices, industriels ou commerciaux, ont diminué pour un même chiffre d'affaires; la part du capital s'est restreinte, tandis que celle du travail a augmenté. L'esprit d'entreprise trouve aujourd'hui à sa disposition des ressources croissantes, à des conditions de plus en plus encourageants. C'est toute une révolution. Que la paix se maintienne, comme on a tout lieu de l'esperer, et l'on doit s'attendre à une ére d'activité féconde dont toutes les nations profiteront plus ou moins, suivant le parti qu'elles auront su tirer du nouveau taux de capitalisation des valeurs.

II. TRANSLATE INTO KAFIR :—

A man who lived in a little hamlet on the American prairie had occasion to ride considerable distance to a town in order to transact some business. When his business was finished, and he turned his horse's head homewards, it was late in the afternoon. Soon the sun set, and with the darkness came a storm of wind and rain. As he was urging his tired beast to make what speed it could against the blast, he seemed to hear a sound like the wail of a child. He stopped and listened. Again the wind bore the same sound to his ears. He said to himself, "It is absurd to think that a child should be on the lonely prairie so late and in this storm. It must be the cry of some wild animal, or perhaps a trick of robbers who wish to lure me from my path. But yet after all it might be a human creature in distress; and how should I like my own child to perish thus." So he turned aside in the direction whence the sound came, and by-and-bye heard it once more almost at his horse's feet. He alighted, and sure enough found a little child cold and drenched, crouching in the grass. He lifted it gently, and wrapping it in his cloak, mounted and rode on his way. When he reached his cottage and entered with the bundle in his arms he found his wife weeping bitterly, and some neighbours trying to comfort her. They told him that his little Mary had wandered away that day and was nowhere to be found. A thought struck him, and while his heart beat fast he drew the child whom he had found, out of the folds of his coat. It was she for whom the mother had been weeping. Mary had set out when no one was minding her to meet her father, and had lost herself on the prairie. You can imagine the joy of that father. He was glad before to have found somebody's child; how much more now that he knew it was his own.

The money bags were mouldy. Many of the bundles of bank notes had been gnawed by mice. The nobleman had been like the wicked servant in the parable. He had laid up what had been given him in a napkin.

So ungewiss auch seine Jugendgeschichte ist, so viel ist sicher, dass er eine hoechst vielseitige Bildung feine Menschenkenntniss und gewaltige Gewandtheit in seiner Muttersprache besass. In dieser Zeit entstanden seine lieblichen Gedichte "Venus and Adonis" und "Lucrece." 1582 heirathete er die 7 Jahre aeltere Anna Hathaway, die ihm drei Kinder gebar, worunter Zwillinge. Fuenf Jahre spaeter zog er, wahrscheinlich veranlasst durch Schauspieler die in seiner Vaterstadt aufgetreten waren, nach London, wo er als Schauspieler und Schauspieldirector ein nicht unbedeutendes Vermoegen erwarb, mit dem er sich 1614 in seine Vaterstadt zurueckzog, wo er an seinem Geburtstage 1616 starb und in der dortigen Kirche beerdigt wurde. In London verfasste er seine, 1623 zuerst herausgegebenen, 37 Buehnenstuecke, welche in Trauerspiele, Lustspiele und historische Schauspiele eingetheilt werden, obgleich einzelne Stuecke mehr als einer dieser Gattungen angehoeren. No wind that blew was bitterer than he, no falling snow was more intent (erpicht) upon its purpose, no pelting (schlagend) rain less open to entreaty. Foul weather didn't know where to have him. The heaviest rain, and snow, and hail, and sleet could boast of the advantage over him in only one respect. They often "came down" handsomely, and Scrooge never did. Nobody ever stopped him in the street to say, with gladsome (froehlich) looks, "My dear Scrooge, how are you? when will you come to see me?" No beggars implored (anflehen) him to bestow (gewachren) a trifle, no children asked him what it was o'clock, no man or woman ever once in all his life inquired the way to such and such a place, of Scrooge. Neben seinem akademischen Lehramt gab sich Schiller wieder mit Eifer literarischen Plaenen und Arbeiten hin. Er schrieb seine Geschichte des dreissigjaehrigen Krieges, welche als Vorstudie zum Wallenstein anzusehen ist. Sein dichterischer Genius, bevor er seinen herrlichsten Aufschwung nahm, haehtre sich in dieser Zeit still mit dem Studium der Geschicte und der Philosophie Kants. In diese fuehtre ihm sein College Reinhold ein, der eifrigste Apostel des Koenigsberger Weisen, und sie wurde fuer ihn, was fuer Goethe die Reise nach Italien geworden, das Laeuterungsbad, aus welchem dann seine Poesie in vollendeter Schoenheit und ganzer Kraft hervorging.

So, im Besitze einer trefflichen Frau, von seinen Hoerern geehrt und geliebt, durch den Umgang mit strebenden Freunden gehoben, konnte sich der Dichter in der Gegenwart behagen und hoffend in die Zukunft blicken. "Ich habe," so schrieb er am Schlusse des Jahres 1790 an seinen Vater, "ich habe freilich viel Arbeit, aber es fehlt mir dazu nicht an freudigem, Muth und der Himmel segnet sie."

24th May, 1890. My dear Sir, In reply to your communication of to-day's date, I think it is quite certain that you should as soon as possible proceed to the frontier for the purpose of instituting the necessary inquiries into the peculiar circumstances which you have reported to me. If there is to be an official investigation, it seems to me you should be on the spot to represent my interests in the matter; but I do not think it will be necessary for me to accompany you.

CIVIL SERVICE LAW EXAMINATION.

Regulations.

All persons in the Civil Service of the Colony, whether serving on probation or on the fixed establishment, and all persons whose names appear on the official lists of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination, are eligible as candidates for the Civil Service Law Examination.

The subjects of examination are the same as those prescribed for candidates for the certificate of proficiency in Law and Jurisprudence, omitting Roman Law and Notarial Practice.

The following are the subjects for the Examination:—

In Dutch Law:—Van der Linden's Institutes of the Law of Holland.

In English Law:—Kerr's Abridgment of Blackstone's Commentaries, omitting the chapters on real property.

Powell's Law of Evidence, omitting Chapters 7, 8, 9, and 10 of Part III, and the appendices.

In Colonial Statute Law—the following Ordinances and Acts of Parliament:—Ordinance 40 of 1828, Ordinance 73 of 1830, Act 7 of 1873, Ordinance 2 of 1837, Ordinance 8 of 1852, Act 3 of 1861, Act 15 of 1864, Act 17 of 1874, Act 16 of 1864, Act 9 of 1867, Act 17 of 1867, Act 15 of 1856, Act 13 of 1873, Act 7 of 1875, Act 20 of 1856, Act 12 of 1860, Act 12 of 1869, Act 21 of 1869, Act 21 of 1876, Act 7 of 1879, Act 43 of 1885, Ordinance 6 of 1843, Ordinance 3 of 1844, Act 15 of 1859, Act 38 of 1884, Act 12 of 1886, Act 13 of 1886, Act 21 of 1884, as amended by Act 17 of 1886, s. 14.

Two papers are set in Colonial Statute Law.

The examination is held concurrently with the Law Certificate Examination at such centres as may be appointed, and begins on the fourth Tuesday in June.

A fee of one pound (£1) is required from every applicant before his name is put on the list of Candidates.

Application must in the first instance be made, on or before the 1st day of May in each year, to the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission, Colonial Secretary's Office, Cape Town.

The attention of Members of the Civil Service and of Candidates for admission thereto is directed to Section 14 of the Civil Service Act, 1885, as follows:—

From and after the first day of January, 1887, it shall not be lawful permanently to appoint to any office of Resident Magistrate or Assistant Resident Magistrate any person who at that date shall not have served ten years or upwards in the Civil Service of the Colony, unless his name shall appear in the list of Candidates mentioned in Section 10; provided always that no such appointment shall be made unless any such person to be so appointed shall possess a sufficient knowledge of the Dutch language.

EXAMINATION PAPERS, 1890.

Roman-Dutch Law.

EXAMINER: MR. Advocate SEARLE, B.A., LL.B.

I. State the consequences of a marriage in community of property considered in regard to

(a) The legal relations between the spouses themselves,
(b) The legal relations of each with third parties.

II. In what cases may a woman be held liable as surety without express renunciation of the Senatus Consultum Velleianum or Authentica siqua mulier?

In what manner should these exceptions be renounced?

What is the position of a wife who has signed an accommodation note for her husband, with regard to a bonâ fide holder for value without notice?

III. A and B jointly employed C to survey a farm belonging to them. C did so, and performed work to the value of £24. C sued B for £20 in the Magistrate's Court, alleging that he abandoned the balance of £4. B excepted on the ground that A should also have been joined as defendant. How should the magistrate decide the case?

IV. (1) Define Mandament van spolie and Mandament van complainte. To what state of circumstances is each method of procedure applicable.

(2) In what manner and on what grounds was restitutio in integrum granted by the Courts of Holland?

V. Explain the terms Anonymous Partnership, Cessio Bonorum, Citation by edict ad valvas curiae, Intendit, Reconvention, Venia Aetatis, Venia Agendi.

VI. Explain Compensatio, and state the conditions necessary therefor.

VII. Give definitions of the following crimes:—

Forgery, Incest, Rape.

Comment on any distinctions which exist between Roman-Dutch Law and English Law with regard to these offences.

VIII. State the limitations which apply to the landlord's hypothec over movables belonging to third parties, and found on the leased premises.

Apply the rule to the following cases, stating whether A or B should succeed in an interpleader action brought, and to what extent.

(1) C hired from A at a monthly rental a movable stove to which A's name was affixed. When the hire of the stove was overdue, B, C's landlord, seized it on the premises for overdue rent of the house

(2) A let premises to C at £5 per month. C sublet portion to B at £1 per month. C's rent fell in arrear for two months. In satisfaction for this debt, A attached B's goods on the sub-leased premises, to the value of £8. At the date of attachment B's rent was overdue for one month.

IX. Discuss any remedy A may have in the following cases.

(1) B by fraudulently representing himself as having authority from C to purchase certain goods on behalf of the latter, obtained them from A, who gave credit to C upon the faith of B's representation. B, having obtained possession of the goods, sold and delivered them to D, who had no knowledge of the previous dealings.

(2) A sold to B wheat to be delivered from day to day, and to be paid for as delivered. A portion of the price was paid, and on the last day of delivery, B gave a cheque for the balance on a bank, C. At that date B's account with C was overdrawn under an agreement between B and C that money should be advanced to B for the purchase of wheat to be placed in C's stores as security for the overdraft. This agreement was unknown to A. A presented the cheque without delay. C refused to cash it until B had been communicated with. Meanwhile the wheat was deposited in C's stores. A few days after A again presented the cheque, but C refused to cash it. A thereupon demanded the wheat from C, but C refused to deliver it.

X. Define a Mutual Will.

What is the rule as to revocation thereof

(a) before the death of either of the parties thereto?

English Law and Evidence. (First Paper.)

EXAMINER: Mr. Justice BUCHANAN.

1. What is meant by allegiance? How is this obligation created? When can it be terminated?

2. Give the usual definition of Municipal law, and explain the several terms of the definition.

3. State briefly the provisions of the Habeas Corpus Act, 31 Car. II. c. 2.

4. Enumerate the different kinds of corporations known to the law. State the incidents necessary to a corporate body. How may corporations be created and how dissolved?

5. State the duties and powers of the Coroner. By whom are the duties of the office discharged in the Cape Colony?

6. Distinguish an "executed contract" from an "executory contract," and explain the effects of such contracts upon the subject-matter of the contract.

In a contract of sale and purchase, when does the property in the thing sold pass? Does English law differ in this respect from our law, and if so in what particular?

7. Explain the nature of (a) a demurrer; (b) a plea in abatement; and (c) a plea in bar. Give illustrations of each kind of plea.

8. Enumerate the different classes into which offences may be divided. Define perjury, and state under which class this crime falls.

9. Give the divisions of homicide. Give examples of each kind of homicide.

10. How may judgments in criminal cases be set aside?

English Law and Evidence. (Second Paper.)

EXAMINER: Mr. Justice BUCHANAN.

1. Explain estoppel (a) by matter of record; (b) by deed; and (c) by matter in pais.

2. As a general rule the law will not presume fraud. What are the exceptions to this rule? What is necessary to be done where a contract is sought to be avoided on the ground of fraud?

3. Discuss the maxim: "Ei incumbit probatio qui dicit, non qui negat."

4. State the general principle as to the competency of witnesses. How far are husbands and wives competent as witnesses for or against each other? Is there any difference in this respect between English law and Cape law?

5. As a general rule, the testimony of a single witness, if it be admissible and is reliable, is sufficient evidence to establish any fact. What are the exceptions to this rule?

6. Discuss and illustrate the rule, that the law requires that evidence which is the best attainable of its class.

7. Define a privileged communication. Enumerate the different kinds of privilege. Can a privileged communication become admissible in evidence?

8. What is the rule as to the admissibility or otherwise of oral or extrinsic evidence where there is a written instrument, such as a contract, or a will?

9. State the rule as to the admission or rejection of statements and confessions made by persons accused of crime.

10. How, and to what extent, may the character of a witness be impeached?

Statute Law. (First Paper.)

EXAMINER: Mr. Advocate SEARLE, B.A., LL.B.

I. When and in what manner can a person charged before a Magistrate on a criminal offence take steps to be admitted to bail, and under what conditions is bail granted?

II. State the jurisdiction of Resident Magistrates with regard to the admission and suspension of agents. What proceedings may be taken by an agent aggrieved at suspension by the Magistrate? What jurisdiction in the matter is vested in the Supreme Court?

III. Distinguish between an appeal and a review in criminal cases,

(a) as to the method of procedure;

(b) as to the grounds on which each lies.

IV. When and in what cases can amendments be made in an indictment?

What is it necessary to allege in an indictment for (1) Murder, (2) Culpable Homicide?

What verdicts may be returned on the following indictments: (1) Theft, (2) Culpable Homicide, (3) Assault with intent to commit rape?

V. (1) What is the rule as to the prescription of crimes?

Are there any exceptions?

(2) Under what circumstances may prisoners be called as witnesses in criminal cases?

When a prisoner is in the witness-box may he be cross-examined as to a previous conviction? Give reasons for your answer.

VI. By whom, and under what limitations, may a fine be imposed upon a prisoner upon his conviction for theft.

By whom, and under what conditions, may compensation payable by the thief on conviction be awarded to the owner of stolen property?

In what cases are the above judgments provisional, and when do such become final?

VII. Describe the procedure to be adopted in proving a previous conviction in a case where a preparatory examination is held,

(a) when the prisoner admits the conviction;

VIII. State the rules as to arrest by (1) Magistrates, (2) Police Officers, (3) Private persons.

IX. How are Circuit Court prosecutions conducted in ordinary cases, and how may they be conducted in an emergency?

X. A sued B in the Magistrate's Court for £10 for lying-in expenses, and further for such amount as the Magistrate thought fit to award for maintenance of a child three months old of which she alleged B to be the father. The Magistrate gave judgment for £10 as prayed, and for £1 a month as maintenance until the child should attain the age of ten years. Did the Magistrate exceed his jurisdiction? If so, in what manner? Assuming the Magistrate to be correct in his finding as to seduction and paternity, how would a Superior Court deal with this case on appeal?

XI. A sued B in the Magistrate's Court for £20 for rent. B set up a counter-claim for £21 for work and labour done and goods supplied, and pleaded that there were accounts in dispute between the parties in excess of the Magistrate's jurisdiction. A denied the counter-claim, and stated that B owed him £75 on a separate account for cash advanced and that this ought to be set off against the £21. B did not tender evidence in support of his counter-claim. The Magistrate heard evidence upon the claim for rent and gave judgment for the amount claimed, without going into the other matter. B appealed. How should this case be decided? Give reasons.

Statute Law. (Second Paper.)

EXAMINER: Mr. Advocate SEARLE, B.A., LL.B.

I. What proceedings are necessary for the arrangement of a composition with creditors?

II. What creditors can apply for compulsory sequestration of their debtor's estate?

Describe the different steps necessary to be taken from the provisional order to the final adjudication inclusive.

III. In what manner should secured creditors prove their debts? What is the duty of the trustee with regard to the security, after proof has been made?

On A's insolvency, B, a creditor, held A's life-policy as security for his debt. B valued his security in the proof at the full amount of his debt, and claimed the right to retain the policy against the trustees. Can his contention be supported? Give reasons.

IV. Enumerate the acts of culpable insolvency.

Digitized by Google

V. State the rule as to the disqualification of an insolvent with regard to the acquisition of property.

A, an uncertificated insolvent, without leave to trade and before the confirmation of his account, sells shares to B, who passes his promissory note in favour of A for the amount. When the note is overdue, B does not pay, and A sues him, tendering the shares. B takes the defence that A is an uncertificated insolvent as above. How, and on what grounds, should this case be decided?

VI. What proceedings may be taken to obtain a writ of civil imprisonment against an insolvent?

On what grounds and within what time may such proceedings be taken?

What effect has the sequestration of his estate upon one undergoing civil imprisoment or under civil arrest?

VII. Under what circumstances is an insolvent considered to have given an undue preference? At a trial for undue preference, state the rule as to the onus of proof.

VIII. What is necessary to constitute a valid written contract of service:

(a) for a period less than a year,

Within what period must complaints against a servant under Act 18, 1873, be lodged?

IX. Describe the proceedings proper to be taken for the apprenticeship of children.

What steps are necessary for the transfer of an apprentice from one master to another?

X. Under what circumstances and conditions may an order be granted by a magistrate for attachment of goods as security for overdue rent?

XI. State the limits of the jurisdiction exercised by Resident Magistrates in suits for ejectment.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS are established at nearly every Money Order Office in the Cape Colony, and are open for the receipt and repayment of Deposits, daily, during the hours appointed for Money Order Business. A list of Offices will be found in the Post Office Guide.

Deposits of one shilling, or any number of shillings, will be received. No person may deposit more than £100 in one year, or more than £500 in the whole, exclusive of interest, or £600 including interest. Interest is allowed at the rate of 9d. a year for each complete £1 deposited.

Married women, and children, equally with other people, can have separate deposit accounts.

Friendly, Charitable, Provident and other Societies or Clubs may deposit their funds without restriction as to amount, with Government security, and simple and speedy means of re-payment.

Telegrams for re-payment of deposits may be sent at a uniform charge of 2s. to cover both application and reply. In such cases, re-payments are, as a rule, made within a few hours of the receipt of the application.

Depositors in the Post Office Savings Bank may also invest money in 3½ per cent. Savings Bank Certificates of the value of £100 each, but no one depositor may take out more than 10 certificates, representing £1000.

The number of deposits made and the amount deposited to the 30th Sept., 1890, were 239,434 and £1,798,354 16s. 6d. respectively, and the amount withdrawn £1,179,795 13s. 10d., leaving a Balance remaining clear to the depositors of £618,559 2s. 8d.

MONEY ORDERS.

The issue of Money Orders is now arranged between offices in the Cape Colony and the adjacent States, the United Kingdom, and with the majority of Foreign Countries and British Possessions in the world.

The rates of commission are as follows :—	Inland Rate.	Foreign Rate.
For an order not exceeding £1 ..	0s. 3d.	..
,, ,, £2 ..	0s. 6d.	0s. 9d.

,, ,, £10 ..	2s. 0s.	3s. 0d.

Remittance may also be made by Telegraphic Money Order between Offices in Cape Colony, British Bechuanaland and the Orange Free State on payment of a charge of 1s. for telegraphing the advice of each order not exceeding £10 in addition to the usual commission.

POSTAL NOTES (formerly known as Postal Orders.)

Postal Notes for fixed sums from 1s. up to £1 are now issued at all Money Order Offices in the Cape Colony and Basutoland. These notes are payable only in the Colony and Basutoland. The regulations regarding Postal Notes, the amounts for which they may be obtained, and the poundage payable, will be found on reference to the Post Office Guide.

POSTAL DRAFTS.

Postal Drafts for the collection of sums not exceeding £10 are now obtainable at, and may be drawn upon, any Money Order Office in the Colony, Basutoland and British Bechuanaland.

The fee charged for the issue of a Postal Draft for the collection of any amount not exceeding £10 is sixpence, such drafts having a maximum currency of one Calendar month only. The charge for a Draft having a currency of one month and 15 days is ninepence.

Invoices or accounts may be attached to the draft of payment of an additional fee of 1d.

Digitized by Google

If the money be collected the balance is remitted by Money Order or Postal Note in a Registered Letter to the Drawer, after deducting the cost of the order or note, and a charge at the rate of 6d. for every £1 or portion of £1 collected.

Demands made under the provisions of the Postal Drafts Act have all the same force and effect as legal demands.

No charge is made either for postage or the Registration of letters sent on Postal Draft business.

For further information, see Post Office Guide.

2. "Cypher" or "code" Telegrams are charged at a rate of fifty per cent. in excess of the "ordinary" rates.

By a "cypher" or "code" Telegram is understood a Telegram which, upon the face of it, bears no connected meaning.

Telegrams written in any language other than English and Dutch are treated as "cypher" messages.

3. "Press" Telegrams are transmitted for one-fourth of the "ordinary" rates, the minimum charge for any "Press" Telegram being one shilling. By a "Press" Telegram is understood a message containing nothing except matter for publication either in the Newspapers, News or Reading Rooms, Chamber of Commerce, or similar public places.

Messages for Port Nolloth by cable are charged 1s. per word.

Digitized by Google

The above rates include cost of delivery within half-a-mile of the respective offices. Beyond one-half mile, and not exceeding two miles, porterage of 6d. per half-mile will be charged, which may either be prepaid or collected on delivery. In default of payment on delivery, the sender will be held liable.

Where ordinary facilities do not exist, special arrangements must be made for "hand" delivery beyond two miles.

Instructions for delivery of Telegrams such as "post," "special messenger," "left till called for," &c., may be written by the senders in the address, and such instructions will be transmitted free of charge.

A reply to a Telegram may be prepaid by sender, who must estimate the number of words which may be used in the reply, otherwise he will be held responsible for an unlimited reply.

The same rates also apply to messages to British Bechuanaland, Natal, the Orange Free State, and the South African Republic (Transvaal).

Return Tickets, First and Second Class, at Single Fares, are issued at all Stations at which the Trains are timed to stop, between Cape Town and Diep River, both inclusive, to Muizenberg, St. James', Kalk Bay, and Simon's Town, by all Trains on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. The Monday and Wednesday Tickets are available to return by any Train on the same day, and Saturday Tickets up to and including the following Monday.

Wednesday and Saturday Excursions to Cape Town.

Cheap Return Tickets to Cape Town (all Classes) are also issued on Wednesdays and Saturdays at all Stations at which the respective Trains are timed to stop, between Simon's Town and Kenilworth (both inclusive). The Wednesday Tickets are available to return the same day and the Saturday tickets up to and including the following Monday.

Season Tickets on the Kalk Bay Line.

Weekly, Half-Monthly and Monthly ORDINARY SEASON TICKETS are now issued as follows:—

BETWEEN			Weekly.			Half Month.			One Month.
			1	2	3	1	2	3	1	2	3
			s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.

And from other Stations up to and including Kenilworth, St. James' and Kalk Bay at proportionately low rates.

These Tickets between Cape Town, Muizenberg and Kalk Bay are issued on any day. The Weekly Tickets are available for any seven consecutive days, or from Saturday to the following Monday week.

New Residence Season Tickets.—Kalk Bay Line.

With a view to encourage the erection of residences near the Stations, Season Tickets are issued at the undermentioned Fares to persons who have purchased, on quitrent or freehold, building plots within one mile of any of the Stations from Diep River to Kalk Bay, both Stations inclusive, and to their wives and children residing with them, as soon as, and for a period of five years after, the houses are built. Boarders in these houses are not entitled to the reduced rates. These Tickets are Issued at the Traffic Manager's Office only upon applicants furnishing on each occasion the necessary certificate on the proper form (see Specimen No. 13, of Tariff Book), and producing proof of land purchase, &c., if required.

Children's, Scholars' and Apprentices' Season Tickets.

These are issued at a considerable reduction upon the Ordinary and New Residence Scales, from any day in one month to the corresponding date the next or subsequent month, according to the period of the Ticket, but the date to which the Ticket is issued will not be available, i.e., a Monthly Ticket issued on the 24th November would be available only to the Evening of December 23rd. This also applies to Half-Monthly Scholars' Tickets.

Cheap Bookings on the Uitenhage Branch.

Return Tickets (1st, 2nd and 3rd Classes), at Single Journey Fares, are issued to and from all Stations between Port Elizabeth and Uitenhage (both inclusive) by all Trains, on Sundays, available to return up to Monday; and on Wednesdays and Saturdays, available to return, the Wednesday Tickets on the same day, and the Saturday Tickets up to and including the following Monday.

General Saturday to Monday Tickets.—All Systems.

Return Tickets (1st and 2nd Classes) are issued from and to all Stations (with the exception of the Wynberg, Kalk Bay, Simon's Town and Uitenhage Lines—provided for specially) by all Trains on Saturdays at Single Fares, available to return up to and including the following Monday.

Family Excursions to the Seaside.

Between the 1st December and the 31st March, Return Tickets (1st, 2nd and 3rd Classes), available for two months, are issued at all Stations distant 60 miles and upwards from the Seaside, to Somerset West, Cape Town, St. James, Muizenberg, Kalk Bay, Simon's Town, Graham's Town (for Port Alfred), Port Elizabeth, or East London, at the ordinary Single Fares, plus two-thirds.

Excursion Tickets at ordinary Single Fares, plus one-third, available for two months, are issued also ALL THE YEAR ROUND on a Certificate on the proper form (see Specimen No. 6A, Tariff Book Appendix), at and to the Stations specified in the foregoing paragraph, for bona fide holiday or recruiting purposes, to two or more members of the same household, viz.: father $\frac{\text{or}}{\text{and}}$ mother and child or children.

Picnic and Pleasure Parties.

Return Tickets (1st and 2nd Classes) at Single Fares are issued to bona fide Pleasure Parties of at least Six First Class or Eight Second Class Adult Passengers (or an equivalent number of Children), by Ordinary Trains between all Stations (excepting TO Cape Town, TO Port Elizabeth, TO Kimberley, TO Vryburg, TO Bloemfontein, and TO East London, from any Station), distant more than twelve miles from each other, available to return on the same day only, on the following terms, viz.:—

(1) Application to be made at any Station not later than one hour previous to that on which the Tickets are required to be used, stating: (2) The date fixed for the Excursion. (3) The Trains required to be used for going and returning. (4) The Class and probable Number of Passengers. (5) A Certificate that it is bona fide a Pleasure Party, and not for residential or business purposes.

If the party is a large one, requiring extra accommodation on the Trains, earlier application should be made to prevent inconvenience.

The Department reserves to itself the right to refuse these Tickets at any time without previous notice.

Arrangements can be made by previous application to the Traffic Manager's Offices, Cape Town, Port Elizabeth, Kimberley, Bloemfontein, or East London, for Pleasure Parties for long journeys when the return journey cannot be completed on the same day. Also to convey Parties to places of interest between Stations by certain Trains; and SPECIAL TERMS FOR SCHOOL PARTIES will also be made on application.

For complete information see the Official Time Tables and Tariff Book, published Monthly, Price 6d., obtainable at all Stations.

DEAR SIR,—Many thanks for sending the RHEUMATICURO as ordered. It has cured my wife, who has suffered for many years from Rheumatism and Neuralgia of the head, etc. Having given and recommended it to all my friends, my stock is entirely gone. Would you kindly send me word where I can get it in London, as I know many who would gladly use it if it were obtainable in London. Kindly write per return. RHEUMATICURO once known here would be largely sold.—I remain, yours truly, M. BABOT, Chief Officer of the "Erate."
